JFK Warns Soviet on Corridor Incidents

Rusk, Gromyko Clash Over Test Blame

ICE MOVING OUT OF RONDOUT CREEK—Ice, which glazed the Rondout Creek through the winter and held fast in the Kingston area until Wednesday, is breaking and moving downstream. Above was the condition near the end of Island Dock yesterday afternoon. A tow Wednesday night of two barges to the dock of the Reliance Marine Transportation & Construction Corp. helped in clearing a channel to that point. A U. S. Coast Guard report today noted a slower breakup in the Hudson. Slush ice, five inches thick was reported north of Esopus Meadows with four to six inches of more solid ice in that area and southward. A wide channel has been cleared for navigation. A Callanan Road Improvement Co. tug was moored at an East Strand dock today. (Freeman photo).

Deadlock Old Worry In Geneva

Aims of Two Same, Methods Different

GENEVA (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko clashed today at the very outset of the 17-nation disarmament conference.

Gromyko denounced as a painful blow to the conference the plans of the United States to start new atmospheric tests in late April unless there is agreement here to end all such tests under strict controls.

Give Sweeping Plans

Rusk replied that the present conference was born amid the echoing roars of more than 40 Soviet nuclear explosions last fall and that the Soviet Union, in view of its record, was one of the least-qualified of nations to criticize the United States.

Rusk and Gromyko presented sweeping and detailed plans for disarming the world.

The stated aims were the same. But the methods differed so sharply as to revive at once the old shadow of deadlock which has hung over all disarmament negotiations of the postwar period.

Rusk for 30 PC Cut

Rusk called for a 30 per cent cut in nuclear armed rockets and big bombers and in such conventional military weapons as tanks and warships in three years. He proposed a prohibition on production of nuclear weapons and that the United States and Soviet Union each transfer 55 tons of weapons-grade U235—explosive uranium—to peaceful purposes.

Connected with the plan were proposed measures to prevent surprise attack and for an international inspection system. The measures included aerial inspection areas, ground observation posts at strategic points and a system of notification of missile firings to prevent the world from being plunged into war by accident, miscalculations, failure of communications or surprise attack.

Inspection Ranks Second

Leading off the speeches, Gromyko called for total disarmament from rockets to rifles and from armies and divisions to general staffs in four years.

He presented a draft of a disarmament treaty 27 pages long in which, he said, an international inspection system would be instituted gradually as arms reduction proceeded in three stages.

He put inspection in second place.

Rusk's plan was deliberately incomplete. The specific proposals he made were examples of steps he said the United States was prepard to take. The complete program, he said, should be shaped by the conference.

British Foreign Secretary Lord Home said the Rusk proposals were imaginative and far-reaching.

"Here is our chance," he said, "if agreement can be reached on these proposals a major breakthrough for disarmament will have been achieved."

Saugerties C of C Official Hints At Shopping Plan

A concerted master plan to change the face of the Saugerties Village shopping district in an effort to combat the encroachment of shopping centers was hinted at today in an open letter to Saugerties businessmen and merchants by Warren H. Knaust, industrial development committee chairman of Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce.

Knaust said that in the very near future merchants, businessmen and owners of buildings in the shopping district of the village will be invited to discuss plans drafted by committees of the Chamber. He emphasized community action now is a must.

Not Urban Renewal

Contrary to rumors, he said urban renewal is not under consideration by the Chamber. "We feel urban renewal leaves much to be desired," he said.

The open letter follows:

"Tuesday night on a television program entitled "The Land," I was shocked by what I saw happening to the small towns in the midwest.

"Then I began to think a little bit, and I did not have to think long to realize that somewhat the same thing is happening right here at home. To confirm my thinking, I slowly drove up and down the two main streets of our village, and what I saw, I did not like. I am sure you are familiar with the streets I'm talking about — beginning at the foot of West Bridge Street, traveling up Partition and down Main toward the Post Office.

"In this area, which is less than half a mile in length, I counted 22 empty stores, and many other buildings lining the streets that have seen their best days.

"I am not criticizing this situation, because I am sure if I were an owner of one of these buildings, I would also hesitate to invest money in an uncertain future.

"Now, with the news that A&P is leaving the main street and going to Barclay Heights, the picture takes a darker turn.

Asks Questions

"I will ask these questions:

"What other business is going to close its doors and move?

"Who else is going to desert

Upsetting Agreement On Berlin

Watching Russia About Protests

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has cautioned the Soviet Union against provoking the Allies into retaliating to its particularly dangerous harassment in the air corridors to Berlin.

Soviet flights into space reserved for Western planes and showering of metallic flakes in an apparent effort—so far unsuccessful—to upset airway radar systems make it even more difficult to reach an agreement on Berlin, Kennedy told a news conference Wednesday.

Should Avoid Acts

With the situation so hot, Kennedy said, both sides should avoid incidents that may lead to "actions and counteractions which can only intensify the danger."

He called the Soviet spreading of metallic chaff in the corridors "a particularly dangerous kind of action." And he said the West is waiting to see how the Soviet Union reacts to very vigorous protests by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home.

Questions about the 17-nation disarmament conference at Geneva set the theme for Kennedy's conference. But it ranged over matters from storm insurance to fighting in South Viet Nam.

Backs Assistance

Kennedy derided criticism of his $4.9-billion foreign aid request and asserted "it would be the most unwise act possible to cut our assistance program." Aid to Allies and emerging nations, he said, is just as important as our national defense. These countries, he said, are right in the line of fire.

In the area of security, he said the U. S. position would be strengthened if there were no more nuclear tests in the atmosphere, including the series he has ordered to begin next month. For this reason, he said, the United States wants to conclude an effectively safeguarded test ban treaty.

Talks About Tests

Kennedy said the West would propose measures at Geneva to make secret preparations for tests more difficult. But detecting preparations for tests, he said, was not as significant as being able to detect the tests themselves. "Preparations are only important if they lead to tests, and once the tests come," he said, a satisfactory detection system would alert the United States to take action.

The chief executive opened the conference by reading part of a letter to Rusk in which he expressed hope for early agreement on the outlines of a general disarmament program and on specific steps that could be taken

Phase One Surpasses Goal

'Hospital Family' Has Pledged $271,150 Sum

Phase One of the Kingston Hospital's $900,000 Building Fund Campaign surpassed its goal of $252,650 by approximately seven per cent today when a total of $271,150 was reported by Richard J. Whalen, chairman of the Division.

This phase of the campaign was composed of the "hospital family"—present and past members of the board of trustees, medical staff, hospital employees, Women's Auxiliary, Nurses Alumnae Association and student nurses.

Rewarding Experience

"This has been one of the most rewarding experiences in my life," Mr. Whalen said, in announcing the figures to date. "These people who work with their hearts and their hands at the hospital, the ones who really know the need, have responded in unselfish fashion. However, we are not stopping here. There is still some more money to come in and I actually believe this Division will rease one-third of the total goal before it stops," he said.

Honors in the Division went to the hospital employes who oversubscribed their goal by 75 per cent and two weeks ahead of schedule. There was 100 per cent participation by this group.

Second place honors went to the medical staff with a $10,000 over-subscription in just two weeks.

Here is a breakdown of the Division:

Committee	Quota	Subscribed
Present and Past Board	$ 55,000	$ 56,000
Medical Staff	155,000	165,000
Employes	10,000	17,500
Auxiliary	25,000	25,000

Dems' Fight Off To Hot Start in Bay State Race

7 Appointed by Mayor

Advisory Group Named On Urban Renewal Here

Appointment of an executive advisory committee on urban renewal was announced today by Mayor John J. Schwenk.

It will work with Urban Renewal Director Ward Tongue and assist him in co-ordinating of citizen sub-committees to be named in the near future.

Howard A. Lewis, former vice president of Nash-Kelvinator Co. is chairman of the committee and its other members are: the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Daniel Shea, Dean of Ulster County, and pastor of St. Mary's Church, vice-chairman; John W. Lawson, who is secretary to the controller of IBM, Kingston; George Svirsky, prominent uptown merchant; Thomas J. Mitchell, a local labor leader; Frank A. Reis Jr. a leading central Kingston businessman, and James F. Gilpatric, prominent downtown businessman.

Resigns From Board

Mayor Schwenk also noted today that because of appointment of John W. Lawson to the urban renewal committee, he has accepted his resignation from the Board of Public Works.

"Through this executive advisory committee," the mayor said, "our urban renewal plans will be communicated to the people, who will ultimately be involved." Through it and also its sub-committees, "the opinions and problems of the people will come back to be considered in the planning process.

All to Have Say

During the final planning stage, which will take most of this year, he said, "There will be no definite decisions made. There is time for the people to express their thoughts on urban renewal as it affects them, and this committee has been formed to assist in making sure that the final urban renewal plan will be a product of the combined thoughts of all of our citizens.

Albany Pushes Bus Probe, Senate Holds Up Takeover

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A Senate subcommittee continued today its investigation into a New York City bus dispute while the Senate held up action on bills that would permit the city to seize and operate a strikebound bus line.

Called as witnesses for the second day of the probe were Harry Weinberg, president of the Fifth Avenue Coach Lines Inc., and Stephen Hochhauser, a company legal adviser.

The Senate delay on the bills, which were passed Wednesday by the Assembly, apparently was intended to keep public interest focused on the hearing. Walter J. Mahoney, Senate GOP Majority leader, said a vote would not be held in the Senate until next Monday at the earliest.

Should the investigation go the way the Republicans wish, it could prove embarrassing to Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner and, perhaps, damage him in the November election if he runs against Republican Gov. Rockefeller.

The Senate Finance Committee created the subcommittee and directed it to investigate allegations that the New York City government had offered the bus line a fare increase in exchange for labor peace.

Witnesses Wednesday were Harold A. Felix, city labor commissioner, who allegedly made the offer, and Lawrence I. Weisman, executive vice president of the bus line.

Weisman testified that Felix had told the company Wagner would run for governor in November and his successor would guarantee a fare increase if the company withdrew its pressure for an immediate increase.

The company has not withdrawn its demand for an increase, which, it says, it needs to meet losses. The company laid off some workers on the grounds of economy and this precipiated a strike March 1 by the Transport Workers Union.

The company's buses in the Bronx and Manhattan still are strikebound.

Felix said he had initiated the meeting with the bus company officials because he feared a strike was imminent.

He said he told them that the Transit Authority planned to evaluate fares next year and the bus line "might well be the beneficiary of any increase."

He denied that he had said, in words or in substance, that the city would consider a fare increase after the election.

120 Swedes Among First To Test Cancer Vaccine

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A hopeful new search for a vaccine to protect humans against cancer has begun.

Today 120 persons between the ages of 60 and 70 in Sweden form the first test group, but if all goes well perhaps 12,000 persons may receive experimental vaccine before 1965.

So reported Dr. Bertil Bjorklund of the Immunological Research Laboratory in Stockholm to newsmen after the closing session of the American Cancer Society's science writers seminar.

The vaccine consists mainly of bits of killed cancer cells, actually human cells that have become abnormal.

In the healthy body these cell fragments will stimulate production of protective antibodies—the substances that tend to inactivate germs and viruses.

Then, should a human cell become abnormal—turning cancerous—Dr. Bjorklund expects the antibodies will recognize the cancerous cell, inactivating it.

The antibodies also will release from its natural state in the human blood a cell killer which will destroy the cancer.

That is the expected process if the new antigen works. The question seems to be: Are the abnormal cell fragments being used for injection similar enough to cancer cells to stimulate the proper antibodies?

Of the 120 persons in the test, 100 are receiving the experimental material. Each of five groups of 20 is getting a different number of doses. One group of 20 is not receiving any dose, but is being checked to see the normal level of antibodies.

Dr. Bjorklund is interested in this stage of the test to find which dosage will produce the proper level of antibodies—and how long the antibodies will last. Results of the test should be ready by late this fall.

If the proper dosage is determined, perhaps as many as 1,200 persons will be tested next year with that dosage. Some 120 of these would be checked to make sure that the antibody production is normal.

Then, if results are good with this group, the next year perhaps as many as 12,000 in the 60 to 70 age group would be given the material, and another 12,000 persons selected as a control or untreated group.

The success of the experiment would be measured by the cancer rate in the treated group against that in the untreated group.

Dr. Bjorklund's study is being supported by two Swedish insurance firms and the U.S. Public Health Service.

False Information On Woman's Death Brings $25 Fine

A 29-year-old Poughkeepsie taxi cab company dispatcher was arrested Wednesday by Town of Poughkeepsie Police on a charge of giving false information to authorities during an investigation of a highway fatality.

Town Police Captain Hugh Dakin told The Freeman that John Farley, of Quaker Hill Road, Pleasant Valley, today pleaded guilty to the charge before Town of Poughkeepsie Justice of the Peace George C. Dietz and was fined $25.

Killed in Mishap

Dakin said that after a woman formerly identified by Farley as his wife, was killed early Sunday when her car skidded on ice and crashed into a tree off Dutchess Turnpike, Farley told police in-

Albany Pushes Bus Probe, Senate Holds Up Takeover

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A Senate subcommittee continued today its investigation into a New York City bus dispute while the Senate held up action on bills that would permit the city to seize and operate a strikebound bus line.

Called as witnesses for the second day of the probe were Harry Weinberg, president of the Fifth Avenue Coach Lines Inc., and Stephen Hochhauser, a company legal adviser.

The Senate delay on the bills, which were passed Wednesday by the Assembly, apparently was intended to keep public interest focused on the hearing. Walter J. Mahoney, Senate GOP Majority leader, said a vote would not be held in the Senate until next Monday at the earliest.

Should the investigation go the way the Republicans wish, it could prove embarrassing to Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner and, perhaps, damage him in the November election if he runs against Republican Gov. Rockefeller.

The Senate Finance Committee created the subcommittee and directed it to investigate allegations that the New York City government had offered the bus line a fare increase in exchange for labor peace.

Witnesses Wednesday were Harold A. Felix, city labor commissioner, who allegedly made the offer, and Lawrence I. Weisman, executive vice president of the bus line.

Weisman testified that Felix had told the company Wagner would run for governor in November and his successor would guarantee a fare increase if the company withdrew its pressure for an immediate increase.

The company has not withdrawn its demand for an increase, which, it says, it needs to meet losses. The company laid off some workers on the grounds of economy and this precipiated a strike March 1 by the Transport Workers Union.

The company's buses in the Bronx and Manhattan still are strikebound.

Felix said he had initiated the meeting with the bus company officials because he feared a strike was imminent.

He said he told them that the Transit Authority planned to evaluate fares next year and the bus line "might well be the beneficiary of any increase."

He denied that he had said, in words or in substance, that the city would consider a fare increase after the election.

120 Swedes Among First To Test Cancer Vaccine

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A hopeful new search for a vaccine to protect humans against cancer has begun.

Today 120 persons between the ages of 60 and 70 in Sweden form the first test group, but if all goes well perhaps 12,000 persons may receive experimental vaccine before 1965.

So reported Dr. Bertil Bjorklund of the Immunological Research Laboratory in Stockholm to newsmen after the closing session of the American Cancer Society's science writers seminar.

The vaccine consists mainly of bits of killed cancer cells, actually human cells that have become abnormal.

In the healthy body these cell fragments will stimulate production of protective antibodies—the substances that tend to inactivate germs and viruses.

Then, should a human cell become abnormal—turning cancerous—Dr. Bjorklund expects the antibodies will recognize the cancerous cell, inactivating it.

The antibodies also will release from its natural state in the human blood a cell killer which will destroy the cancer.

That is the expected process if the new antigen works. The question seems to be: Are the abnormal cell fragments being used for injection similar enough to cancer cells to stimulate the proper antibodies?

Of the 120 persons in the test, 100 are receiving the experimental material. Each of five groups of 20 is getting a different number of doses. One group of 20 is not receiving any dose, but is being checked to see the normal level of antibodies.

Dr. Bjorklund is interested in this stage of the test to find which dosage will produce the proper level of antibodies—and how long the antibodies will last. Results of the test should be ready by late this fall.

If the proper dosage is determined, perhaps as many as 1,200 persons will be tested next year with that dosage. Some 120 of these would be checked to make sure that the antibody production is normal.

Then, if results are good with this group, the next year perhaps as many as 12,000 in the 60 to 70 age group would be given the material, and another 12,000 persons selected as a control or untreated group.

The success of the experiment would be measured by the cancer rate in the treated group against that in the untreated group.

Dr. Bjorklund's study is being supported by two Swedish insurance firms and the U.S. Public Health Service.

Sensationalism Is Avoided

Restraint Sums Up JFK's Press Talks

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — When President Kennedy decided to resume atmospheric nuclear tests—a move of sensational magnitude and interest—he announced it in a TV-radio broadcast and not in a news conference.

This, if only by contrast, gives an insight into the nature of his meetings with the press where, while providing a lot of news, he avoids sensationalism.

Good Reasons for Handling

There were good reasons for the way he announced the tests. It got him maximum attention. But it was also a decision which needed full and detailed explanation, carefully prepared and stated.

It was in a field too dangerous and slippery to be skipped over casually or quickly, as might happen at a news conference, since a careless phrase could cause an explosion. And there was the time element.

Kennedy took almost 30 minutes in his broadcast. His news conferences last 30 minutes. If he had tried to use his news conference for the statement he gave on TV there would have been no time for a conference.

An examination of his eight meetings with the press in 1962 shows a pattern which has been consistent in his news conferences with very few exceptions, since he took office in 1961.

If it is granted that a cardinal mark of maturity in a man with great power is the steady exercise of restraint and the ability to look beyond the immediate hazardous or angry moment, then Kennedy is very mature.

Restraint is the one word which can sum up the pattern of his news conferences.

Holds Check on Anger

This is the pattern:

Very little display of anger, particularly of a personal kind; an extraordinarily detailed knowledge of government, foreign and domestic; streaks of humor; avoidance of language which would humiliate or needlessly irritate and antagonize individuals who disagree with him but with whom he must continue to deal, whether it's Premier Khrushchev or members of Congress working to scuttle his programs.

Sometimes he seems more relaxed than others in the way he catches and answers questions. The questions themselves may have something to do with it. For instance, he refuses to accept those which are based on assumptions or occasionally those which look like deliberate needles.

Vary in Tone, Quality

At any rate the less relaxed mood shows up, as it did Wednesday when he had to backtrack on a question to be sure he heard it right and then gives disjointed and even garbled answers.

(President Eisenhower, except when visibly angered, was always harder to peg as more or less relaxed because he had a sentence-scrambling habit.)

But the conferences themselves vary in tone and quality. There are days that have an almost merry bang-bang-bang air. Some are fast, serious, and packed with news. Others are just dull.

Here again some little differences in Kennedy's mood may be a factor. A far bigger factor probably is the kind of questions asked some of them hum-drum, and some which sound just plain stupid.

One of the truly fascinating aspects of Kennedy's conferences—not at all obvious because the fascination lies far more in what he doesn't say than in what he says—is his handling of Khrushchev.

Both K's Leave Door Open

Kennedy acts as if he knows or assumes Khrushchev has plenty of unpublicized troubles with some of the top Communist leadership on his ideas and policies.

The President from the beginning, while dealing firmly with the Russians, has refrained from saying anything that would personally embarrass or push him, out of anger or self-defense, into a position he would not otherwise have felt himself forced into.

Khrushchev has done pretty much the same with Kennedy. It's as if the two leaders, without actually telling each other so, are saying: So long as we leave the door open a bit we can still do business.

Touches of Luxury

An inexpensive black fox fur collar is an easy way to add a touch of luxury to a simple cloth coat for winter. Another possibility is the barrel muff, also in black fox fur.

PerformanceBond Rules Are Relaxed By Esopus Board

Esopus Town Board will relax its regulations regarding performance bond required by contractors doing work for Port Ewen Water District for certain types of projects, from $10,000 to a minimum bond of $1,000, according to an agreement reached at the Wednesday night board meeting in Esopus Town Hall.

The board acted on a request of William J. C. Buddenhagen, chairman of the Board of Water Commissioners. Prior to the amendment, contractors working on pipes or mains in the district were required to post a $10,000 bond to guarantee performance.

DeVall H. Dunbar, building inspector reported that three building permits were issued during February with a total valuation of $8,200.

The Town Board voted to invest a maximum of $35,000 of town funds received from taxes and other income until June 30, and $15,000 until September 30, in interest-bearing bonds or accounts.

Ross Park commissioners reported to the board that a master plan for the full development of Ross Park had been prepared by Brinnier and Larios and that a proposal on the development would be made by the commissioners to the Town Board at the April meeting. It was also announced that the winter recreation program conducted three nights a week at Port Ewen School and the free movie scheduled for children would be concluded at the end of March.

The board approved renewal of the town's youth commission project with the State Youth Commission. The project provides for the recreation program carried out by the Ross Park commissioners for which the town is reimbursed by the state in the amount of $1,000.

The board voted to table a request for an additional fluorescent street light on Broadway, Port Ewen, pending the receipt of additional street lighting on Salem Street, Port Ewen between Broadway and Green Street.

A special meeting was scheduled for Tuesday, March 27 with representatives of Blue Cross and Blue Shield to discuss the state wide plan for coverage of all town employes.

Hero of Flaming Plane Incident Quits Other One

GARLAND, N.C. (AP)—An Air Force pilot, who last December steered a crippled jet into the Niagara River gorge, was forced to eject from another plane Wednesday.

First Lt. Edward M. Methot, 29, of The Bronx, N.Y., parachuted to safety when he experienced trouble in an F-100 jet fighter while on a training flight from Shaw AFB, S.C.

Methot landed south of Garland in a swamp.

The pilot was commended for his bravery last December when he rode a flaming F-100 into the Niagara Gorge in order not to land in a populated area. He ejected seconds before the aircraft crashed.

A commercial airline pilot, Methot was recalled to duty during the Berlin crisis.

He is attached to the 136th Tactical Fighter Squadron at Niagara Falls, N.Y. The squadron is on temporary duty at Shaw.

CROSS WE SHOULD BEAR

Most of us probably think of the Red Cross as just about the sturdiest pillar of self-help we have. But change is so swift in the 1960s that no agency can take for granted its place in American life.

Thus, as the Red Cross seeks $95 million this month in its annual campaign, its leaders are bent upon alerting its structure and activities to keep up with a changing nation.

None of us needs to be reminded of the threat of natural disaster in the shape of hurricane, tornado, flood. Last year the Red Cross helped in more than 330 such emergencies.

What we may not think of is that these threats can be greatly magnified as our population grows and our urban clusters widen out and consume the open countryside.

The tornado that in 1960 might do little harm to rolling farm land could today smash hundreds of houses in a new subdivision.

To prepare for this enlarging prospect of danger, the Red Cross is trying, of course, to set up countless new chapters in the growing areas. Most important, it wants to tie them more closely into regional units with a centralized core providing trained workers, facilities and funds for disaster emergencies.

All this takes money, and much help from individual Americans willing to serve voluntarily, to learn how to meet these threats.

Remarkably, the Red Cross is not asking for more money this year than it has for the last several. Yet Red Cross officials worry some over the agency losing a little of its identity—and hence support.

Of its 3,600 chapters, some 1,400 now get all or most of their money by submerging their campaigns in joint United Fund drives.

The big March campaign is therefore designed in part as an educational reminder to Americans. The Red Cross is an agency, we are asked to remember, which not only spends millions on disaster relief but in 1960-61 did such things as these:

Laid out $34.6 million for counseling and other aid to members of the armed forces, veterans, their families. To the thousands of reservists and guardsmen called up in 1961 when the Berlin crisis sharpened, this has been particularly meaningful.

Collected and donated for civilian hospital use 2.5 million pints of blood, almost half the U.S. supply.

Spurred nearly two million Americans to earn certificates in swimming, lifesaving, small boat safety.

The Red Cross in this age is one important way in which Americans help themselves. Surely in 1962, with the need growing greater, they will want to continue.

FASTER WRITEOFFS WISE

In preparing to meet the keen competition developing in various parts of the industrialized world, particularly in the Common Market countries and Japan, American business has often regarded federal income tax regulations as an adversary rather than an ally. This feeling applies especially to the tax-depreciation ratio. It is this ratio which determines to a large extent the rate at which industry may scrap old machinery for new in an effort to meet the demands of the times.

If, as is permitted under the present code, the internal revenue service prescribes a 15-year writeoff for a piece of equipment which will actually become obsolescent in 10, modernization for the manufacturer affected could be set back five years. This depreciation conservatism has led to the point where, in the words of a noted professor of finance, "this country's depreciation allowances are the stingiest in the world." This is short-sighted treatment for an industrial complex which, up to now, has led the world in taking advantage of every new development in technology.

To keep abreast requires the ruthless discard of machinery which has been outmoded or which has outlived its usefulenss. It is encouraging to note, therefore, the Kennedy administration's intention to abet that necessity by permitting faster tax writeoffs. This new approach may cost Uncle Sam some tax dollars. But in terms of the betterment to American industrial plant which will almost certainly result, the administration is doing a wise thing.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

AFFIRMATIONS

Earle Goodrich Lee of St. Paul writes to object:

". . . you refer to the Declaration of Independence as giving 'to this nation a philosophy of life based on natural law,' which you interpret as meaning that 'all human beings are created by God equal in his sight.' That is not natural law. It is merely religious assumption.

"If the God to which you refer can see no difference between an intelligent white man and an ignorant African savage, it would seem to me that He has very poor eyesight."

First of all, the phrase, "Natural Law" is a technical term in philosophy and has been so used for many centuries. It was probably first employed by Cicero, although the concept antedates him, to distinguish between the natural endowments divinely set in man's nature and the law manufactured by man by edict or legislation. I did not invent the term.

As for the Declaration of Independence, it is a very different document from most revolutionary proclamations. While it does state all the evils imposed on the colonies by George III, it also lays down a philosophic reason for revolting which is justified irrespective of George's misconduct. These words are:

"When in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the Powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect of the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights . . ."

Intelligence and ignorance are universal, just as gentility and boorishness are universal. The cradles of civilization have always been among mixed races of man: Egypt, for instance, with its admixture of Semitic and Hamitic peoples; the Crescent of Fertility on the Arabian Desert into which poured human beings from three continents, producing the Judaic-Christian as well as the Islamic civilizations; Greece, into which came peoples from Africa and Asia; China, into which flowed the mixed races of Northern and Southeastern Asia; and Rome, from which much of our own civilization grew and into which many wars and conquests brought the peoples of Africa as well as Asia.

Anne Fremantle in the "Great Ages of Western Philosophy" states the problem we are discussing this way:

"'Man,' we know, invented the wheel, the pulley, the arch, the internal combustion engine, the airplane. He discovered electricity and split the atom. Yet who or what was this 'man'? Very, very few men have invented or discovered anything; most men, through all the ages, and still today, are dwarfs who couldn't even figure how to set an egg up straight or how to light a fire by rubbing sticks together, unless borne aloft on the shoulders of the giants."

How then can there be such a concept of equality. The child born with a cerebral palsy is not equal to a child who was born undamaged; The child born in a geographically wrong place, let us say the Congo, is not equal to a child born in a favored place; the son of a Rockefelier is not equal to the son of a day-laborer — and vice-versa. The inequalities of man are too numerous not to be obvious.

But the Declaration of Independence does not say that they are equal; it says that they were created equal — and that is something very different. When Thomas Jefferson and his colleagues wrote the word, created, they separated man from all else in nature, recognizing the moral character of man.

Albert Einstein said all this in another way:

". . . To make clear these fundamental ends and valuations, and to set them fast in the emotional life of the individual, seems to me precisely the most important function which religion has to perform in the social life of man. And if one asks whence derives the authority of such fundamental ends, since they cannot be stated and justified merely by reason, one can only answer: they exist in a healthy society as powerful traditions, which act upon the conduct and aspirations and judgements of the individuals; they are there, that is, as something living, without its being necessary to find justification for their existence."

Bilious? Don't Put Faith In So-Called 'Liver Pills'

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

One of the medical fables that seems indestructible is that of "biliousness." People who feel out of sorts still complain of feeling "bilious."

Letter writers continue to ask for stimulants to act on a "sluggish liver." And, despite governmental action restraining manufacturers from calling their products "liver pills," there is a sustained demand for drugs to "stimulate" the largest organ of the body whose efficiency rating cannot be approached by the most impressive of human handiworks.

Here are some of the facts about liver functions and the secretion of bile:

Among the more than 30 known activities performed by the countless thousands of microscopic liver cells is the manufacture of bile.

The daily output of bile is about a pint, vastly more than body requirements.

After being collected by a branching series of channels within the liver, bile is stored in the gall bladder during periods of digestive inactivity—during sleep and between meals.

When we eat, and especially when the meal includes fatty foods, the gall bladder contracts and squeezes out some of the stored bile. In the intestines, released bile assists in the digestion of fats.

So efficient is bile formation that the surgeon may remove the gall bladder without disturbing fat digestion. Seemingly, just the amount that continues to flow day and night from the liver cells is enough to perform biliary functions. So far as is known, we have no more need for stored bile than for some of the farm surpluses that accumulate in our land of plenty.

As you can easily see, we don't need medicinal bile stimulants any more than the farmer needs more wheat. And, should that need arise, all we are required to do is start the meal with a teaspoonful of cream or a piece of bread that is well-buttered and the gall bladder will oblige with a spurt of stored bile that is more than enough for digestive purposes.

So much then for the quantity of bile secretion. But how about drugs to improve the quality? Well, first off, they are nonexistent. Secondly, even if such were available, there is no known condition for which they would be helpful.

So, unless you suffer an obstruction to your bile passages and are obviously jaundiced, better look for some explanation other than biliousness when you feel out of sorts. And seek relief from some measures other than so-called "liver pills" or "bile stimulants."

Washington News

WASHINGTON (NEA) — An increase in the U. S. government budget from this year's 89 billion to an estimated $128 billion by 1970 has just been projected by National Planning Assn., a private research group headed by H. Christian Sonne.

TO SOFTEN the impact of this blow somewhat, NPA's chief economist, Dr. Gerhard Colm, declares that, "This increase can be achieved with some decrease in taxes."

The reason given is that the expected population growth and growth of the economy will provide a bigger base on which to collect taxes.

The gross national product of all goods and services is expected to rise from 1960's $506 billion to last year's $520 billion to $800 billion, with 16 per cent going into federal government.

THESE FIGURES emerge from a new NPA project to create a privately financed, $2 million "Center for Priority Analysis."

Its job would be to make a five-year study on how the United States can best meet the challenge of growing demands on its available resources.

Heading up this program is NPA's vice chairman, Leland Hazard, retired Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. director, now professor of industrial relations at Carnegie Institute of Technology.

TO GET THE measure of their problem, the NPA staff took the 1960 report of President Eisenhower's Commission on National Goals. To its 15 recommendations, NPA added as a 16th goal President Kennedy's moon shot and space exploration program for the 1960.

NPA then made estimates that it would cost $300 billion on top of the 1961 economy to achieve these goals. The problem is that only $150 billion appears to be available.

In other words, there would have to be a $950 billion gross national product in 1970 if desired goals are to be attained. This is where the need for priority analysis is said to arise.

These are at best educated guesses, ingenious exercises for anyone interested in what the economic facts of life may be like in 1970.

To illustrate what might have to be spent in each of the 16 fields, as compared with what was being spent in 1960, an oversimplified list of the 16 goals and the NPA cost estimates is given below:

Explains His Vote

Gardiner, New York

Editor, The Freeman:

At the meeting of the Board of Supervisors, on March 8th, five additional members were named Trustees of the Ulster County Community College. Although there were objections raised about the method used in selecting these Trustees, the final vote was thirty-one to one in favor.

At this time I wish to go on record that I am in favor of carrying out the wishes of the citizens of Ulster County in the establishment of a Community College. Also, I am not opposed to any of the Trustees selected.

As the one dissenter, I wish to make clear why I felt it necessary to cast a negative vote.

1. Out of the nine Trustees selected, not one resides or represents the Southern Tier of the County, which takes in one-third of the population and one-third of the land area of the County.

2. It would seem that there should be capable and experienced people in such a large area, which includes the State University at New Paltz, with its staff of educators and administrators. In the area, we have a former Congressman and other civic leaders and former members of the School Boards of Wallkill, New Paltz and Highland. These men are familiar with building programs, and building, will be the first step in establishing the Community College in the County.

3. Not only does the Southern Tier lack representation on the Board of Trustees — but will have no voice in the selection of the site for the Community College. This privilege was denied to citizens of the County in the last election.

4. It was to emphasize the above points that I voted no, aware that one negative vote would not upset the resolution. Mine was a protest vote — a vote to draw attention to some of the procedures of the Committee.

It is my sincere hope that the citizens of Ulster County will understand my actions.

Sincerely yours,
GEORGE MAJESTIC
Supervisor
Town of Gardiner

Can the President Ignore A Directive by Congress?

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Widespread indifference to the Constitution can develop if our highest officials are inclined to by-pass various provisions of the document itself. When, therefore, President Kennedy indicates that, although Congress may appropriate $320 million for B-70 bombers, he doesn't intend to have such planes made anyway, a sharp question arises. Can a President of the United States ignore a specific direction enacting into law by Congress that he spend money for a given purpose?

Chairman Carl Vinson of the House Armed Services Committee disputes the President's supposed right to refuse to provide the armament which Congress "directs" him to provide.

What does the Constitution itself say about all this? It says:

"Congress shall have power . . .

"To declare war . . .

"To raise and support armies, but no appropriation of money to that use shall be for a longer term than two years;

"To provide and maintain a Navy;

"To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces;

"To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrections and repel invasions;

Handles Organizing

"To provide for organizing, arming, and discipling the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States, reserving to the states respectively the appointment of the officers, and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by Congress. . . .

"To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers. . . ."

What powers over the armed services does the Constitution specifically give to the President In only one sentence is there any mention of the Presidential power over the armed services. This reads as follows: "The president of the United States shall be commander in chief of the Army and Navy of the United States and of the militia of the several states, when called into the actual service of the United States."

Plainly, a President can issue orders as to where and how the military services shall fight, but the obligation to provide the necessary forces and equipment is vested wholly in the Congress, which appropriate the funds.

It is the function of Congress, moreover, to use its own judgement as to the size of the forces and how much equipment is needed, and to decide finally what kind of equipment shall be furnished. Executives of the department dealing with the armed services can submit advice and recommendations, but Congress, through the law-making process, is the final judge of what shall be given to the military agencies.

The President, of course, can veto a bill, but two thirds of both houses can enact it into law, anyway. It has been argued that Congress cannot "direct" the President to enforce or fufill an obligation contained in a law. Again and again in the past, however, laws have "directed" the President to perform certain acts.

It has been stated during the present controversy that Presidents Truman and Eisenhower ignored specific provisions of appropriation laws dealing with military equipment. But two wrongs do not make a right. This correspondent was opposed to the appropriation of an extra $648 million being considered for the U. S. Air Force in 1949. When Congress, however, enacted it into law and Mr. Truman announced he would disregard the wishes of Congress, the following paragraphs appeared in these dispatches on Oct. 31, 1949:

"A precedent of far-reaching importance is involved in Mr. Truman's announcement that, although he signed the military appropriation bill which provides funds for a fifty-eight group Air Force, he will not spend the extra 648 million and will allow only a forty-eight-group Air Force. . . .

"The Congress made a mistake in voting for a fifty-eight instead of a forty-eight-group Air Force, but the law is on the statute books and if the President didn't like it he should have made clear that he would veto the bill and Congress would have had the choice of overriding the veto or amending the bill to meet the President's wishes.

"Rightly or wrongly, Congress wants a fifty-eight group Air Force, and it is the duty of the President to give Congress what it voted."

The basic issue remains the same today. Can a President of the United States arbitrarily decide for himself which laws passed by Congress he will enforce and which ones he will disregard? If so, what becomes of the Presidential oath, spelled out in the Constitution itself: "I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States"?

The Constitution also specifically declares, as one of the duties of a President, that "he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed."

But supposing a President deliberately ignores the wishes or directions of Congress, what can be done about it? There is only one course open, namely, impeachment for "misdemeanors." Would a refusal "to faithfully execute" a law passed by Congres be a "misdemeanor"? One definition of "misdemeanor" is "misconduct." Certainly refusal by a President to "execute" a law would be a breach of faith with the Congress.

The big March campaign is therefore designed in part as an educational reminder to Americans. The Red Cross is an agency, we are asked to remember, which not only spends millions on disaster relief but in 1960-61 did such things as these:

Laid out $34.6 million for counseling and other aid to members of the armed forces, veterans, their families. To the thousands of reservists and guardsmen called up in 1961 when the Berlin crisis sharpened, this has been particularly meaningful.

Collected and donated for civilian hospital use 2.5 million pints of blood, almost half the U.S. supply.

Spurred nearly two million Americans to earn certificates in swimming, lifesaving, small boat safety.

The Red Cross in this age is one important way in which Americans help themselves. Surely in 1962, with the need growing greater, they will want to continue.

FASTER WRITEOFFS WISE

In preparing to meet the keen competition developing in various parts of the industrialized world, particularly in the Common Market countries and Japan, American business has often regarded federal income tax regulations as an adversary rather than an ally. This feeling applies especially to the tax-depreciation ratio. It is this ratio which determines to a large extent the rate at which industry may scrap old machinery for new in an effort to meet the demands of the times.

If, as is permitted under the present code, the internal revenue service prescribes a 15-year writeoff for a piece of equipment which will actually become obsolescent in 10, modernization for the manufacturer affected could be set back five years. This depreciation conservatism has led to the point where, in the words of a noted professor of finance, "this country's depreciation allowances are the stingiest in the world." This is short-sighted treatment for an industrial complex which, up to now, has led the world in taking advantage of every new development in technology.

To keep abreast requires the ruthless discard of machinery which has been outmoded or which has outlived its usefulenss. It is encouraging to note, therefore, the Kennedy administration's intention to abet that necessity by permitting faster tax writeoffs. This new approach may cost Uncle Sam some tax dollars. But in terms of the betterment to American industrial plant which will almost certainly result, the administration is doing a wise thing.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

AFFIRMATIONS

Earle Goodrich Lee of St. Paul writes to object:

". . . you refer to the Declaration of Independence as giving 'to this nation a philosophy of life based on natural law,' which you interpret as meaning that 'all human beings are created by God equal in his sight.' That is not natural law. It is merely religious assumption.

"If the God to which you refer can see no difference between an intelligent white man and an ignorant African savage, it would seem to me that He has very poor eyesight."

First of all, the phrase, "Natural Law" is a technical term in philosophy and has been so used for many centuries. It was probably first employed by Cicero, although the concept antedates him, to distinguish between the natural endowments divinely set in man's nature and the law manufactured by man by edict or legislation. I did not invent the term.

As for the Declaration of Independence, it is a very different document from most revolutionary proclamations. While it does state all the evils imposed on the colonies by George III, it also lays down a philosophic reason for revolting which is justified irrespective of George's misconduct. These words are:

"When in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the Powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect of the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights . . ."

Intelligence and ignorance are universal, just as gentility and boorishness are universal. The cradles of civilization have always been among mixed races of man: Egypt, for instance, with its admixture of Semitic and Hamitic peoples; the Crescent of Fertility on the Arabian Desert into which poured human beings from three continents, producing the Judaic-Christian as well as the Islamic civilizations; Greece, into which came peoples from Africa and Asia; China, into which flowed the mixed races of Northern and Southeastern Asia; and Rome, from which much of our own civilization grew and into which many wars and conquests brought the peoples of Africa as well as Asia.

Anne Fremantle in the "Great Ages of Western Philosophy" states the problem we are discussing this way:

"'Man,' we know, invented the wheel, the pulley, the arch, the internal combustion engine, the airplane. He discovered electricity and split the atom. Yet who or what was this 'man'? Very, very few men have invented or discovered anything; most men, through all the ages, and still today, are dwarfs who couldn't even figure how to set an egg up straight or how to light a fire by rubbing sticks together, unless borne aloft on the shoulders of the giants."

How then can there be such a concept of equality. The child born with a cerebral palsy is not equal to a child who was born undamaged; The child born in a geographically wrong place, let us say the Congo, is not equal to a child born in a favored place; the son of a Rockefeller is not equal to the son of a day-laborer — and vice-versa. The inequalities of man are too numerous not to be obvious.

But the Declaration of Independence does not say that they are equal; it says that they were created equal — and that is something very different. When Thomas Jefferson and his colleagues wrote the word, created, they separated man from all else in nature, recognizing the moral character of man.

Albert Einstein said all this in another way:

". . . To make clear these fundamental ends and valuations, and to set them fast in the emotional life of the individual, seems to me precisely the most important function which religion has to perform in the social life of man. And if one asks whence derives the authority of such fundamental ends, since they cannot be stated and justified merely by reason, one can only answer: they exist in a healthy society as powerful traditions, which act upon the conduct and aspirations and judgements of the individuals; they are there, that is, as something living, without its being necessary to find justification for their existence."

Bilious? Don't Put Faith In So-Called 'Liver Pills'

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

One of the medical fables that seems indestructible is that of "biliousness." People who feel out of sorts still complain of feeling "bilious."

Letter writers continue to ask for stimulants to act on a "sluggish liver." And, despite governmental action restraining manufacturers from calling their products "liver pills," there is a sustained demand for drugs to "stimulate" the largest organ of the body whose efficiency rating cannot be approached by the most impressive of human handiworks.

Here are some of the facts about liver functions and the secretion of bile:

Among the more than 30 known activities performed by the countless thousands of microscopic liver cells is the manufacture of bile.

The daily output of bile is about a pint, vastly more than body requirements.

After being collected by a branching series of channels within the liver, bile is stored in the gall bladder during periods of digestive inactivity—during sleep and between meals.

When we eat, and especially when the meal includes fatty foods, the gall bladder contracts and squeezes out some of the stored bile. In the intestines, released bile assists in the digestion of fats.

So efficient is bile formation that the surgeon may remove the gall bladder without disturbing fat digestion. Seemingly, just the amount that continues to flow day and night from the liver cells is enough to perform biliary functions. So far as is known, we have no more need for stored bile than for some of the farm surpluses that accumulate in our land of plenty.

As you can easily see, we don't need medicinal bile stimulants any more than the farmer needs more wheat. And, should that need arise, all we are required to do is start the meal with a teaspoonful of cream or a piece of bread that is well-buttered and the gall bladder will oblige with a spurt of stored bile that is more than enough for digestive purposes.

So much then for the quantity of bile secretion. But how about drugs to improve the quality? Well, first off, they are nonexistent. Secondly, even if such were available, there is no known condition for which they would be helpful.

So, unless you suffer an obstruction to your bile passages and are obviously jaundiced, better look for some explanation other than biliousness when you feel out of sorts. And seek relief from some measures other than so-called "liver pills" or "bile stimulants."

Washington News

WASHINGTON (NEA) — An increase in the U. S. government budget from this year's 89 billion to an estimated $128 billion by 1970 has just been projected by National Planning Assn., a private research group headed by H. Christian Sonne.

TO SOFTEN the impact of this blow somewhat, NPA's chief economist, Dr. Gerhard Colm, declares that, "This increase can be achieved with some decrease in taxes."

The reason given is that the expected population growth and growth of the economy will provide a bigger base on which to collect taxes.

The gross national product of all goods and services is expected to rise from 1960's $506 billion to last year's $520 billion to $800 billion, with 16 per cent going into federal government.

THESE FIGURES emerge from a new NPA project to create a privately financed, $2 million "Center for Priority Analysis."

Its job would be to make a five-year study on how the United States can best meet the challenge of growing demands on its available resources.

Heading up this program is NPA's vice chairman, Leland Hazard, retired Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. director, now professor of industrial relations at Carnegie Institute of Technology.

TO GET THE measure of their problem, the NPA staff took the 1960 report of President Eisenhower's Commission on National Goals. To its 15 recommendations, NPA added as a 16th goal President Kennedy's moon shot and space exploration program for the 1960.

NPA then made estimates that it would cost $300 billion on top of the 1961 economy to achieve these goals. The problem is that only $150 billion appears to be available.

In other words, there would have to be a $950 billion gross national product in 1970 if desired goals are to be attained. This is where the need for priority analysis is said to arise.

These are at best educated guesses, ingenious exercises for anyone interested in what the economic facts of life may be like in 1970.

To illustrate what might have to be spent in each of the 16 fields, as compared with what was being spent in 1960, an oversimplified list of the 16 goals and the NPA cost estimates is given below:

Explains His Vote

Gardiner, New York

Editor, The Freeman:

At the meeting of the Board of Supervisors, on March 8th, five additional members were named Trustees of the Ulster County Community College. Although there were objections raised about the method used in selecting these Trustees, the final vote was thirty-one to one in favor.

At this time I wish to go on record that I am in favor of carrying out the wishes of the citizens of Ulster County in the establishment of a Community College. Also, I am not opposed to any of the Trustees selected.

As the one dissenter, I wish to make clear why I felt it necessary to cast a negative vote.

1. Out of the nine Trustees selected, not one resides or represents the Southern Tier of the County, which takes in one-third of the population and one-third of the land area of the County.

2. It would seem that there should be capable and experienced people in such a large area, which includes the State University at New Paltz, with its staff of educators and administrators. In the area, we have a former Congressman and other civic leaders and former members of the School Boards of Wallkill, New Paltz and Highland. These men are familiar with building programs, and building, will be the first step in establishing the Community College in the County.

3. Not only does the Southern Tier lack representation on the Board of Trustees — but will have no voice in the selection of the site for the Community College. This privilege was denied to citizens of the County in the last election.

4. It was to emphasize the above points that I voted no, aware that one negative vote would not upset the resolution. Mine was a protest vote — a vote to draw attention to some of the procedures of the Committee.

It is my sincere hope that the citizens of Ulster County will understand my actions.

Sincerely yours,
GEORGE MAJESTIC
Supervisor
Town of Gardiner

Can the President Ignore A Directive by Congress?

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Widespread indifference to the Constitution can develop if our highest officials are inclined to by-pass various provisions of the document itself. When, therefore, President Kennedy indicates that, although Congress may appropriate $320 million for B-70 bombers, he doesn't intend to have such planes made anyway, a sharp question arises. Can a President of the United States ignore a specific direction enacting into law by Congress that he spend money for a given purpose?

Chairman Carl Vinson of the House Armed Services Committee disputes the President's supposed right to refuse to provide the armament which Congress "directs" him to provide.

What does the Constitution itself say about all this? It says:

"Congress shall have power . . .

"To declare war . . .

"To raise and support armies, but no appropriation of money to that use shall be for a longer term than two years;

"To provide and maintain a Navy;

"To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces;

"To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrections and repel invasions;

Handles Organizing

"To provide for organizing, arming, and discipling the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States, reserving to the states respectively the appointment of the officers, and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by Congress. . . .

"To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers. . . ."

What powers over the armed services does the Constitution specifically give to the President In only one sentence is there any mention of the Presidential power over the armed services. This reads as follows: "The president of the United States shall be commander in chief of the Army and Navy of the United States and of the militia of the several states, when called into the actual service of the United States."

Plainly, a President can issue orders as to where and how the military services shall fight, but the obligation to provide the necessary forces and equipment is vested wholly in the Congress, which appropriate the funds.

It is the function of Congress, moreover, to use its own judgement as to the size of the forces and how much equipment is needed, and to decide finally what kind of equipment shall be furnished. Executives of the department dealing with the armed services can submit advice and recommendations, but Congress, through the law-making process, is the final judge of what shall be given to the military agencies.

The President, of course, can veto a bill, but two thirds of both houses can enact it into law, anyway. It has been argued that Congress cannot "direct" the President to enforce or fufill an obligation contained in a law. Again and again in the past, however, laws have "directed" the President to perform certain acts.

It has been stated during the present controversy that Presidents Truman and Eisenhower ignored specific provisions of appropriation laws dealing with military equipment. But two wrongs do not make a right. This correspondent was opposed to the appropriation of an extra $648 million being considered for the U. S. Air Force in 1949. When Congress, however, enacted it into law and Mr. Truman announced he would disregard the wishes of Congress, the following paragraphs appeared in these dispatches on Oct. 31, 1949:

"A precedent of far-reaching importance is involved in Mr. Truman's announcement that, although he signed the military appropriation bill which provides funds for a fifty-eight group Air Force, he will not spend the extra 648 million and will allow only a forty-eight-group Air Force. . . .

"The Congress made a mistake in voting for a fifty-eight instead of a forty-eight-group Air Force, but the law is on the statute books and if the President didn't like it he should have made clear that he would veto the bill and Congress would have had the choice of overriding the veto or amending the bill to meet the President's wishes.

"Rightly or wrongly, Congress wants a fifty-eight group Air Force, and it is the duty of the President to give Congress what it voted."

The basic issue remains the same today. Can a President of the United States arbitrarily decide for himself which laws passed by Congress he will enforce and which ones he will disregard? If so, what becomes of the Presidential oath, spelled out in the Constitution itself: "I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States"?

The Constitution also specifically declares, as one of the duties of a President, that "he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed."

But supposing a President deliberately ignores the wishes or directions of Congress, what can be done about it? There is only one course open, namely, impeachment for "misdemeanors." Would a refusal "to faithfully execute" a law passed by Congres be a "misdemeanor"? One definition of "misdemeanor" is "misconduct." Certainly refusal by a President to "execute" a law would be a breach of faith with the Congress.

Progress Noted In Cancer Cures; Need More Funds

The American Cancer Society set $25,000 as its goal for the annual crusade which opens in Ulster County, April 1, on a hopeful note.

Crusade Co-chairmen Mrs. John C. Salapatis and Frank W. Hommel said, "By the end of the year, about 1,100,000 Americans will be able to say they have been cured of cancer. This is nearly seven times as many people as were cured of the disease in 1937."

87,000 to Die

"In contrast to the bright side," the co-chaimen said, "About 87,000 men, women and children will probably die in 1962, who might have been saved by earlier and better treatment. A much greater effort must be made to urge people to see their doctors in time."

To emphasize this point, they said, that the familiar slogan, "Fight Cancer With a Checkup and a Check," will have a companion in 1962—"To Cure More, Give More."

"To cure more, the co-chairmen said, "more funds are needed to give people life-giving facts about cancer and to keep physicians informed of latest methods of diagnosing and treating cancer.

"To cure more, more funds are needed also to support scientists in their search for cures and, let's hope, preventives for all types of cancer, including leukemia.

More Money Needed

"To cure more, more money is needed for broadening the society's service program to ease the burden of cancer patients and their families."

"Your contribution can be one of the greatest investments in the world—to eliminate a disease which at present rates will strike 45 million Americans now living."

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A combination of ratings rivalry with NBC and a recent change in top management in the news department probably is the cause of CBS' decision to put Walter Cronkite in Douglas Edwards' seat on its early evening news show.

Edwards, on the air at the dinner hour for almost 14 years (his program is on either at 6:15 or 7:15 p.m. all over the country) is a steady, unemotional type of news reporter.

Cronkite, who has been a solid team player on CBS through the years, recently has been attracting critical bouquets on "location" assignments. He was CBS' key reporter covering the John H. Glenn Jr. space trip, and was generally credited with outstanding work in a difficult spot. And he was also praised highly for his thoughtful, well-prepared interviews with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in a recent three-part "CBS Reports" series.

CBS, since it took a bad licking on convention coverage two summers back and lost its top commentator, Edward R. Murrow, has been trying to find a way back to its former news preeminence. And by former, one means the days before NBC's glamorous Huntley-Brinkley team started grabbing off most of the kudos and ratings.

Edwards, whose CBS contract still has four and one-half years to run, wanted to leave the network, which offered him only a five-minute midafternoon news show to replace the prime-time plum it is taking away. He has received a good offer elsewhere.

His request, however, was turned down on the simple ground that "Doug opposite our show on another network would be harmful to CBS."

America's first foreign-born criminal had a name which would be acceptable even to the sensitive censors of "Untouchables" scripts. He was John Billington, who started a mutiny aboard the Mayflower and finally was hanged drawn and quartered for ambushing and killing a fellow Pilgrim.

Writer Philip Reisman Jr. found Mr. B. while researching "Cops and Robbers," Sunday night's NBC historical documentary on indigenous crime.

Recommended tonight: "Dr. Kildare," NBC, 8:30-9:30 (EST)—"The Roaring Boy-O," a rather off-beat bow to St. Patrick's day—about an alcoholic Irish poet.

7 Men Are Arrested In Dice Game Raid

FRANKFORT, N.Y. (AP)—Seven men, five of them unemployed, were arrested in a state police raid on a dice game in a garage Wednesday in this Mohawk Valley community.

Lt. H. A. Scoville, who led the raid, said two sets of dice and some money were seized. He declined to say how much money was taken.

Andrew Trippen, 51, of Frankfort, owner of the garage, was charged with being a common gambler. Trippen, who is unemployed, was free in $100 bail.

Charged with disorderly conduct were William Nudo, 36, of Mohawk, Ross Caruso, 36, Vincent Jacopello, 35, Albert Gatto, 49, Michael Dowhaniak, 35, and Anthony Bongiorno, 32, all of Frankfort.

Troopers said Caruso, Jacopello, Gatto and Bongiorno were unemployed, Nudo was a restaurant owner and Dowhaniak was the manager of a bowling alley.

Progress Noted In Cancer Cures; Need More Funds

The American Cancer Society set $25,000 as its goal for the annual crusade which opens in Ulster County, April 1, on a hopeful note.

Crusade Co-chairmen Mrs. John C. Salapatis and Frank W. Hommel said, "By the end of the year, about 1,100,000 Americans will be able to say they have been cured of cancer. This is nearly seven times as many people as were cured of the disease in 1937."

87,000 to Die

"In contrast to the bright side," the co-chaimen said, "About 87,000 men, women and children will probably die in 1962, who might have been saved by earlier and better treatment. A much greater effort must be made to urge people to see their doctors in time."

To emphasize this point, they said, that the familiar slogan, "Fight Cancer With a Checkup and a Check," will have a companion in 1962—"To Cure More, Give More."

"To cure more, the co-chairmen said, "more funds are needed to give people life-giving facts about cancer and to keep physicians informed of latest methods of diagnosing and treating cancer.

"To cure more, more funds are needed also to support scientists in their search for cures and, let's hope, preventives for all types of cancer, including leukemia.

More Money Needed

"To cure more, more money is needed for broadening the society's service program to ease the burden of cancer patients and their families."

"Your contribution can be one of the greatest investments in the world—to eliminate a disease which at present rates will strike 45 million Americans now living."

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A combination of ratings rivalry with NBC and a recent change in top management in the news department probably is the cause of CBS' decision to put Walter Cronkite in Douglas Edwards' seat on its early evening news show.

Edwards, on the air at the dinner hour for almost 14 years (his program is on either at 6:15 or 7:15 p.m. all over the country) is a steady, unemotional type of news reporter.

Cronkite, who has been a solid team player on CBS through the years, recently has been attracting critical bouquets on "location" assignments. He was CBS' key reporter covering the John H. Glenn Jr. space trip, and was generally credited with outstanding work in a difficult spot. And he was also praised highly for his thoughtful, well-prepared interviews with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in a recent three-part "CBS Reports" series.

CBS, since it took a bad licking on convention coverage two summers back and lost its top commentator, Edward R. Murrow, has been trying to find a way back to its former news preeminence. And by former, one means the days before NBC's glamorous Huntley - Brinkley team started grabbing off most of the kudos and ratings.

Edwards, whose CBS contract still has four and one-half years to run, wanted to leave the network, which offered him only a five-minute midafternoon news show to replace the prime-time plum it is taking away. He has received a good offer elsewhere.

His request, however, was turned down on the simple ground that "Doug opposite our show on another network would be harmful to CBS."

America's first foreign-born criminal had a name which would be acceptable even to the sensitive censors of "Untouchables" scripts. He was John Billington, who started a mutiny aboard the Mayflower and finally was hanged drawn and quartered for ambushing and killing a fellow Pilgrim.

Writer Philip Reisman Jr. found Mr. B. while researching "Cops and Robbers," Sunday night's NBC historical documentary on indigenous crime.

Recommended tonight: "Dr. Kildare," NBC, 8:30-9:30 (EST)—"The Roaring Boy-O," a rather off-beat bow to St. Patrick's day—about an alcoholic Irish poet.

7 Men Are Arrested In Dice Game Raid

FRANKFORT, N.Y. (AP)—Seven men, five of them unemployed, were arrested in a state police raid on a dice game in a garage Wednesday in this Mohawk Valley community.

Lt. H. A. Scoville, who led the raid, said two sets of dice and some money were seized. He declined to say how much money was taken.

Andrew Trippen, 51, of Frankfort, owner of the garage, was charged with being a common gambler. Trippen, who is unemployed, was free in $100 bail.

Charged with disorderly conduct were William Nudo, 36, of Mohawk, Ross Caruso, 36, Vincent Jacopello, 35, Albert Gatto, 49, Michael Dowhaniak, 35, and Anthony Bongiorno, 32, all of Frankfort.

Troopers said Caruso, Jacopello, Gatto and Bongiorno were unemployed. Nudo was a restaurant owner and Dowhaniak was the manager of a bowling alley.

Three Arrested In Syracuse for Miller Book Sale

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — City police raided a downtown bookstore, arrested three employes and confiscated 110 copies of the controversial novel, "Tropic of Cancer", which they said was obscene.

The book, by Henry Miller, previously has been banned in several states and cities. Before it was published in the United States last summer, the 1934 Paris edition was barred from the country by U.S. Customs.

Dist. Atty. Joseph A. Ryan said after the raid Wednesday that "the office of the district attorney does not pose as a literary critic and is well aware that the courts are zealous in their protection of the free publication and dissemination of books within the constitutionally protected freedom of the press."

But Ryan added that existing law "seems sufficient to sustain the charges" against the three employes of the Economy Book Store. They are accused of selling obscene literature.

Lt. Richard Shill of the Police Youth Department said his office had received a number of complaints about the book.

John E. Armstrong, 47, office manager of the store, Alan Hammerle, 45, secretary, and Mrs. Marguerite Fritch, 62, a clerk, each pleaded innocent in police court. They were released in $500 bail each.

Grove Press of New York, the American publisher, is standing behind book-sellers.

A Hartford, Conn. judge has ruled "Tropic of Cancer" obscene as has a Los Angeles jury. But a Cook County, Ill., (Chicago) judge said it was not obscene.

Warn Dog Owners Of New Drive on Deer Predators

Members of local sportsmen's clubs together with town law enforcement officers are going to make a concerted effort during the coming weekend in the Town of Esopus to overcome the problem of deer being chased and attacked by dogs, it was announced today by Supervisor Roger W. Mabie.

All dog owners are requested to either keep their dogs indoors or tied from Friday night until Sunday night.

Members of both the West Esopus Land Owners' Association and Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club appeared at the town board meeting of the Town of Esopus held Wednesday evening and requested that the drive be undertaken. Both organizations have game preserves in the Town of Esopus. Since the heavy snows of mid-February, upwards of 30 deer have been killed by dogs in the South Mountain area between Ulster Park and West Park. Last Saturday evening, a man was attacked by dogs on Rodman's Lane, Ulster Park and was able to fend them off.

It is believed that many of the deer attacks are made by roaming, unlicensed dogs. It is because of this, that dog owners are urged to control the whereabouts of their dogs during the entire weekend, so that the deer chasing dogs can be either caught or destroyed.

All American Contest Draws 112 Boys at Y

The Kingston YMCA's "All American Boy" contest, conducted by Physical Director Steve Orozco, is actively engaging 112 youths in the development of physical skills used in all forms of regular activities.

The format of the events is based on the normal development of all youth in utilizing their own initiative, courage, physical skills and regular habits of physical fitness.

During the cause of the three months of operation with the skills contest, the class size has improved greatly. Regular attendance by all boys at the YMCA is believed, by the staff, to be the secret in developing leaders in basketball, swimming gymnastics and any other physical activity that the boys may engage in.

During the first month of the contest physical fitness was stressed in order to prepare the boys for more strenuous activities. The second month of the contest stressed basketball and gymnastic skills to improve coordination and competitive skills. The third month is stressing aquatic achievement to prepare the youth for the summer months. All phases of the contest has encouraged the boys to improve their own individual skills in competition with themselves as well as with the group.

Low Fund Helps Scout Program Around World

Each year Girl Scouts and Brownies collect pennies for the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund. They are usually asked to donate one penny for each year of their age. This year, however, in conjunction with the 50th anniversary of Girl Scouting the fund has been called "Dimes for Daisy"—"Daisy" being the nickname of Juliette Gordon Low, the founder of Girl Scouting.

Every Brownie Scout has been asked to contribute at least a dime, every Intermediate Scout a quarter and all registered adults 50 cents. The money was collected by each individual troop and was presented to Mrs. David Ennis, council president, at the Kingston birthday celebration last Saturday. Money will come in from all over the county and be put together to constitute the donation from the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts.

This year the monies collected will be used to promote Girl Scouting in South and Central American countries which do not have a scouting program. Adults will be trained and then sent to different countries to organize and develop Girl Scouting. Handbooks and materials will be printed in the language of the people.

The Juliette Low World Friendship Fund is just one project in the field of International Friendship. Troops throughout the country carry out international projects throughout the year. In Ulster County troops have adopted orphans from China and Korea and sent packages and letters to them. They have sent clothing and necessary supplies to needy people and disaster areas throughout the world and they have learned about the Girl Scouts and Girl Guides of other countries.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Job security is the prime goal of much of the labor force today. And the other side of the coin is what to do about those who lose their jobs anyway. Both sides swing into focus this week.

Retraining is one cure proposed. A shorter work week to spread the jobs is another. Still others are curbs on automation and restrictions against foreign goods that could hurt American factories and thus cost jobs.

The front pages are full of these items:

Job security is one of the big stumbling blocks as the steel labor talks are renewed in Pittsburgh. The issue is also behind labor's attacks on proposed mergers in rail and air transportation. It is the prime reason the rail unions fight the proposed changes in work rules, which management brands as featherbedding.

Worker training is to get a wider tryout through the $434-million voted for it by Congress.

A Bit Puzzling

And at the same time Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg is telling Congress that the administration bill to move toward freer world trade, especially with the industrialized European Common Market, could cost 90,000 jobs in some American industries hit by higher imports. He quickly adds that the program is expected to open up many times that number of jobs by increasing American exports.

A Complex Problem

All the current news items stress how complex is the problem of moving into a new age at home and in world contacts without hurting too many individuals.

The federal training program will be aimed at two kinds of workers—older ones whose particular skills have been made obsolete either by replacement by machines or by changing tastes of consumers; and younger workers, increasingly entering the labor force, who may have little skill at all or much of an idea of what skills are in demand.

Says Results Poor

A number of corporate and community training programs have been tried. Critics say the results often have been poor. Many older jobless persons don't want to move to unknown work fields or strange communities where different kinds of jobs might be found. Some older persons don't learn new tricks easily. Many of the jobs going begging are for skills beyond ordinary training programs to develop.

But the administration hopes that a broad attack on the problem will work.

Labor's plans for spreading the work through shorter work weeks or easing the pain by higher benefits during layoff periods is often attacked by management as too costly. Management also argues it can't hold price lines unless it cuts labor costs by more mechanization. It points to the increasing costs of unemployment benefits and pensions and medical care.

Both Protest

The free trade issue splits both labor and management. Where imports could hurt, both the companies and their unions tend to be loud in protest against the administration plan. Where a chance is seen for more exports—meaning more jobs and more profits—the plan draws supporters.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Job security is the prime goal of much of the labor force today. And the other side of the coin is what to do about those who lose their jobs anyway. Both sides swing into focus this week.

Retraining is one cure proposed. A shorter work week to spread the jobs is another. Still others are curbs on automation and restrictions against foreign goods that could hurt American factories and thus cost jobs.

The front pages are full of these items:

Job security is one of the big stumbling blocks as the steel labor talks are renewed in Pittsburgh. The issue is also behind labor's attacks on proposed mergers in rail and air transportation. It is the prime reason the rail unions fight the proposed changes in work rules, which management brands as featherbedding.

Worker training is to get a wider tryout through the $434-million voted for it by Congress.

A Bit Puzzling

And at the same time Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg is telling Congress that the administration bill to move toward freer world trade, especially with the industrialized European Common Market, could cost 90,000 jobs in some American industries hit by higher imports. He quickly adds that the program is expected to open up many times that number of jobs by increasing American exports.

A Complex Problem

All the current news items stress how complex is the problem of moving into a new age at home and in world contacts without hurting too many individuals.

The federal training program will be aimed at two kinds of workers—older ones whose particular skills have been made obsolete either by replacement by machines or by changing tastes of consumers; and younger workers, increasingly entering the labor force, who may have little skill at all or much of an idea of what skills are in demand.

Says Results Poor

A number of corporate and community training programs have been tried. Critics say the results often have been poor. Many older jobless persons don't want to move to unknown work fields or strange communities where different kinds of jobs might be found. Some older persons don't learn new tricks easily. Many of the jobs going begging are for skills beyond ordinary training programs to develop.

But the administration hopes that a broad attack on the problem will work.

Labor's plans for spreading the work through shorter work weeks or easing the pain by higher benefits during layoff periods is often attacked by management as too costly. Management also argues it can't hold price lines unless it cuts labor costs by more mechanization. It points to the increasing costs of unemployment benefits and pensions and medical care.

Both Protest

The free trade issue splits both labor and management. Where imports could hurt, both the companies and their unions tend to be loud in protest against the administration plan. Where a chance is seen for more exports—meaning more jobs and more profits—the plan draws supporters.

Senate Approves Anti-Fraud Bill To Tighten Relief

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Social Welfare Department would help establish anti-fraud bureaus in local relief agencies, under a bill before the Assembly today.

The Senate approved the measure Wednesday.

The legislation is part of a program of Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney for tightening welfare operations, of which he has been a prominent critic.

The measures do not involve any major changes in existing welfare policies. A commission appointed by Gov. Rockefeller is studying the entire field of welfare and is scheduled to make recommendations for substantial changes to the 1963 Legislature.

Under the Senate-approved bill, the state would give the Welfare Department an additional $200,000 to:

Help local welfare departments establish fraud-investigation departments to look into cases in which persons obtain, or try to obtain, welfare aid to which they are not entitled.

Finance research into the causes of relief and ways to make recipients self-supporting.

Aid welfare districts in establishing efficient and economic methods of operation.

In other state government developments:

Primary—The Assembly passed and sent to Gov. Rockefeller a bill to set Sept. 6 as the date of the 1962 statewide primary. This would mean that state conventions would be held Sept. 18 and 19.

Bingo — The Assembly passed and sent to the Senate a bill that would oust the present nine-member State Lottery Control Commission and replace it with a five-member group that would have more power to police the game. The present group, the governor has said, allowed corruption to creep into bingo.

School Buildings — Rockefeller signed a bill to authorize use of schools in non-school hours for political meetings by groups such as the League of Women Voters, but not by partisan political organizations. Under previous law, the schools could not be used for "political meetings."

This has been interpreted to mean that no gatherings involving politics could be held.

Sunday Laws — Protestant and Jewish groups appearing before the Assembly Codes Committee endorsed pending bills to ease Sunday-closing laws to allow persons to do business on Sunday if they observed another day as their Sabbath.

Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz supported that view. A Roman Catholic organization opposed any change. The committee said it might draft a compromise bill.

Johnstown Man Hurt in Mishap

Howard Stanton, 41, of Johnstown was reported in fair condition at Kingston Hospital at noon today. He received internal injuries, lacerations and abrasions early this morning in a two-truck accident on the Thruway two miles north of the Saugerties Interchange. Stanton was brought to the hospital by the H & S Ambulance Service of Saugerties.

Eugene Madison, 28, of Hudson was the operator of the second vehicle. The accident happened as one vehicle pulled out to pass the other. The left wheel of the tractor trailer went off the concrete, causing the truck to skid, jackknife and turn over.

The roadway was blocked and traffic detoured through the Malden Service Station area in front of which the accident took place.

State Trooper R. F. McDonald of the Kingston Thruway Sub Station invstigated. Also at the scene was Sgt. Ray Dunn of the Thruway photographic squad. Several other troopers assisted in directing traffic.

One of the trucks was loaded with mustard seed and the other was loaded with hides.

Sawkill Youth Pays Fine for Speeding

Richard Urbank, 20 of Sawkill, arrested for speeding Tuesday night paid fines of $25 for speeding and $5 for inadequate muffler when he appeared before Town of Kingston Justice of the Peace Robert E. Ferrigan.

Urbank was issued summonses on Route 28 in the Town of Kingston by Kingston Troopers David Wachtel and Donald Cole. He was committed to Ulster County Jail in lieu of fines and later paid the fines and was released, according to Ulster County Sheriffs Office.

side to investigate he observed fire in the rooming house.

"Someone told me there was a dog in the house and I opened a door on the first floor and saw the entire floor was in flames," the neighbor said. He asked his name not be used. It was his opinion the fire had been burning for some time before it was discovered.

Owner in Florida

There was no one in the place at the time. Hlinka is on vacation in Florida. He was reported to be due home this weekend.

Dew Drop Inn, which stands close to the rooming house, was not open for business but it was reported a man was asleep upstairs in the Inn and was aroused by neighbors. His car, parked between the Inn and the rooming house was saved when a window was broken and the car driven to safety.

Mutual Aid was notified of the fire at 11:51 p. m. Friday and Bloomington Fire Department under Chief Oscar Hahn responded. Fire Control also alerted the Rosendale, Tillson, Binnewater and St. Remy Fire companies and they went to the scene. Cottekill Fire Department was summoned and stood by at the Bloomington Fire House.

Chief Hahn reported that when his department arrived the fire had enveloped a large portion of the building, and stated that it appeared the fire had started in the cellar.

Firemen Complimented

Ulster County Fire Co-ordinator Winfred Snyder today complimented the volunteer firemen for their good work in saving the adjoining structures.

So hot was the fire that paint was scorched on the Dew Drop Inn building and it was only through wetting down that the Inn was saved. The old brick school building which stands some 40 or 50 feet from the rooming house was saved.

One fireman, Lt. Warren Trandoni, suffered burns on his hand and was given first aid at the scene.

Pumped From Creek

Ample water was available from the creek. Rosendale stationed a pumper at the creek and 1,200 feet of 2½ inch hose was laid to the other pieces of apparatus which played streams on the fire and also on adjacent structures.

Although recall was sounded at 3:16 at the Ulster County Fire Control Center, Chief Hahn reported Bloomington firemen did not leave until about 6 a. m. and then left a crew at the scene to keep the building wet down.

The building that was destroyed was formerly the Dew Drop Inn, but later a new building was erected nearby to house the grill and as a residence for the proprietor. The former inn property was then remodeled and has been used as a guest house.

The fire was reported to the sheriff's office by Deputy Sheriff Jack Seaholm who was on his way home at 12:15 a. m. and observed flames in the sky. He reported that at that time the fire had gained great headway.

Eddie Fisher Unhurt

ROME (AP)—Eddie Fisher was rushing out to Rome's Cinecitta (Cinema Village) Wednesday to have lunch with wife Elizabeth Taylor when his Rolls Royce and a suburban bus collided. No one was hurt.

Fisher made the rest of the trip on foot while his car, with a badly smashed right front fender, was towed away.

Awed by Its Beauty

Taj Mahal Adds Jackie to List

AGRA, India (AP)—Jacqueline Kennedy viewed the Taj Mahal with wonderstruck eyes today, seemingly awed by the beauty of the white marble memorial to a 300-year-old love story.

The American First Lady shared an experience that thousands have had before her, for the massive, delicately wrought building and spacious garden of reflecting pools and flowering shrubs is India's leading tourist attraction.

Dream in Marble

Mrs. Kennedy visited the grounds in late afternoon for her first look at the enduring symbol of the love of a 17th century Mogul emperor, Shah Jahan, for his wife whose Urdu titles included Taj Mahal—crown of the palace.

Among others who have been enchanted by the memorial, that poets have called a dream in marble, is former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. He was here in 1959. The view annually delights more eyes and stirs more sighs than any other sight in India.

Mrs. Kennedy saw a building standing on a square marble parapet raised 12 feet above the garden. Its frame is 186 feet on each side. The walls, rising more than 100 feet, are capped by a dome which soars to 210 feet. Slim minerets rise delicately at each corner of the parapet.

The structure is inlaid with wreaths, scrolls and frets of bloodstones, agates and jasper. Shah Jahan and his beloved were Moslems and thousands of verses from the Koran are graven into the walls in black stone.

Visits Ex-Capital

On her way from New Delhi, Mrs. Kennedy visited Fatahpur-Sikri, a former Indian capital 20 miles southwest of Agra. She showed particular interest in a stone courtyard where a 16th century Mogul emperor played chess with his wife, using girls as chess pieces.

Mrs. Kennedy came by train to this red sandstone city in the desert by train from New Delhi.

Mrs. Kennedy was received at the Fatehpur-Sikri station by Mrs. Suchita Kripalani, a leading member of Nehru's Congress party.

Mrs. Kripalani's husband is a conservative who Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Mennon soundly defeated in the parliamentary election in Bombay last month.

Prime Minister Nehru and his family escorted America's First Lady onto a special train for the 120-mile trip south to Agra.

The four-hour run through the Indian countryside took Mrs. Kennedy past mud-hut villages, past endless flat fields only occasionally broken by trees, past an occasional ruined mosque or cupolaed Moslem tomb.

After a night flight to Benares, Mrs. Kennedy will tour the holy city Friday, then fly to Udaipur and Jaipur to be the guest of their maharajas. She will return to New Delhi for one night before beginning a tour of Pakistan March 21.

Opposition Noted To U. S. Proposal On Spuds Market

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal hearing has heard testimony in opposition to proposed national marketing program for potatoes.

The opposition included contentions that the program would impose costly and unnecessary controls over potato growers and create the danger of "politics" in the industry.

Karl Hofmann of Collins, N.Y., president of the Erie County Potato Growers Cooperative, said Wednesday Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman is an advocate of "controlled abundance."

Hofmann asked:

"Why should we be willing to trade our system that has flourished under the law of supply and demand for a system of government - regimented agriculture where the farmer is merely a puppet on a string?"

David R. C. Smith, a potato grower of Canastota, N.Y., said that "men all over the world are looking for freedom," and the proposed marketing program would put agriculture under political control.

vestigators the dead woman was his wife.

Records of police and Dutchess County Medical Examiner Dr. Chester Golding listed the dead woman's name as Farley. A published obituary and an undertaker's paid death notice in Poughkeepsie listed the dead woman as Mrs. John Farley, the former Helene Pardee.

Dakin said the real identity of the crash victim was Helene Pardee, a switchboard operator employed until her death at Vassar College.

Wife Tells Police

Dakin said the real identity of the crash victim came to attention of police when Farley's wife by marriage, who resides in the City of Poughkeepsie, went to town police headquarters and identified herself as Farley's wife and informed police her husband was not married to the other woman.

Town Police Sergeant Richard Hellman picked up Farley yesterday for questioning. Dakin said Farley recanted his original story and admitted he was not married to the woman who was killed Sunday.

Dakin said all records will have to be changed.

According to a funeral notice the dead woman was identified as Helen Jane Farley and services were held Wednesday morning.

said: "It is felt without reservation that the requirements of this executive advisory committee will be such that I would not be able to do justice to both it and the Board of Public Works. The scope and importance of the responsibilities of this committee as defined to me, would make it impossible for me to adequately fulfill my obligations to both commissions as they relate to time and energy."

More Chance to Serve

He said he enjoyed his relationship with the BPW commissioners, and hoped "that I have contributed as much to the board as I have derived from being a part of its function."

The mayor said, "there is no doubt in my mind that Mr. Lawson has made valuable contributions to the Board of Public Works, and I am confident that he will make even greater contributions to the future of Kingston as a member of the vital urban renewal executive advisory committee."

Lawson has been active in community affairs, having served as a past secretary of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, as a member of the Board of the T.B. and Health Association, and as a commissioner of the Board of Public Works since September 8, 1958.

He joined IBM in Poughkeepsie as a timekeeper in 1954 and was transferred to Kingston in 1955, where he became an account clerk. Professionally, he is a member of the National Association of Accountants.

He is a member of the Franklin Street AME Zion Church, Lodge 723 of IBPOE, and of the Mid-Hudson Chapter, NAACP.

Educated in the Kingston school system, he attended the Moran Business School, the Lincoln Prep School in Philadelphia, and Albany Business College. He lives with his wife, the former Emily Sims, at 24 Furnace Street.

Job Training Signed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has signed legislation which will permit training up to a million unemployed workers for new skills.

The three-year, $345-million program is designed to help both those who lose their jobs through automation and those whose skills limit them to low-paying jobs.

Kennedy described the bill as perhaps the most significant legislation in the area of employment since the Employment Act of 1956. That law set up a government policy of seeking to maintain full employment.

JFK Schedules Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will deliver a major foreign economic policy address in New Orleans May 4, Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., said today.

Boggs said in a statement the President will speak at Municipal Auditorium at 11 a.m.

Further details of the President's visit will be worked out at a White House conference March 20 with New Orleans Mayor Victor H. Schiro and Boggs.

The President's flying visit will be sponsored by the International House of New Orleans.

IBM Has Option For Fishkill Site

FISHKILL, N.Y. (AP) — International Business Machines Inc. said today it has obtained an option to purchase 500 acres in East Fishkill for the construction of a plant in its component's division.

Dr. John Gibson, director of the components division, said the purchase and construction plans will be the first step for a new home for the division.

The division now has plants in Poughkeepsie and Kingston.

Bill to Tighten Drug Curbs in Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee has thrown a hurdle in the path of a bill to tighten federal control of the prescription drug industry.

Rather than clear the measure for Senate debate, the committee voted 9-2 Wednesday to send it to the subcommittee on patents, copyrights and trademarks.

The controversial measure, introduced by Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., cleared his antitrust and monopoly subcommittee last week by a 3-2 vote.

Wednesday's setback came on a motion by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., an opponent of the bill.

Saugerties C of C

the shopping area of the village?

"When will this exodus of business from our main streets end?

"What is the assessed valuation of our business district now in relation to what it was 10 or 15 years ago, compared with the assessed valuation of the residential area?

"How long will it be before the residents or the homeowners are paying the whole shot as far as taxes go to maintain municipal government?

Still Have Chance

"There is one difference, though, between our village and the villages I saw on the television program. We do have a chance.

"There is something that can be done in our village to put the brakes on and to improve the situation. I realize since I have lived here as long as I have, and talked to so many people as I have, that the homeowners have a tendency to criticize the businessmen and the businessmen have a tendency to criticize the homeowners, but now everybody is involved.

"Community action now is a must. I am sure everyone in the village does not want to see it die, but would rather see it bloom and become a successful place to do business and to live.

"Two special meetings have been held under the direction of the Chamber of Commerce with a certain group of merchants, to discuss a plan of action that could very well be the turning point. An expert in planning was consulted, and he feels that much can be done but that it should cover more area than the original thoughts. We see all around us communities such as Woodstock, Ellenville, Woodridge and others that vary in size from Saugerties from smaller to just a little bit larger, that have been faced with the same situation.

"These communities took action. It is now time that Saugerties takes action. There is an old expression that everyone of us is very familiar with: Fight fire with fire. In other words, to fight the outside shopping centers that are destroying the economic future of our village, we must fight them on their own terms, and it can be done.

Discussion Planned

"Within the very near future, other merchants and owners of buildings in the business area of our village will be invited to discuss the plans with the Chamber. The Chamber, in order to get a job accomplished, needs the support of every citizen in this village.

"I invite anyone who wishes to, to write me a letter expressing his or her views, whether you like or dislike, and any suggestions or criticisms that you have. I respectfully ask that you leave personalities out of the problem, and that you look at the village as an economic unit vital to our way of life."

Lefkowitz Would

pealed to the Legislature to ease the laws.

A Roman Catholic organization opposed any change.

The conflicting views were aired at a public hearing by the Assembly Codes Committee, which is considering several bills to ease the present laws on Sunday closing.

Assemblyman Julius Volker, R-Erie, said after the 2½-hour hearing that the committee would consider introducing a compromise bill.

More than 20 Democratic legislators from New York City testified in favor of easing present laws. They were backed by Jewish groups and Seventh-Day Adventists who observe the Sabbath on Saturday.

The State Council of (Protestant) Churches advocated a change in Sunday laws as a matter of religious freedom.

The only dissent was entered by the New York State Catholic Welfare Committee. It reaffirmed a statement of 10 years standing that "only necessary and essential business or work should be performed on Sundays...We believe that no change is needed or desirable...."

Powers, Wife Alone

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga. (AP)—U2 Pilot Francis Gary Powers and his wife, Barbara, finally had the opportunity to be quietly alone today.

Also prepared for Powers at the home of his wife's mother, Mrs. Monteen Allen, was his favorite menu—roast beef and banana pudding.

While no one was making any formal announcement, it was learned on good authority that Mr. and Mrs. Powers arrived just after midnight from Rome, Ga., where they had a rendezvous Wednesday.

The flier was released last month from a Soviet prison in an exchange for a Soviet spy.

There were no incidents and commercial traffic was not hindered, the informant said.

Dr. Compton Is Dead at 69, Work Led to 'A' Bomb

BERKELEY ,Calif. (AP)—Physicist Arthur H. Compton, 69, a clergyman's son whose work led to the atomic bomb and world-wide fame, died today from a cerebral hemorrhage.

Dr. Compton, a Nobel Prize winner and one of this nation's most respected scientists, entered Alta Bates Community Hospital here March 1, suffering dizziness and nausea. He lost consciousness March 3.

He remained in critical condition and unconscious until his death, shortly after 5 a.m.

A former chancellor of Washington University in St. Louis, Dr. Compton arrived here last month as a professor-at-large at the University of California. He had planned a series of seminars at UC campuses throughout the state.

Prison Sit-in Dwindles

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A sit-in strike by most of the 9,700 inmates of the state's five maximum security prisons dwindled almost to a halt today.

The State Correction Department said only 950 prisoners, some of them "leaders and agitators," still were in their cells. Most of those still demonstrating remained behind cell bars from choice, a spokesman said. Prison officials locked in the leaders.

The sit-down began last week to support bills now pending in the Legislature to change parole procedures.

Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Barbara Jean Krum, who departed this life 3 years ago today, March 15, 1959.

Somewhere back of the sunset
We see a lovely face,
The sweetest smile of one we loved,
And long so to embrace.
The memory of our daughter and sister whom God did call away,
Will live forever in our hearts
Till we meet again some day.

Senate Approves Anti-Fraud Bill To Tighten Relief

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Social Welfare Department would help establish anti-fraud bureaus in local relief agencies, under a bill before the Assembly today.

The Senate approved the measure Wednesday.

The legislation is part of a program of Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney for tightening welfare operations, of which he has been a prominent critic.

The measures do not involve any major changes in existing welfare policies. A commission appointed by Gov. Rockefeller is studying the entire field of welfare and is scheduled to make recommendations for substantial changes to the 1963 Legislature.

Under the Senate-approved bill, the state would give the Welfare Department an additional $200,000 to:

Help local welfare departments establish fraud-investigation departments to look into cases in which persons obtain, or try to obtain, welfare aid to which they are not entitled.

Finance research into the causes of relief and ways to make recipients self-supporting.

Aid welfare districts in establishing efficient and economic methods of operation.

In other state government developments:

Primary—The Assembly passed and sent to Gov. Rockefeller a bill to set Sept. 6 as the date of the 1962 statewide primary. This would mean that state conventions would be held Sept. 18 and 19.

Bingo — The Assembly passed and sent to the Senate a bill that would oust the present nine-member State Lottery Control Commission and replace it with a five-member group that would have more power to police the game. The present group, the governor has said, allowed corruption to creep into bingo.

School Buildings — Rockefeller signed a bill to authorize use of schools in non-school hours for political meetings by groups such as the League of Women Voters, but not by partisan political organizations. Under previous law, the schools could not be used for "political meetings."

This has been interpreted to mean that no gatherings involving politics could be held.

Sunday Laws — Protestant and Jewish groups appearing before the Assembly Codes Committee endorsed pending bills to ease Sunday-closing laws to allow persons to do business on Sunday if they observed another day as their Sabbath.

Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz supported that view. A Roman Catholic organization opposed any change. The committee said it might draft a compromise bill.

Johnstown Man Hurt in Mishap

Howard Stanton, 41, of Johnstown was reported in fair condition at Kingston Hospital at noon today. He received internal injuries, lacerations and abrasions early this morning in a two-truck accident on the Thruway two miles north of the Saugerties Interchange. Stanton was brought to the hospital by the H & S Ambulance Service of Saugerties.

Eugene Madison, 28, of Hudson was the operator of the second vehicle. The accident happened as one vehicle pulled out to pass the other. The left wheel of the tractor trailer went off the concrete, causing the truck to skid, jackknife and turn over.

The roadway was blocked and traffic detoured through the Malden Service Station area in front of which the accident took place.

State Trooper R. F. McDonald of the Kingston Thruway Sub Station invstigated. Also at the scene was Sgt. Ray Dunn of the Thruway photographic squad. Several other troopers assisted in directing traffic.

One of the trucks was loaded with mustard seed and the other was loaded with hides.

Sawkill Youth Pays Fine for Speeding

Richard Urbank, 20 of Sawkill, arrested for speeding Tuesday night paid fines of $25 for speeding and $5 for inadequate muffler when he appeared before Town of Kingston Justice of the Peace Robert E. Ferrigan.

Urbank was issued summonses on Route 28 in the Town of Kingston by Kingston Troopers David Wachtel and Donald Cole. He was committed to Ulster County Jail in lieu of fines and later paid the fines and was released, according to Ulster County Sheriffs Office.

side to investigate he observed fire in the rooming house.

"Someone told me there was a dog in the house and I opened a door on the first floor and saw the entire floor was in flames," the neighbor said. He asked his name not be used. It was his opinion the fire had been burning for some time before it was discovered.

Owner in Florida

There was no one in the place at the time, Hlinka is on vacation in Florida. He was reported to be due home this weekend.

Dew Drop Inn, which stands close to the rooming house, was not open for business but it was reported a man was asleep upstairs in the Inn and was aroused by neighbors. His car, parked between the Inn and the rooming house was saved when a window was broken and the car driven to safety.

Mutual Aid was notified of the fire at 11:51 p. m. Friday and Bloomington Fire Department under Chief Oscar Hahn responded. Fire Control also alerted the Rosendale, Tillson, Binnewater and St. Remy Fire companies and they went to the scene. Cottekill Fire Department was summoned and stood by at the Bloomington Fire House.

Chief Hahn reported that when his department arrived the fire had enveloped a large portion of the building, and stated that it appeared the fire had started in the cellar.

Firemen Complimented

Ulster County Fire Co-ordinator Winfred Snyder today complimented the volunteer firemen for their good work in saving the adjoining structures.

So hot was the fire that paint was scorched on the Dew Drop Inn building and it was only through wetting down that the Inn was saved. The old brick school building which stands some 40 or 50 feet from the rooming house was saved.

One fireman, Lt. Warren Trandoni, suffered burns on his hand and was given first aid at the scene.

Pumped From Creek

Ample water was available from the creek. Rosendale stationed a pumper at the creek and 1,200 feet of 2½ inch hose was laid to the other pieces of apparatus which played streams on the fire and also on adjacent structures.

Although recall was sounded at 3:16 at the Ulster County Fire Control Center, Chief Hahn reported Bloomington firemen did not leave until about 6 a. m. and then left a crew at the scene to keep the building wet down.

The building that was destroyed was formerly the Dew Drop Inn, but later a new building was erected nearby to house the grill and as a residence for the proprietor. The former inn property was then remodeled and has been used as a guest house.

The fire was reported to the sheriff's office by Deputy Sheriff Jack Seaholm who was on his way home at 12:15 a. m. and observed flames in the sky. He reported that at that time the fire had gained great headway.

Eddie Fisher Unhurt

ROME (AP)—Eddie Fisher was rushing out to Rome's Cinecitta (Cinema Village) Wednesday to have lunch with wife Elizabeth Taylor when his Rolls Royce and a suburban bus collided. No one was hurt.

Fisher made the rest of the trip on foot while his car, with a badly smashed right front fender, was towed away.

Taj Mahal Adds Jackie to List

AGRA, India (AP)—Jacqueline Kennedy viewed the Taj Mahal with wonderstruck eyes today, seemingly awed by the beauty of the white marble memorial to a 300-year-old love story.

The American First Lady shared an experience that thousands have had before her, for the massive, delicately wrought building and spacious garden of reflecting pools and flowering shrubs is India's leading tourist attraction.

Dream in Marble

Mrs. Kennedy visited the grounds in late afternoon for her first look at the enduring symbol of the love of a 17th century Mogul emperor, Shah Jahan, for his wife whose Urdu titles included Taj Mahal—crown of the palace.

Among others who have been enchanted by the memorial, that poets have called a dream in marble, is former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. He was here in 1959. The view annually delights more eyes and stirs more sighs than any other sight in India.

Mrs. Kennedy saw a building standing on a square marble parapet raised 12 feet above the garden. Its frame is 186 feet on each side. The walls, rising more than 100 feet, are capped by a dome which soars to 210 feet. Slim minerets rise delicately at each corner of the parapet.

The structure is inlaid with wreaths, scrolls and frets of bloodstones, agates and jasper. Shah Jahan and his beloved were Moslems and thousands of verses from the Koran are graven into the walls in black stone.

Visits Ex-Capital

On her way from New Delhi, Mrs. Kennedy visited Fatahpur-Sikri, a former Indian capital 20 miles southwest of Agra. She showed particular interest in a stone courtyard where a 16th century Mogul emperor played chess with his wife, using girls as chess pieces.

Mrs. Kennedy came by train to this red sandstone city in the desert by train from New Delhi.

Mrs. Kennedy was received at the Fatehpur-Sikri station by Mrs. Suchita Kripalani, a leading member of Nehru's Congress party.

Mrs. Kripalani's husband is a conservative who Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Mennon soundly defeated in the parliamentary election in Bombay last month.

Prime Minister Nehru and his family escorted America's First Lady onto a special train for the 120-mile trip south to Agra.

The four-hour run through the Indian countryside took Mrs. Kennedy past mud-hut villages, past endless flat fields only occasionally broken by trees, past an occasional ruined mosque or cupolaed Moslem tomb.

After a night flight to Benares, Mrs. Kennedy will tour the holy city Friday, then fly to Udaipur and Jaipur to be the guest of their maharajas. She will return to New Delhi for one night before beginning a tour of Pakistan March 21.

Opposition Noted To U. S. Proposal On Spuds Market

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal hearing has heard testimony in opposition to proposed national marketing program for potatoes.

The opposition included contentions that the program would impose costly and unnecessary controls over potato growers and create the danger of "politics" in the industry.

Karl Hofmann of Collins, N.Y., president of the Erie County Potato Growers Cooperative, said Wednesday Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman is an advocate of "controlled abundance."

Hofmann asked:

"Why should we be willing to trade our system that has flourished under the law of supply and demand for a system of government - regimented agriculture where the farmer is merely a puppet on a string?"

David R. C. Smith, a potato grower of Canastota, N.Y., said that "men all over the world are looking for freedom," and the proposed marketing program would put agriculture under political control.

False Information

vestigators the dead woman was his wife.

Records of police and Dutchess County Medical Examiner Dr. Chester Golding listed the dead woman's name as Farley. A published obituary and an undertaker's paid death notice in Poughkeepsie listed the dead woman as Mrs. John Farley, the former Helene Pardee.

Dakin said the real identity of the crash victim was Helene Pardee, a switchboard operator employed until her death at Vassar College.

Wife Tells Police

Dakin said the real identity of the crash victim came to attention of police when Farley's wife by marriage, who resides in the City of Poughkeepsie, went to town police headquarters and identified herself as Farley's wife and informed police her husband was not married to the other woman.

Town Police Sergeant Richard Hellman picked up Farley yesterday for questioning. Dakin said Farley recanted his original story and admitted he was not married to the woman who was killed Sunday.

Dakin said all records will have to be changed.

According to a funeral notice the dead woman was identified as Helen Jane Farley and services were held Wednesday morning.

said: "It is felt without reservation that the requirements of this executive advisory committee will be such that I would not be able to do justice to both it and the Board of Public Works. The scope and importance of the responsibilities of this committee as defined to me, would make it impossible for me to adequately fulfill my obligations to both commissions as they relate to time and energy."

More Chance to Serve

He said he enjoyed his relationship with the BPW commissioners, and hoped "that I have contributed as much to the board as I have derived from being a part of its function."

The mayor said, "there is no doubt in my mind that Mr. Lawson has made valuable contributions to the Board of Public Works, and I am confident that he will make even greater contributions to the future of Kingston as a member of the vital urban renewal executive advisory committee."

Lawson has been active in community affairs, having served as a past secretary of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, as a member of the Board of the T.B. and Health Association, and as a commissioner of the Board of Public Works since September 8, 1958.

He joined IBM in Poughkeepsie as a timekeeper in 1954 and was transferred to Kingston in 1955, where he became an account clerk. Professionally, he is a member of the National Association of Accountants.

He is a member of the Franklin Street AME Zion Church, Lodge 723 of IBPOE, and of the Mid-Hudson Chapter, NAACP.

Educated in the Kingston school system, he attended the Moran Business School, the Lincoln Prep School in Philadelphia, and Albany Business College. He lives with his wife, the former Emily Sims, at 24 Furnace Street.

Job Training Signed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has signed legislation which will permit training up to a million unemployed workers for new skills.

The three-year, $345-million program is designed to help both those who lose their jobs through automation and those whose skills limit them to low-paying jobs.

Kennedy described the bill as perhaps the most significant legislation in the area of employment since the Employment Act of 1956. That law set up a government policy of seeking to maintain full employment.

JFK Schedules Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will deliver a major foreign economic policy address in New Orleans May 4, Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., said today.

Boggs said in a statement the President will speak at Municipal Auditorium at 11 a.m.

Further details of the President's visit will be worked out at a White House conference March 20 with New Orleans Mayor Victor H. Schiro and Boggs.

The President's flying visit will be sponsored by the International House of New Orleans.

IBM Has Option For Fishkill Site

FISHKILL, N.Y. (AP) — International Business Machines Inc. said today it has obtained an option to purchase 500 acres in East Fishkill for the construction of a plant in its component's division.

Dr. John Gibson, director of the components division, said the purchase and construction plans will be the first step for a new home for the division.

The division now has plants in Poughkeepsie and Kingston.

Bill to Tighten Drug Curbs in Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee has thrown a hurdle in the path of a bill to tighten federal control of the prescription drug industry.

Rather than clear the measure for Senate debate, the committee voted 9-2 Wednesday to send it to the subcommittee on patents, copyrights and trademarks.

The controversial measure, introduced by Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., cleared his antitrust and monopoly subcommittee last week by a 3-2 vote.

Wednesday's setback came on a motion by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., an opponent of the bill.

the shopping area of the village?

"When will this exodus of business from our main streets end?

"What is the assessed valuation of our business district now in relation to what it was 10 or 15 years ago, compared with the assessed valuation of the residential area?

"How long will it be before the residents or the homeowners are paying the whole shot as far as taxes go to maintain municipal government?

Still Have Chance

"There is one difference, though, between our village and the villages I saw on the television program. We do have a chance.

"There is something that can be done in our village to put the brakes on and to improve the situation. I realize since I have lived here as long as I have, and talked to so many people as I have, that the homeowners have a tendency to criticize the businessmen and the businessmen have a tendency to criticize the homeowners, but now everybody is involved.

"Community action now is a must. I am sure everyone in the village does not want to see it die, but would rather see it bloom and become a successful place to do business and to live.

"Two special meetings have been held under the direction of the Chamber of Commerce with a certain group of merchants, to discuss a plan of action that could very well be the turning point. An expert in planning was consulted, and he feels that much can be done but that it should cover more area than the original thoughts. We see all around us communities such as Woodstock, Ellenville, Woodridge and others that vary in size from Saugerties from smaller to just a little bit larger, that have been faced with the same situation.

"These communities took action. It is now time that Saugerties takes action. There is an old expression that everyone of us is very familiar with: Fight fire with fire. In other words, to fight the outside shopping centers that are destroying the economic future of our village, we must fight them on their own terms, and it can be done.

Discussion Planned

"Within the very near future, other merchants and owners of buildings in the business area of our village will be invited to discuss the plans with the Chamber. The Chamber, in order to get a job accomplished, needs the support of every citizen in this village.

"I invite anyone who wishes to, to write me a letter expressing his or her views, whether you like or dislike, and any suggestions or criticisms that you have. I respectfully ask that you leave personalities out of the problem, and that you look at the village as an economic unit vital to our way of life."

Lefkowitz Would

pealed to the Legislature to ease the laws.

A Roman Catholic organization opposed any change.

The conflicting views were aired at a public hearing by the Assembly Codes Committee, which is considering several bills to ease the present laws on Sunday closing.

Assemblyman Julius Volker, R-Erie, said after the 2½-hour hearing that the committee would consider introducing a compromise bill.

More than 20 Democratic legislators from New York City testified in favor of easing present laws. They were backed by Jewish groups and Seventh-Day Adventists who observe the Sabbath on Saturday.

The State Council of (Protestant) Churches advocated a change in Sunday laws as a matter of religious freedom.

The only dissent was entered by the New York State Catholic Welfare Committee. It reaffirmed a statement of 10 years standing that "only necessary and essential business or work should be performed on Sundays...We believe that no change is needed or desirable...."

Powers, Wife Alone

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga. (AP)—U2 Pilot Francis Gary Powers and his wife, Barbara, finally had the opportunity to be quietly alone today.

Also prepared for Powers at the home of his wife's mother, Mrs. Monteen Allen, was his favorite menu—roast beef and banana pudding.

While no one was making any formal announcement, it was learned on good authority that Mr. and Mrs. Powers arrived just after midnight from Rome, Ga., where they had a rendezvous Wednesday.

The flier was released last month from a Soviet prison in an exchange for a Soviet spy.

BERLIN (AP)—Despite warnings by Western statesmen, the Soviet Union resumed military flights in one of the Berlin corridors today.

An informed source said there were three Soviet flights in the south corridor, along which commercial airliners fly between Berlin and Frankfurt, Stuttgart and Munich.

There were no incidents and commercial traffic was not hindered, the informant said.

Dr. Compton Is Dead at 69, Work Led to 'A' Bomb

BERKELEY ,Calif. (AP)—Physicist Arthur H. Compton, 69, a clergyman's son whose work led to the atomic bomb and worldwide fame, died today from a cerebral hemorrhage.

Dr. Compton, a Nobel Prize winner and one of this nation's most respected scientists, entered Alta Bates Community Hospital here March 1, suffering dizziness and nausea. He lost consciousness March 3.

He remained in critical condition and unconscious until his death, shortly after 5 a.m.

A former chancellor of Washington University in St. Louis, Dr. Compton arrived here last month as a professor-at-large at the University of California. He had planned a series of seminars at UC campuses throughout the state.

Prison Sit-in Dwindles

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A sit-in strike by most of the 9,700 inmates of the state's five maximum security prisons dwindled almost to a halt today.

The State Correction Department said only 950 prisoners, some of them "leaders and agitators," still were in their cells. Most of those still demonstrating remained behind cell bars from choice, a spokesman said. Prison officials locked in the leaders.

The sit-down began last week to support bills now pending in the Legislature to change parole procedures.

Killed Watching TV

PLYMOUTH, Pa. ap)—A runaway auto crashed through a house at the bottom of a steep hill, killing Harry Suhr, 76, who was watching television in the living room Wednesday night.

Police quoted the driver of the car, John Eley, 70, of Plymouth, as saying the brakes gave way half way down the steep street. Eley suffered a scratched hand.

Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Barbara Jean Krum, who departed this life 3 years ago today, March 15, 1959.

Somewhere back of the sunset
We see a lovely face,
The sweetest smile of one we loved,
And long so to embrace.
The memory of our daughter and sister whom God did call away,
Will live forever in our hearts
Till we meet again some day.

Lenten Series Speaker Named For This Sunday

REV. HAROLD STEPHANZ

Arrested for Disturbing the Peace is the sermon topic chosen by the Rev. Harold J. Stephanz, pastor of the First Baptist Church, for the second in the series of union services for Lent sponsored by the Kingston Area Council of Churches.

The service will be held 7:30 p. m. Sunday at Trinity Lutheran Church, Spring and Hone Streets, the Rev. John H. Frenssen host pastor, will be in charge of the service, and will be assisted by the Rev. C. Pershing Hunter, minister of the St. James Methodist Church.

Mrs. Clarence Beehler Jr., will be in charge of the music program, to be presented by the Trinity Lutheran Church Choir.

Services continue each Sunday evening through April 15 at various member churches of the council.

The Council also is sponsoring a men's communion breakfast Sunday, 7 a. m. at the Old Dutch Church. Speaker will be the Rev. John Oldman Jr., associate field director for the Board of Christian Education of the United Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A.

Ocean Radioactivity

Water in the North Atlantic and North Pacific Oceans now is some 10 times more radioactive than a few years ago, but this increase has not yet affected either ocean south of the Equator.

Scholar

William Rainey Harper, first president of the University of Chicago, graduated from Muskingum College, New Concord, Ohio (home town of astronaut John Glenn) at the age of 15 and received his Ph.D. from Yale when he was only 18.

Look for Malicious Intent

Dad Fears for Future Of Salt-Poisoned Son

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — Life with mental illness — or death? This was the fearful question that haunted the parents of a critically ill, week-old boy today as doctors worked to prevent a seventh death among babies fed a salt-filled formula at Binghamton General Hospital.

Douglass R. Woodford Sr., father of the suffering boy—his first child—says a specialist told him that the baby had suffered brain damage from salt-poisoning.

But the doctor "didn't know how much," Woodford told reporters Wednesday night. The doctor was Dr. Lawrence Finberg of Baltimore, one of several specialists summoned here after the hospital discovered last Sunday that salt had been used in place of sugar in the formula fed to 30 babies.

Six Die in Four Days

Six babies died within four days. The Woodford boy, Douglass Jr., was the only one still considered in danger today.

The father said the hospital had not informed him of the boy's condition until after he had learned it from a newscast. A "very poorly run hospital," Woodford declared.

State and local physicians and investigators continued efforts to determine how salt got in the sugar can in the hospital room where the infants' formula is prepared.

Look for Malicious Intent

Although evidence pointed to a tragic mistake, police probed for any possible malicious intent.

The possibility also remained that an illness other than that from the formula could have figured in the deaths.

The sugar can in the formula room was filled last Tuesday by a practical nurse. She insists she filled it from a larger container labelled sugar.

The babies began to resist feeding and became ill. The first died Friday.

Discovered Sunday

The substitution of salt for sugar was discovered Sunday.

A high concentration of salt can cause heart failure and brain damage. Some of the babies received lethal amounts, a specialist said.

However, the other children who were fed the formula appear to be out of danger, doctors said.

Woodford, a former orderly at Binghamton State Hospital, was bitter about the hospital's refusal to let him see his wife or the baby Sunday afternoon after he learned of the formula mixup. He said:

"The doctors were very good to me but the nurses were very uncooperative. I wouldn't take any of my family there any more. I think it is a very poorly run hospital."

Woodford said he and his wife first learned their baby was in critical condition from a newscast Tuesday. "They should have notified us first," he said.

Woodford, now a self-employed automobile reconditioner, said a nurse refused him admittance to the hospital during Monday morning visiting hours. When he asked why, he said he was told:

"Because, don't you read the newspapers or watch TV?"

The hospital had no immediate comment on Woodford's criticism.

Board's Statement

The hospital board of directors issued this statement yesterday:

"Our distress goes as deep as it can go. It is impossible, of course, for anyone to express the extent of his feelings in such a case, but we will get to the bottom."

After talking to Finberg, Woodford said, he told his wife about the brain damage to their son.

"She agreed that the best thing to do would be to have him baptized," he said.

Their regular minister from the Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd, performed the ceremony.

According to the 1960 census, there were 108.5 million persons of voting age in the United States.

He is now stationed at Camp Pendleton, Calif., pending his assignment to Okinawa. Pfc. Howard formerly played football with the local Yellow Jackets.

JFK Warns

while the over-all problem is being argued back and forth.

Notes Circumstances

In reply to a question, Kennedy increased the number of circumstances under which he might attend a summit conference.

He repeated that he would go to sign a treaty or "if we were on a brink of a war or a serious international crisis, where my presence would make a significant difference."

Then he said he would add a third possibility: "I would go if I thought it was in our national interest."

He reiterated his unwillingness to go "unless there is a situation developed which I believe would make such a trip fruitful and rewarding."

Further Comment

On other matters:

Politics—Kennedy said he would not participate in the campaign of his youngest brother, Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Massachusetts. "Teddy is running, as he stated, on his own," the President said.

Medical Care—Kennedy said his administration will go all-out to put over his program for medical care for the aged. He said definitely it will come to a vote this year in the Senate and he hopes in the House.

Viet Nam—If fighting in Viet Nam raised the constitutional question of sending U.S. troops into combat, Kennedy said, of course he would seek congressional approval.

Storm Insurance — Enormous damage inflicted on the East Coast last week, he said, illustrates the desirability of federal insurance and co-insurance against storm destruction. He promised to study the possibility of recommending an appropriation for that purpose.

Defense Contracts — Kennedy said he really saw no "fuse sufficient to light off" former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, whom a reporter said had charged that Kennedy injected politics into the allocation of defense contracts. Kennedy said these contracts must be placed where they can be efficiently handled.

Dairy Farmers—Kennedy urged the House to override its agriculture committee and maintain dairy price supports at their present level for the remainder of the year.

Financial and Commercial

Javits Claims JFK Reneges on Promise Of N. Y. Contracts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., accused the administration today of disregarding its promise to channel more defense contracts into unemployment areas.

"The experience of New York State...clearly shows that the promises of President Kennedy... are not being fulfilled," Javits said.

To Ask Explanation

He said an analysis prepared by his office revealed a situation in Buffalo, where defense contracts during the last six months of 1961 were 65 per cent below the average for the same six months during 1960, 1959 and 1958.

He said he will ask Secretary of Defense Robert S. Mc Namara to explain this decline.

Javits said his analysis also showed gains in one major unemployment area — Utica-Rome — and four smaller areas — Amsterdam, Elmira, Jamestown-Dunkirk and Newburgh-Middletown-Beacon.

Three smaller areas showed losses — Auburn, Gloversville and Wellsville — and no comparisons were possible on eight other areas, Javits said.

The senator said Kennedy, on Feb. 2, 1961, ordered the Defense Department to channel more contracts to areas of substantial unemployment — those with 6 per cent or more of the total working force unemployed.

Worse Than Ever: Javits

But a year later, Javits added, Buffalo is worse off than ever—"a clear demonstration of the ineffectiveness of the administration's procurement policies."

He said the real decline in Buffalo set in six months after the president's order.

He said defense contracts in the Buffalo area during the last six months of last year totaled $20,653,000, the lowest for that period during the four years included in the analysis. The previous low was $49,543,000 during July-December contract totals in his analysis of contracts for the rest of the state's unemployment areas.

Because they were unemployment areas only part of the time, no comparisons were available for Batavia, Corning - Hornell, Glens Falls - Hudson Falls, Ogdensburg - Massena 3 Malone, Olean - Salamanca, Oneonta, Plattsburgh and Watertown.

Gives Other Figures

He gave these figures for smaller unemployment areas (with October - December, 1961, figures first; the average for October-December in 1958-59-60 second, and the percentage increase or decrease third):

Amsterdam — $1,664,000; $643,000; up 159 per cent.

Auburn — $508,000; $691,000; down 26 per cent.

Elmira — $945,000; $444,000; up 113 per cent.

Gloversville — $218,000; $244,000; down 11 per cent.

Jamestown-Dunkirk — $946,000; $840,000; up 15 per cent.

Newburgh - Middletown - Beacon—$1,798,000; $801,000; up 123 per cent.

Wellsville — $60,000; $111,000; down 46 per cent.

Rusk, Gromyko

ference which opened Wednesday, Rusk also urged top priority for a treaty banning nuclear weapons tests and said that on this issue, "We stand at a turning point."

The United States will resume testing in the atmosphere in late April unless there is a signed agreement with the Soviet Union to block all tests.

Must Cut Tensions

In a reference to the continuing crisis over Berlin, Rusk told the conference that "reduction of tensions must go hand in hand with real progress in disarmament." Without mentioning the Berlin issue specifically, he deplored "the harmful effect which deliberately stimulated crises can have on our work here."

Rusk put before the conference a plan for a start toward disarmament with four points.

1. A 30 per cent cut in rockets, aircraft and other weapons used to deliver nuclear bombs, along with a 30 per cent cut in major conventional armaments, presumably including tanks, warships and the like. In addition, Rusk said that strategic delivery vehicles should be reduced in destructive capability. He said these cutbacks might be carried out in three years with further reductions in later stages of disarmament.

Asks Transfer Pact

2. The United States and the Soviet Union should each agree to transfer 50,000 kilograms (55 tons) of weapons-grade U-235 (explosive uranium) to non-military purposes. This transfer would follow a cut-off of production of nuclear explosive material proposed by the United States in previous disarmament negotiations.

3. Establishment of aerial inspection areas, ground observation posts and a system of notification of missile firings, as well as other measures to reduce "the risk of war by accident, miscalculation, failure of communications, or surprise attack."

4. Launching of an urgent search for methods of inspection and verification of disarmament measures, so that the world can have confidence in any agreements reached.

Hits Shop-Worn Efforts

Referring to the Soviet contention that the Western powers want disarmament inspection to spy on the Soviet Union, Rusk without naming Moscow assailed "shop-worn efforts to equate verification with espionage."

"Our aim," the secretary declared, "is prudent precaution in the interest of the security of us all, and nothing else."

Rusk climaxed his speech with a plea to avoid stalemate at the conference.

"Let us not permit this conference, like its predecessor, to become frozen in deadlock at the start of its deliberations," he said. "Surely it need not do so.

"The obstacles to disarmament agreements—the forces tending to divide us into rival aggregations of power—might at long last begin to yield to the over-riding and shared interest in survival, which alone can unite us for peace."

Reds JFK Letter

Rusk said the specific actions he advocated would fit into a broad-scale, long-range program for complete and worldwide disarmament. The formulation of such a program, he said, is one of the major purposes of the conference here.

He read a letter from President Kennedy, released by the White House Wednesday night, which called on the delegates to attack the disarmament problem boldly and responsibly and to pledge themselves to an unceasing effort to continue until the job is done.

Rusk also renewed several other U.S proposals of earlier years, including a proposal he is expected to emphasize in negotiations here to ban transfer of nuclear weapons to countries that do not have them.

Other proposals which Rusk renewed included a ban on orbiting weapons of mass destruction and a limit of 2.1 million men each on the armed forces of the Soviet Union and the United States.

Dems' Fight Off

nedy or lose favor with the White House.

"I don't think Ted Kennedy knows about this. I think he is too much of a gentleman to carry out this sort of campaign," McCormack said.

There was no comment from the Kennedy camp.

The June convention endorses a party slate for the September primary but candidates who fail to win endorsement may run in the primary. Both Kennedy and McCormack have said they will go all the way to the primary.

My Hands Off: JFK

The President told his news conference in Washington Wednesday, "My brother is carrying this campaign on his own and will conduct it that way."

The President said he will not participate in his brother's campaign except to go to Massachusetts to vote in the September primary. Pierre Salinger, presidential press secretary, said that both wanted it this way.

The other Kennedy brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F., told Washington newsmen he thinks Edward "will make an outstanding candidate."

Would he campaign for his younger brother?

"I'm in a non-political job and I intend to remain in it," the attorney general replied. "I wish him the best of luck and I think he is going to win."

This is Kennedy's first try for elective office. A $1-a-year assistant district attorney in Suffolk County (Boston), he became 30—the eligible age for the Senate—only three weeks ago, on Feb. 22.

McCormack, 38, a U.S. Naval Academy graduate as well as a lawyer, has been in city and state elective offices for a decade. He has said he will hit hard on the point of experience.

Announced candidates for the Republican Senate nomination are George Cabot Lodge, son of the former senator and United Nations ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, and Rep. Laurence Curtis, R-Mass.

The battle is for the remaining two years of the term to which President Kennedy was elected in 1958. Kennedy wrested the seat from Henry Cabot Lodge in 1952.

by dogs to certain animals and it further limits indemnification to the actual damage or a specified maximum sum whichever is less.

It is readily conceded, today, that the cost of replacing animals specified in this Act far exceeds in many instances, the maximum sums set up for recovery. The Wilson amendment will increase that maximum.

Assemblyman Wilson is hopeful that this bill will be approved by the Senate and signed by the governor.

New Legislation Support Is Asked Of AHRC Members

Members of the Ulster County Chapter of the Association for the Help of Retarded Children Inc. at a recent meeting were urged by John Hofler, president, to support the National Association in its proposed legislation pending before the House of Representatives.

The group also was asked to assist Frank A. Adams in his efforts to arrange a premiere showing in Kingston of the movie A Child Is Waiting, which pertains to the problems of mental retardation. Members were asked to address letters in support of the two matters to Kramer Corp., Hollywood, Calif., and to Thomas Murphy, president, of the National Association, 386 Park Avenue South, New York City.

Speakers at the recent session were Henry Paley of the Kingston Consolidated School system and chairman of the work-study program at MJM School, and Arnie Aho, a local buisness man.

Mr. Paley stated that the school prgram could be greatly assisted by the efforts of AHRC. He said employment is needed for the pupils who are trained and ready, and he asked members to notify him at MJM school if they know of any job openings or are able to contact potential employers through personal communication.

The speaker gave a comprehensive picture of his program and what can be reasonably expected in the near future. He stated that any child whether unfortunate enough not to come under the guidance now being given, could be placed in the program or at least assisted to a considerable degree, if a call was made in behalf of the child to the Board of Rehabilitation Services.

The work - study program chairman urged members to align themselves and their program closely with the existing service organization. He said concern lies with the adult clients who might profit by training and to a large degree with the possible terminal workers, who might require a sheltered workshop atmosphere.

Mr. Aho gave an outline of the practical steps that are necessary for a further investigation of the county needs. The feeling of members appeared to be one of solidarity and sympathy with their objectives.

Murray Weiss and Mrs. Marebelle volunteered to serve on a committee to work with Mr. Aho in future planning.

Convertible Preferreds Have Their Drawbacks

Q) "I've been advised that some convertible preferred stocks would be a good investment for a retired person such as myself. Do you go along with this idea?" A. B.

A) Yes, but with a few reservations. Convertible preferreds are hybrids. They have the fixed income characteristic of regular preferreds plus the option to be exchanged for common shares on a predetermined basis. Because of these factors, some convertible preferreds are good holdings for investors who want a low risk, income producting security which stands to benefit extensively from any sustained advance in the common shares to which they are tied.

To many readers, this particular kind of issue will appear to be a way to have your cake and eat it, too. In scattered cases this is true, but I'm afraid it doesn't happen very often. For one thing, there aren't very many convertible preferreds outstanding, and of this number only a few have genuine appeal. Some issues sell at too much of a premium to make them attractive, and some sell so far below the conversion price that the common would have to have a spectacular run up before the exchange feature would be worth anything. Furthermore, all convertible preferreds are not quality securities, despite what their name implies. Some are suitable only for those who can take a sizable amount of risk. In short, selection of a strong convertible preferred can be as hard or harder than the selection of a strong common stock. For conservative accounts, I think such issues as the Northwest Aidlines $1.31 pfd., International Telephone $4 pfd., and Owens-Illinois Glass $4 pfd. offer reasonably good value at present levels.

Q) "Some shares of International Salt have been given to me. I expect to have no need for funds for several years. Should I hold?" V. J.

A) I think you should switch. International Salt, to me, is strictly an income holding. Since this is not where your needs lie, I recommend that you replace this issue with rapidly growing Miles Laboratores (NYSE).

Steel Talks Are To Resume Today

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Steel negotiators return to the bargaining table today to work on new contracts for the nation's 430,000 basic steelworkers.

A brief statement at the end of Wednesday's talks said: "We have resumed our discussions at the request of the President of the United States, and we will resume tomorrow morning."

The statement, made by David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers Union, was also made in the behalf of R. Conrad Cooper, top industry negotiator.

Talks collapsed on March 2 with both sides reported far from agreement. They were resumed Wednesday in response to prodding by President Kennedy.

George Washington won the bare knuckles boxing championship of the Colony of Virginia in 1748.

tention on the Primary and Major Gifts Divisions, the other two groups now in the soliciting stage.

Other Reports

John Egbert, chairman of the Primary Gifts group, reported to the campaign cabinet last night that his group to date has raised a total of $94,000. "Our workers have made most of their initial calls," Mr. Egbert told the Cabinet, " and now we are awaiting board decisions from various corporations.

At the same time John H. Haulenbeek, chairman of the Major Gifts group, told the group that scattered returns from his committee revealed around $8,000 had been subscribed in less than a week's time. "I am confident this group will meet its goal of $100,000 within the next three or four weeks," he said.

The Fourth and final phase of the campaign—a county wide effort—is now in the organizational stage and will kickoff in several towns the first week in April.

Dad Fears for Future Of Salt-Poisoned Son

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — Life with mental illness — or death? This was the fearful question that haunted the parents of a critically ill, week-old boy today as doctors worked to prevent a seventh death among babies fed a salt-filled formula at Binghamton General Hospital.

Douglass R. Woodford Sr., father of the suffering boy—his first child—says a specialist told him that the baby had suffered brain damage from salt-poisoning.

But the doctor "didn't know how much," Woodford told reporters Wednesday night. The doctor was Dr. Lawrence Finberg of Baltimore, one of several specialists summoned here after the hospital discovered last Sunday that salt had been used in place of sugar in the formula fed to 30 babies.

Six Die in Four Days

Six babies died within four days. The Woodford boy, Douglass Jr., was the only one still considered in danger today.

The father said the hospital had not informed him of the boy's condition until after he had learned it from a newscast. A "very poorly run hospital," Woodford declared.

State and local physicians and investigators continued efforts to determine how salt got in the sugar can in the hospital room where the infants' formula is prepared.

Look for Malicious Intent

Although evidence pointed to a tragic mistake, police probed for any possible malicious intent.

The possibility also remained that an illness other than that from the formula could have figured in the deaths.

The sugar can in the formula room was filled last Tuesday by a practical nurse. She insists she filled it from a larger container labelled sugar.

The babies began to resist feeding and became ill. The first died Friday.

Discovered Sunday

The substitution of salt for sugar was discovered Sunday.

A high concentration of salt can cause heart failure and brain damage. Some of the babies received lethal amounts, a specialist said.

However, the other children who were fed the formula appear to be out of danger, doctors said.

Woodford, a former orderly at Binghamton State Hospital, was bitter about the hospital's refusal to let him see his wife or the baby Sunday afternoon after he learned of the formula mixup. He said:

"The doctors were very good to me but the nurses were very uncooperative. I wouldn't take any of my family there any more. I think it is a very poorly run hospital."

Woodford said he and his wife first learned their baby was in critical condition from a newscast Tuesday. "They should have notified us first," he said.

Woodford, now a self-employed automobile reconditioner, said a nurse refused him admittance to the hospital during Monday morning visiting hours. When he asked why, he said he was told:

"Because, don't you read the newspapers or watch TV?"

The hospital had no immediate comment on Woodford's criticism.

Board's Statement

The hospital board of directors issued this statement yesterday:

"Our distress goes as deep as it can go. It is impossible, of course, for anyone to express the extent of his feelings in such a case, but we will get to the bottom."

After talking to Finberg, Woodford said, he told his wife about the brain damage to their son.

"She agreed that the best thing to do would be to have him baptized," he said.

Their regular minister from the Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd, performed the ceremony.

According to the 1960 census, there were 108.5 million persons of voting age in the United States.

JFK Warns

while the over-all problem is being argued back and forth.

Notes Circumstances

In reply to a question, Kennedy increased the number of circumstances under which he might attend a summit conference.

He repeated that he would go to sign a treaty or "if we were on a brink of a war or a serious international crisis, where my presence would make a significant difference."

Then he said he would add a third possibility: "I would go if I thought it was in our national interest."

He reiterated his unwillingness to go "unless there is a situation developed which I believe would make such a trip fruitful and rewarding."

Further Comment

On other matters:

Politics—Kennedy said he would not participate in the campaign of his youngest brother, Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Massachusetts. "Teddy is running, as he stated, on his own," the President said.

Medical Care—Kennedy said his administration will go all-out to put over his program for medical care for the aged. He said definitely it will come to a vote this year in the Senate and he hopes in the House.

Viet Nam—If fighting in Viet Nam raised the constitutional question of sending U.S. troops into combat, Kennedy said, of course he would seek congressional approval.

Storm Insurance — Enormous damage inflicted on the East Coast last week, he said, illustrates the desirability of federal insurance and co-insurance against storm destruction. He promised to study the possibility of recommending an appropriation for that purpose.

Defense Contracts — Kennedy said he really saw no "fuse sufficient to light off" former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, whom a reporter said had charged that Kennedy injected politics into the allocation of defense contracts. Kennedy said these contracts must be placed where they can be efficiently handled.

Dairy Farmers—Kennedy urged the House to override its agriculture committee and maintain dairy price supports at their present level for the remainder of the year.

Javits Claims JFK Reneges on Promise Of N. Y. Contracts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., accused the administration today of disregarding its promise to channel more defense contracts into unemployment areas.

"The experience of New York State...clearly shows that the promises of President Kennedy... are not being fulfilled," Javits said.

To Ask Explanation

He said an analysis prepared by his office revealed a situation in Buffalo, where defense contracts during the last six months of 1961 were 65 per cent below the average for the same six months during 1960, 1959 and 1958.

He said he will ask Secretary of Defense Robert S. Mc Namara to explain this decline.

Javits said his analysis also showed gains in one major unemployment area — Utica-Rome — and four smaller areas — Amsterdam, Elmira, Jamestown-Dunkirk and Newburgh-Middletown-Beacon.

Three smaller areas showed losses — Auburn, Gloversville and Wellsville — and no comparisons were possible on eight other areas, Javits said.

The senator said Kennedy, on Feb. 2, 1961, ordered the Defense Department to channel more contracts to areas of substantial unemployment — those with 6 per cent or more of the total working force unemployed.

Worse Than Ever: Javits

But a year later, Javits added, Buffalo is worse off than ever—"a clear demonstration of the ineffectiveness of the administration's procurement policies."

He said the real decline in Buffalo set in six months after the president's order.

He said defense contracts in the Buffalo area during the last six months of last year totaled $20,653,000, the lowest for that period during the four years included in the analysis. The previous low was $49,543,000 during July-December contract totals in his analysis of contracts for the rest of the state's unemployment areas.

Because they were unemployment areas only part of the time, no comparisons were available for Batavia, Corning - Hornell, Glens Falls - Hudson Falls, Ogdensburg - Massena 3 Malone, Olean - Salamanca, Oneonta, Plattsburgh and Watertown.

Gives Other Figures

He gave these figures for smaller unemployment areas (with October - December, 1961, figures first; the average for October-December in 1958-59-60 second, and the percentage increase or decrease third):

Amsterdam — $1,664,000; $643,000; up 159 per cent.

Auburn — $508,000; $691,000; down 26 per cent.

Elmira — $945,000; $444,000; up 113 per cent.

Gloversville — $218,000; $244,000; down 11 per cent.

Jamestown-Dunkirk — $946,000; $840,000; up 15 per cent.

Newburgh - Middletown - Beacon—$1,798,000; $801,000; up 123 per cent.

Asks Transfer Pact

2. The United States and the Soviet Union should each agree to transfer 50,000 kilograms (55 tons) of weapons-grade U-235 (explosive uranium) to non-military purposes. This transfer would follow a cut-off of production of nuclear explosive material proposed by the United States in previous disarmament negotiations.

3. Establishment of aerial inspection areas, ground observation posts and a system of notification of missile firings, as well as other measures to reduce "the risk of war by accident, miscalculation, failure of communications, or surprise attack."

4. Launching of an urgent search for methods of inspection and verification of disarmament measures, so that the world can have confidence in any agreements reached.

Hits Shop-Worn Efforts

Referring to the Soviet contention that the Western powers want disarmament inspection to spy on the Soviet Union, Rusk without naming Moscow assailed "shop-worn efforts to equate verification with espionage."

"Our aim," the secretary declared, "is prudent precaution in the interest of the security of us all, and nothing else."

Rusk climaxed his speech with a plea to avoid stalemate at the conference.

"Let us not permit this conference, like its predecessor, to become frozen in deadlock at the start of its deliberations," he said. "Surely it need not do so.

"The obstacles to disarmament agreements—the forces tending to divide us into rival aggregations of power—must at long last begin to yield to the over-riding and shared interest in survival, which alone can unite us for peace."

Reds JFK Letter

Rusk said the specific actions he advocated would fit into a broad-scale, long-range program for complete and worldwide disarmament. The formulation of such a program, he said, is one of the major purposes of the conference here.

He read a letter from President Kennedy, released by the White House Wednesday night, which called on the delegates to attack the disarmament problem boldly and responsibly and to pledge themselves to an unceasing effort to continue until the job is done.

Rusk also renewed several other U.S proposals of earlier years, including a proposal he is expected to emphasize in negotiations here to ban transfer of nuclear weapons to countries that do not have them.

Other proposals which Rusk renewed included a ban on orbiting weapons of mass destruction and a limit of 2.1 million men each on the armed forces of the Soviet Union and the United States.

Dems' Fight Off

nedy or lose favor with the White House.

"I don't think Ted Kennedy knows about this. I think he is too much of a gentleman to carry out this sort of campaign," McCormack said.

There was no comment from the Kennedy camp.

The June convention endorses a party slate for the September primary but candidates who fail to win endorsement may run in the primary. Both Kennedy and McCormack have said they will go all the way to the primary.

My Hands Off: JFK

The President told his news conference in Washington Wednesday, "My brother is carrying this campaign on his own and will conduct it that way."

The President said he will not participate in his brother's campaign except to go to Massachusetts to vote in the September primary. Pierre Salinger, presidential press secretary, said that both wanted it this way.

The other Kennedy brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F., told Washington newsmen he thinks Edward "will make an outstanding candidate."

Would he campaign for his younger brother?

"I'm in a non-political job and I intend to remain in it," the attorney general replied. "I wish him the best of luck and I think he is going to win."

This is Kennedy's first try for elective office. A $1-a-year assistant district attorney in Suffolk County (Boston), he became 30—the eligible age for the Senate—only three weeks ago, on Feb. 22.

McCormack, 38, a U.S. Naval Academy graduate as well as a lawyer, has been in city and state elective offices for a decade. He has said he will hit hard on the point of experience.

Announced candidates for the Republican Senate nomination are George Cabot Lodge, son of the former senator and United Nations ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, and Rep. Laurence Curtis, R-Mass.

The battle is for the remaining two years of the term to which President Kennedy was elected in 1958. Kennedy wrested the seat from Henry Cabot Lodge in 1952.

It is readily conceded, today, that the cost of replacing animals specified in this Act far exceeds in many instances, the maximum sums set up for recovery. The Wilson amendment will increase that maximum.

Assemblyman Wilson is hopeful that this bill will be approved by the Senate and signed by the governor.

New Legislation Support Is Asked OfAHRCMembers

Members of the Ulster County Chapter of the Association for the Help of Retarded Children Inc. at a recent meeting were urged by John Hofler, president, to support the National Association in its proposed legislation pending before the House of Representatives.

The group also was asked to assist Frank A. Adams in his efforts to arrange a premiere showing in Kingston of the movie A Child Is Waiting, which pertains to the problems of mental retardation. Members were asked to address letters in support of the two matters to Kramer Corp., Hollywood, Calif., and to Thomas Murphy, president, of the National Association, 386 Park Avenue South, New York City.

Speakers at the recent session were Henry Paley of the Kingston Consolidated School system and chairman of the work-study program at MJM School, and Arnie Aho, a local buisness man.

Mr. Paley stated that the school prgram could be greatly assisted by the efforts of AHRC. He said employment is needed for the pupils who are trained and ready, and he asked members to notify him at MJM school if they know of any job openings or are able to contact potential employers through personal communication.

The speaker gave a comprehensive picture of his program and what can be reasonably expected in the near future. He stated that any child whether unfortunate enough not to come under the guidance now being given, could be placed in the program or at least assisted to a considerable degree, if a call was made in behalf of the child to the Board of Rehabilitation Services.

The work - study program chairman urged members to align themselves and their program closely with the existing service organization. He said concern lies with the adult clients who might profit by training and to a large degree with the possible terminal workers, who might require a sheltered workshop atmosphere.

Mr. Aho gave an outline of the practical steps that are necessary for a further investigation of the county needs. The feeling of members appeared to be one of solidarity and sympathy with their objectives.

Murray Weiss and Mrs. Marebelle volunteered to serve on a committee to work with Mr. Aho in future planning.

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "I've been advised that some convertible preferred stocks would be a good investment for a retired person such as myself. Do you go along with this idea?" A. B.

A) Yes, but with a few reservations. Convertible preferreds are hybrids. They have the fixed income characteristic of regular preferreds plus the option to be exchanged for common shares on a predetermined basis. Because of these factors, some convertible preferreds are good holdings for investors who want a low risk, income producting security which stands to benefit extensively from any sustained advance in the common shares to which they are tied.

To many readers, this particular kind of issue will appear to be a way to have your cake and eat it, too. In scattered cases this is true, but I'm afraid it doesn't happen very often. For one thing, there aren't very many convertible preferreds outstanding, and of this number only a few have genuine appeal. Some issues sell at too much of a premium to make them attractive, and some sell so far below the conversion price that the common would have to have a spectacular run up before the exchange feature would be worth anything. Furthermore, all convertible preferreds are not quality securities, despite what their name implies. Some are suitable only for those who can take a sizable amount of risk. In short, selection of a strong convertible preferred can be as hard or harder than the selection of a strong common stock. For conservative accounts, I think such issues as the Northwest Aidlines $1.31 pfd., International Telephone $4 pfd., and Owens-Illinois Glass $4 pfd. offer reasonably good value at present levels.

Q) "Some shares of International Salt have been given to me. I expect to have no need for funds for several years. Should I hold?" V. J.

A) I think you should switch. International Salt, to me, is strictly an income holding. Since this is not where your needs lie, I recommend that you replace this issue with rapidly growing Miles Laboratores (NYSE).

Steel Talks Are To Resume Today

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Steel negotiators return to the bargaining table today to work on new contracts for the nation's 430,000 basic steelworkers.

A brief statement at the end of Wednesday's talks said: "We have resumed our discussions at the request of the President of the United States, and we will resume tomorrow morning."

The statement, made by David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers Union, was also made in the behalf of R. Conrad Cooper, top industry negotiator.

Talks collapsed on March 2 with both sides reported far from agreement. They were resumed Wednesday in response to prodding by President Kennedy.

George Washington won the bare knuckles boxing championship of the Colony of Virginia in 1748.

tention on the Primary and Major Gifts Divisions, the other two groups now in the soliciting stage.

Other Reports

John Egbert, chairman of the Primary Gifts group, reported to the campaign cabinet last night that his group to date has raised a total of $94,000. "Our workers have made most of their initial calls," Mr. Egbert told the Cabinet, " and now we are awaiting board decisions from various corporations.

At the same time John H. Haulenbeek, chairman of the Major Gifts group, told the group that scattered returns from his committee revealed around $8,000 had been subscribed in less than a week's time. "I am confident this group will meet its goal of $100,000 within the next three or four weeks," he said.

The Fourth and final phase of the campaign—a county wide effort—is now in the organizational stage and will kickoff in several towns the first week in April.

Will Build Two Forestry Camps to Care for 60 Boys

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller said today two forestry camps, one in Tompkins County and the other in Delaware County, would be built, each to care for 60 boys 15 to 17 years old.

A rehabilitation camp, which accepts boy referred by children's and county courts, will be located near Caroline Center in Tompkins County.

A camp for boys referred by authorized social agencies will be built near Masonville in Delaware County.

Each will be operated by the State Division for Youth and the Conservation Department.

The camps, each costing approximately $550,000, will begin operation next January, Rockefeller said.

Inmates of the camps will work on state forest lands and receive vocational training, remedial instruction and counseling.

Governor Will Meet Again on Saving RR

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. F. Ray Keyser of Vermont, who is seeking to save at least part of the strike-bound Rutland Railway, was ready for another meeting today with the road's president.

Keyser, after two meetings at Rutland, Vt., Wednesday, with railroad head William I. Ginsberg, told newsmen:

"The only thing we can say at this time is that we have met and we are working."

Ginsberg has petitioned the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to abandon the entire railroad, which was struck several months ago.

Keyser said Vermont would oppose the abandonment. He said he was working on a plan to prevent abandonment of at least part of the railroad's trackage. He declined to reveal the plan.

Two Holsteins Top 150,000 Lbs. of Milk

BRATTLEBORO, Vt.—The career production of two registered Holstein cows in New York recently topped 150,000 pounds of milk in the official testing programs of The Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Elkendale Elco Abby 3225453 (VG) owned by Kenneth A. Patchen of Locke, now has a lifetime record of 159,166 pounds of milk and 5,768 pounds of butterfat. Her production to date averages out more than 45 pounds of milk for every day since she reached two years of age—including days dry.

High Meadow Farm Butterfly 2812649 (GP) owned by Howard L. Page at New Berlin has 159,043 pounds of milk and 6,556 pounds of butterfat to her credit. Her production to date averages out at nearly 35 pounds of milk for every day since she reached two years of age—including days dry.

To date nearly 1,500 officially registered Holsteins have topped the 150,000 pound mark—approximately six times the lifetime output of the average U. S. dairy cow.

Troop 11 Holds Annual Charter Night Program

Boy Scouts of Troop 11 held their annual charter night supper and a Court of Honor at St. James Methodist Church Tuesday evening, March 13, with approximately 90 parents and members in attendance.

Members of the Mothers Club under chairmanship of Mrs. William Clark were in charge of the covered dish supper served at 6:30 p. m. The invocation was offered by Rev. C. Pershing Hunter, pastor of the church.

The charter for the coming year was presented to the Rev. Mr. Hunter by Harold Harrison, Rip Van Winkle Council representative. Lewis L. Gillett, troop committee chairman, introduced the two new assistant Scoutmasters, William Neiffer and Robert Weeks and anounced that Harold Tiegland has consented to be the new Scoutmaster.

Harold Harrison showed slides of Camp Tri-Mount and the Court of Honor was presided over by William Neiffer. Those receiving awards were:

Douglas Jacobson who received his Star Scout award and merit badges for swimming, rowing and first aid; Donald Gillett received his Senior Patrol Leader's pin and merit badge for citizenship in the home and Philip Roeber received his Second Class Scout award.

Those receiving Tenderfoot rank were: Richard McCarthy, Kenneth Woolsey, Timothy Schiff, Douglas Craddock, Fred Seeger, John Rosebrook Jr., Howard Mezer and Howard Halpern.

Area 4-H Group Conducts Event To Show Skills

Sixty-seven area 4-H Club youths demonstrated their skill in foods, clothing, home management, crafts and agriculture during the Ulster County 4-H Club Demonstration Day held recently at the Kingston Vocational Building.

Miss Mary Lou Rice, assistant county 4-H club agent, and Carlton Conklin, county 4-H club agent, were in charge.

The demonstration program commenced at 8:30 a. m. with the following acting as judges: Mrs. Daniel Barnhart, Stone Ridge; Mrs. J. Sanford Cross, Kyserike; H. Cornish, Central Hudson; Mrs. Fred DuBois Jr., New Paltz; Mrs. Gerald DuBois, New Paltz; Mrs. John Gaffney, Highland; Robert Guzewich, associate agricultural agent; Miss Peg Hornung, Ellenville; Miss Louise Kakargo, assistant home demonstration agent; Mrs. Lewis Short, Kingston; Miss Joy Shaw, Dairy Council; Mrs. Jean Zegel, Stone Ridge and Mrs. Robert Weiss, Saugerties.

In the homemaking demonstrations, two girls in the 14 years of age and over excellent award group were chosen to participate in the District Demonstration Day to be held at Pine Bush, on Saturday, April 7. These girls will compete with Sullivan and Orange County members for State Fair participation. They are Genevieve Switz, 15, Lomontville, who is demonstrating Apple Pie and Estelle Cleveland, 16, Wallkill, who is demonstrating How to Set-In a Sleeve.

The Agricultural District Demonstration Day, which is a 6-county event, will be held at 74 John Street, Kingston, on Wednesday, April 5. The young people selected to demonstrate at this event are: Carol Andersen, 18, High Falls; Making Vases; Daisy Beal, 16, South Flatbush, Pro's and Con's of Fluoridation; Douglas McCord, 12, Wallkill, Calf Box; John McCormack, 15, St. Remy, Fun and Facts With Fuses and Wires; Charlene Meyer, 15, St. Remy, How to Plant a Tree.

Following a lunch for the judges provided by Mrs. Richard Pagel and Mrs. Charles McGuffey, Accord and Mrs. Karlton Bowers, Lomontville, the group retired to the M. J. M. auditorium for the afternoon program which included a skit by the 4-H Council, and awards and notices given by Miss Rice and Mr. Conklin. Miss Sharon Quick, Kerhonkson accompanied the group on the piano for the singing of some 4-H songs.

Demonstrations are an important part of the 4-H Club educational program. Each member participating showed what he or she has learned in a current 4-H Club project. According to the decision of the judges, all receive a certificate with a blue, red or white sticker, placing where the member qualifies according to "excellent" standards. Demonstrations not only teach skills, but also help members to develop poise and self-confidence when speaking in front of people, and set standards for Making the Best Better.

It's a good idea to get things off your chest—especially if it's your own chin.

The charter for the coming year was presented to the Rev. Mr. Hunter by Harold Harrison, Rip Van Winkle Council representative. Lewis L. Gillett, troop committee chairman, introduced the two new assistant Scoutmasters, William Neiffer and Robert Weeks and anounced that Harold Tiegland has consented to be the new Scoutmaster.

Harold Harrison showed slides of Camp Tri-Mount and the Court of Honor was presided over by William Neiffer. Those receiving awards were:

Douglas Jacobson who received his Star Scout award and merit badges for swimming, rowing and first aid; Donald Gillett received his Senior Patrol Leader's pin and merit badge for citizenship in the home and Philip Roeber received his Second Class Scout award.

Those receiving Tenderfoot rank were: Richard McCarthy, Kenneth Woolsey, Timothy Schiff, Douglas Craddock, Fred Seeger, John Rosebrook Jr., Howard Mezer and Howard Halpern.

4-H Club News

Area 4-H Group Conducts Event To Show Skills

Sixty-seven area 4-H Club youths demonstrated their skill in foods, clothing, home management, crafts and agriculture during the Ulster County 4-H Club Demonstration Day held recently at the Kingston Vocational Building.

Miss Mary Lou Rice, assistant county 4-H club agent, and Carlton Conklin, county 4-H club agent, were in charge.

The demonstration program commenced at 8:30 a. m. with the following acting as judges: Mrs. Daniel Barnhart, Stone Ridge; Mrs. J. Sanford Cross, Kyserike; H. Cornish, Central Hudson; Mrs. Fred DuBois Jr., New Paltz; Mrs. Gerald DuBois, New Paltz; Mrs. John Gaffney, Highland; Robert Guzewich, associate agricultural agent; Miss Peg Hornung, Ellenville; Miss Louise Kakargo, assistant home demonstration agent; Mrs. Lewis Short, Kingston; Miss Joy Shaw, Dairy Council; Mrs. Jean Zegel, Stone Ridge and Mrs. Robert Weiss, Saugerties.

In the homemaking demonstrations, two girls in the 14 years of age and over excellent award group were chosen to participate in the District Demonstration Day to be held at Pine Bush, on Saturday, April 7. These girls will compete with Sullivan and Orange County members for State Fair participation. They are Genevieve Switz, 15, Lomontville, who is demonstrating Apple Pie and Estelle Cleveland, 16, Wallkill, who is demonstrating How to Set-In a Sleeve.

The Agricultural District Demonstration Day, which is a 6-county event, will be held at 74 John Street, Kingston, on Wednesday, April 5. The young people selected to demonstrate at this event are: Carol Andersen, 18, High Falls; Making Vases; Daisy Beal, 16, South Flatbush, Pro's and Con's of Fluoridation; Douglas McCord, 12, Wallkill, Calf Box; John McCormack, 15, St. Remy, Fun and Facts With Fuses and Wires; Charlene Meyer, 15, St. Remy, How to Plant a Tree.

Following a lunch for the judges provided by Mrs. Richard Pagel and Mrs. Charles McGuffey, Accord and Mrs. Karlton Bowers, Lomontville, the group retired to the M. J. M. auditorium for the afternoon program which included a skit by the 4-H Council, and awards and notices given by Miss Rice and Mr. Conklin. Miss Sharon Quick, Kerhonkson accompanied the group on the piano for the singing of some 4-H songs.

Demonstrations are an important part of the 4-H Club educational program. Each member participating showed what he or she has learned in a current 4-H Club project. According to the decision of the judges, all receive a certificate with a blue, red or white sticker, placing where the member qualifies according to "excellent" standards. Demonstrations not only teach skills, but also help members to develop poise and self-confidence when speaking in front of people, and set standards for Making the Best Better.

It's a good idea to get things off your chest—especially if it's your own chin.

Vehicle Bureau Lists Violations

Action against several area drivers was announced today by the Department of Motor Vehicles in a list of driver license and motor vehicle registration revocations and suspensions.

Richard Vandemark, RD, Accord, license revoked for conviction of violation of Section 319 or 931, driving without insurance, effective Feb. 19.

Robert J. Decker, 36 Mountain View Avenue, Hurley, license suspended for speeding conviction, 90 days from Jan. 1.

Junior operator licenses suspended included:

William J. Senkowicz, 243 Hasbrouck Avenue, misuse of junior license, 60 days ,effective, Feb. 20; William F. Cole, 134 Bruyn Avenue, speeding, 30 days, Feb. 7; John W. Ellis, 192 Sunset Drive, Port Ewen, speeding, Feb. 21; Alan L. Tompkins, RD 5, Box 5, Saugerties ,misuse of junior license, 90 days, Feb. 21; Richard R. Hummer, 19 Otis Street, speeding, 90 days, Feb. 21 and Douglas J. Posner, Miller's Lane, speeding, 90 days from Jan. 17.

Grated Parmesan cheese is, of course, a goalong with spaghetti and tomato sauce. But try it sometimes in a tossed green salad or to give zest to a white sauce.

When James A. Garfield was President of Oberlin College, a man brought for entrance as a student his son, for whom he wished a shorter course than the regular one.

HOW DID MONTANA GET ITS NAME?

In 1858 several miners laid out a town in the Pike's Peak area of Colorado and named it Montana. This town never materialized, but apparently its name was not entirely forgotten in the region. Montana is Spanish for "mountain" and is derived from the feminine singular or neuter plural of Latin montanus, "pertaining to a mountain."

"Father, would you please give Steve's car a push? He drained his battery honking for me!"

Father—The boy can never take all that in. He wants to get through quicker. Can you arrange it for him?

Mr. Garfield—Oh, yes. He can take a short course; it all depends on what you want to make of him. When God wants to make an oak He takes a hundred years, but He takes only two months to make a squash.

HOW DID MONTANA GET ITS NAME?

In 1858 several miners laid out a town in the Pike's Peak area of Colorado and named it Montana. This town never materialized, but apparently its name was not entirely forgotten in the region. Montana is Spanish for "mountain" and is derived from the feminine singular or neuter plural of Latin montanus, "pertaining to a mountain."

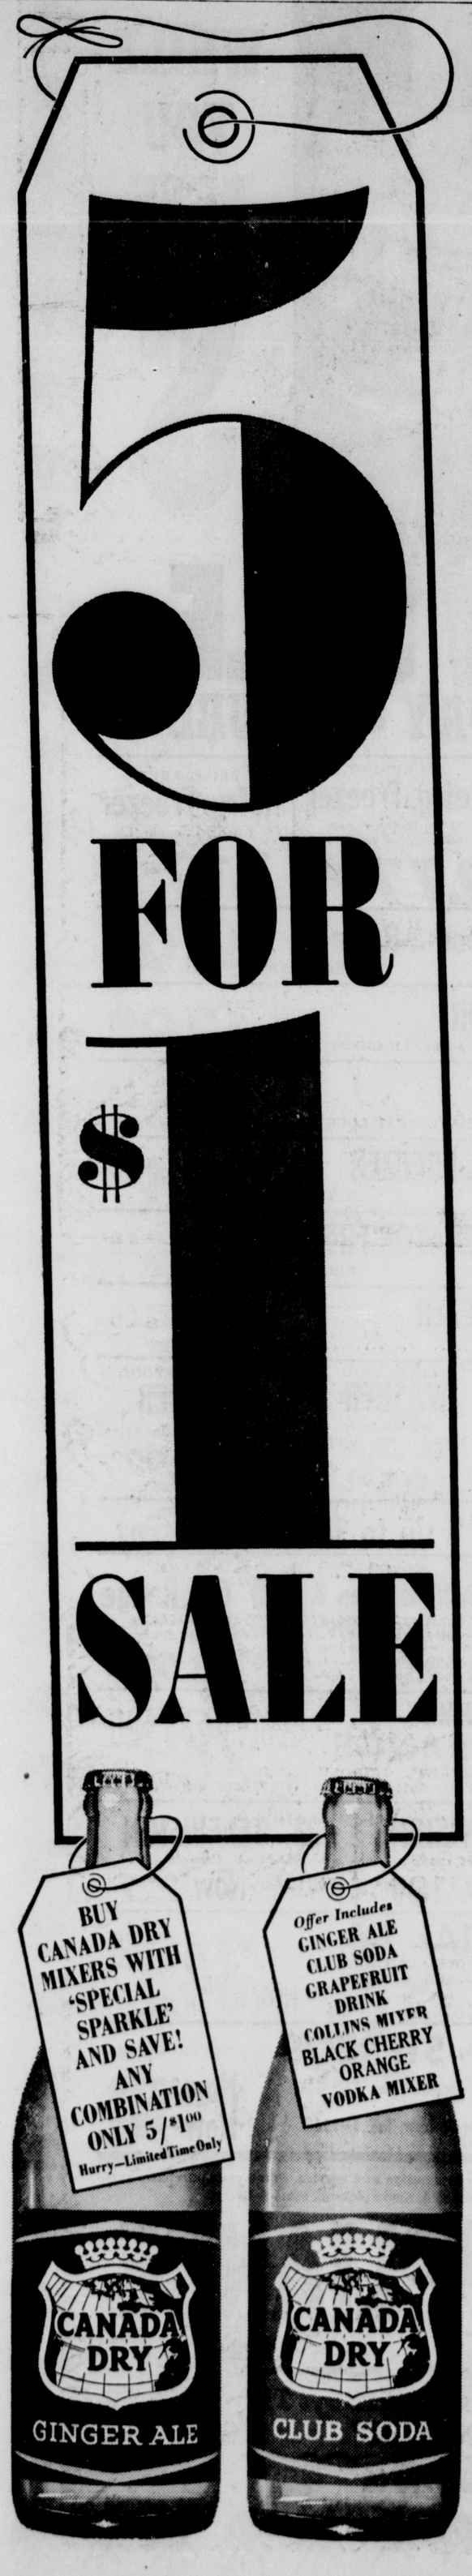
Astor's Activities

The early years of John Jacob Astor, American merchant and financier, were spent in hardship and privation. He first became successful as a fur dealer in 1786, added pianos and became the first New York regular dealer in musical instruments. Bulk of his fortune came from investments, mainly in real estate.



Esopus Legion Plans Birthday Party Saturday

Final plans were completed at the regular meeting of the Town of Esopus Post 1298 American Legion for the post's participation in the 43rd anniversary of the founding of the Legion.

Co-chairmen John Amerello and Richard Williams gave details of the post's 18th consecutive birthday party to be held at the Capri Restaurant, Port Ewen, Saturday. Well over 100 Legionnaires and guests will attend the roast beef dinner which starts promptly at 7 p. m.

Bruce Davis reported on the progress of the parent training course being conducted by the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, toward the formation of an explorer troop in the township. Four meetings have been held and application for the charter will be made in the near future. All boys between the ages of 14 and 18 who wish to join the unit should contact a committee member for an application form. The troop will have boating as a specialty.

Troop Forms Available

Members of the committee who have application forms are Charles Montifia, Basil Potter, Roger Mabie, Harry Tholin, Chester Barth, Irving Maurer and Davis. The troop will be sponsored by Esopus Post.

Past Commander Herbert Nestell said that the civil defense radioactive monitoring equipment has been received by the post and is ready for operation.

Little League President Rodney Whittaker announced that registration will be held Saturday, March 31, with tryouts to follow April 7, weather permitting. Whittaker also announced that five two-man umpire teams are in the process of formation and that the lease on the new playing field had been signed through the kindness of Harry Elmendorf.

Commander Kenneth Bonville called attention to the national organization's plan to ring all bells for five minutes on April 19, Patriot's Day. This is part of the Legion's dramatization of American unity and love of liberty. Bell ringing will start 1 p. m.

The meeting was adjourned in memory of recently departed comrades, Henry Neher and William Mills.

Equalization List Shows Decreases For Two Villages

Tentative state equalization rates announced today show decreases for New Paltz and Ellenville Villages, according to the State Board of Equalization and Assessment.

Ellenville's new tentative rate of 52 is a decrease of four point under last year's figure. New Paltz with 25 shows a drop of one point.

Proposed rates in 66 of 81 villeges reported are less than last year's rates, while rates in 10 are higher than last year.

Hearings on the rates will be conducted by the Equalization Board at 10 a. m. Tuesday, March 20 at the board's offices, 155 Washington Avenue, Albany.

Tentative rates have been established on the basis of the average of real property price levels in these localities on January 1, 1957 and January 1, 1959. This is a change from the basis used in establishing the rates for 1960 assessment rolls. The basis used at that time was the average of 1952 and 1957 price level data with triple weight given to the 1957 market level.

The rates are the ratio between the assessed value of local real property and its actual or full value as determined by the state and are used in equalizing the assessment of county charges and for school tax purposes.

When market values rise in a community but assessments do not, the rates drop. Lower rates usually mean an increased share of school taxes if more than one until of government are in the same school district.

Group Discussion To Be Feature of Church Conclave

A buzz session will be one of the features of the Sunday school conference being held this week in Kingston, sponsored by the Hudson Valley Evangelical Ministerial Association.

The topic Does the Sunday School Meet the Needs of the Teenager? will be the theme for a buzz session. The entire congregation will participate.

Public Works Men Told to Watch For Fossil Signs

ALPANY—In the interests of scientific study, the New York State Department of Public Works will cooperate fully with the state's fossil specialists whenever archeological and paleontological "finds" are made on highway construction projects.

The department's chief engineer, Robert W. Sweet, this week instructed the 10 district engineers to alert contractors to the possibility of fossil remains being excavated during highway construction.

Contractors or engineers who become aware of such fossils are to get in touch with paleontologists or anthropologists through the New York State Museum and Science Service.

"These objects are most likely to be found in muck or peat, blue or gray clay or marl," Sweet advised the district engineers. "When possible fossils are discovered it is important, where at all practicable, not to disturb the site further, at least until scientists of the State Museum and Science Service have had an opportunity to examine it for valuable scientific data. A great real of valuable information can be acquired from observing such a find in place."

Mrs. Rockefeller Expected to Ask For Divorce Soon

RENO, Nev. (AP)—The wife of Nelson A. Rockefeller, New York governor and possible Republican aspirant to the presidency, is expected to ask for divorce in a Nevada court today or Friday.

Mrs. Rockefeller, the former Mary Todhunter Clark of Philadelphia, completed Nevada's required six weeks residence and could file her divorce action today.

But her attorney insisted she would not file before Friday.

Mrs. Rockefeller came quietly to Nevada on Feb. 1 and settled into a routine of riding and hiking at a modest $13 a day guest ranch in the Sierra foothills west of Reno.

She confirmed the next day that she had come to Nevada to divorce her wealthy husband. Their separation had been announced several months before.

No contest of the divorce action is expected. Under normal procedure, the decree would be issued within minutes after the complaint is filed.

21 Solons Pass Up Tries for New Pa. Terms

HARRISBURG (AP)—One congressman, four state senators and 16 assemblymen have passed up tries for new terms, unofficial records from the State Elections Bureau showed today.

Two other congressmen, one state senator and three House members are seeking other office.

The Elections Bureau, criticized by Gov. Lawrence for not completing its monumental task sooner, finally concluded Wednesday checking and sorting the petitions from the 1,199 persons seeking nomination at the May 15 primary to run for various offices or election to their party's state committee.

Ten congressmen have opposition in their own primary. Twelve of the 20 senators seeking nomination for another term presently are faced with a primary contest.

Rep. Kathryn E. Granahan of Philadelphia, a Democrat and the only woman in Congress from Pennsylvania, stepped aside when the new congressional map for Pennsylvania eliminated one of the city's six districts.

The two congressmen seeking other office are Republicans William W. Scranton of Dalton, Lackawanna County, and James E. Van Zandt of Altoona.

They were endorsed by GOP leaders a week ago to run for governor and the U.S. Senate, respectively.

State Sen. Raymond P. Shafer of Meadville is seeking the lieutenant governor nomination on the GOP ticket while House Majority Leader Stephen McCann is seeking the same office on the Democratic ticket.

Incumbent senators who have retired on their own volition are Democrat Hugh J. McMenamin of Scranton and Republicans Charles R. Mallery of Hollidaysburg, Leroy E. Chapman of Warren and George B. Stevenson.

President's Mother Continues to Improve

BOSTON (AP)—Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, mother of the President, continued to show satisfactory progress today in recovery from a pelvic hernia operation performed Tuesday at St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

The hospital said Mrs. Kennedy, 71 wife of the former ambassador to Great Britain, is doing very well.

Dr. Roy J. Heffernan, who performed the operation, said she probably will be able to leave the hospital in seven or eight days to continue convalescence at Palm Beach, Fla. The President's father is recuperating there from a stroke.

Dilworth Scores Tax Cut Talk For Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG (AP) — Anyone who promises a tax cut in Pennsylvania next year should be put in jail for perjury, claims Richardson Dilworth, Democratic organization candidate for governor.

Speaking Wednesday at his first formal news conference with Capitol Hill newsmen, Dilworth said Pennsylvania's needs are just too great to even think about a tax reduction in 1963.

"The Keystone State, once holding a dominant place in the economy of the industrial era, must gear for the new age," the former Philadelphia mayor declared.

"We can't expect to cut taxes next year and still operate the state on the same level."

As for a possible boost in taxes, Dilworth noted that Gov. Lawrence's fiscal experts have expressed optimism that the state's present revenues can provide for state needs in 1963.

Lefkowitz Asks Legislation on Land Sale Fraud

ALBANY, N.Y .(AP) — Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz recommended today legislation aimed at fraud in the high-pressure promotion and sale of land in Florida, Arizona, the West Indies and other resort areas.

Lefkowitz said his office had received many complaints arising from "a tremendous increase in recent months" in the amount of such land offered for sale.

In one case, he said, his office found that the land offered for sale was in an inaccessible and uninhabitable jungle in Brazil.

Personal Income For Americans Soars to Record

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sharp increase in wages and salaries last month sent the personal income of Americans soaring to a record annual rate of $432.8 billion.

Washed away in the surge was a $1.5-billion drop in January which set some economists to worrying whether the business recovery had hit a snag.

Commerce Department figures released Wednesday showed half the payroll advance of $2.6 billion occurred in manufacturing industries. A major reason was a lengthening of the work week.

Small changes in other types of income pushed the advance over January to $2.7 billion.

BOSTON (AP)—Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, mother of the President, continued to show satisfactory progress today in recovery from a pelvic hernia operation performed Tuesday at St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

The hospital said Mrs. Kennedy, 71 wife of the former ambassador to Great Britain, is doing very well.

Dr. Roy J. Heffernan, who performed the operation, said she probably will be able to leave the hospital in seven or eight days to continue convalescence at Palm Beach, Fla. The President's father is recuperating there from a stroke.

Dilworth Scores Tax Cut Talk For Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG (AP) — Anyone who promises a tax cut in Pennsylvania next year should be put in jail for perjury, claims Richardson Dilworth, Democratic organization candidate for governor.

Speaking Wednesday at his first formal news conference with Capitol Hill newsmen, Dilworth said Pennsylvania's needs are just too great to even think about a tax reduction in 1963.

"The Keystone State, once holding a dominant place in the economy of the industrial era, must gear for the new age," the former Philadelphia mayor declared.

"We can't expect to cut taxes next year and still operate the state on the same level."

As for a possible boost in taxes, Dilworth noted that Gov. Lawrence's fiscal experts have expressed optimism that the state's present revenues can provide for state needs in 1963.

Lefkowitz Asks Legislation on Land Sale Fraud

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz recommended today legislation aimed at fraud in the high-pressure promotion and sale of land in Florida, Arizona, the West Indies and other resort areas.

Lefkowitz said his office had received many complaints arising from "a tremendous increase in recent months" in the amount of such land offered for sale.

In one case, he said, his office found that the land offered for sale was in an inaccessible and uninhabitable jungle in Brazil.

Personal Income For Americans Soars to Record

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sharp increase in wages and salaries last month sent the personal income of Americans soaring to a record annual rate of $432.8 billion.

Washed away in the surge was a $1.5-billion drop in January which set some economists to worrying whether the business recovery had hit a snag.

Commerce Department figures released Wednesday showed half the payroll advance of $2.6 billion occurred in manufacturing industries. A major reason was a lengthening of the work week.

Small changes in other types of income pushed the advance over January to $2.7 billion.

POLITICAL POLL — Lamppost in Calcutta can hardly be recognized because of many posters and banners on it. Large numbers of the people cannot read so parties rely upon simple symbols rather than names in their vote-getting campaigns.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"The important thing in life is to wake up each morning with an anticipation about what you are going to do that day. It could be your work; it could be your hobby. But you must have something to look forward to."

This was Harold Lloyd speaking.

The great movie comedian retired from acting in 1938, when he was 45. Except for one brief return, he has stayed retired. But he has never been bored.

The reason is that Lloyd has pursued his hobbies with the same thoroughness with which he made film comedies. He is perhaps the world's greatest hobbyist. His example can be a lesson to those who look upon retirement as lingering death.

"To be of any use to me, a hobby must obsess me," Lloyd explained in his huge Beverly Hills mansion, one of the last of the great movie showplaces.

"I can only be involved in one hobby at a time, and I never plan ahead. I never know what I am going to do next."

Lloyd gave me a tour of his home, explaining his obsessions along the way. First stop was the cavernous living room, site of his current hobby, stereo music. Four card tables in the center of the room held specially made turntables and control boards.

Around the room were 20 different speakers; when he played a number, I had the feeling of being in the center of a huge orchestra. Albums were stacked all over the room; a large, concealed closet contained more. Total: 3,000.

In an adjoining room was a huge Christmas tree, 15 feet tall and almost cylindrical. Actually two trees in one, limbs had been added and reinforced with bamboo to hold the weight of hundreds of brilliant ornaments, most the size of a cantaloupe. Two-thirds were foreign-made, and all were dazzling with sequins, costume jewelry and other ornamentation.

"We put up last year's in December and took it down the following December," the comedian said.

Alternate By-Pass Route Set; 57 Questions Go Unanswered

The Woodstock Planning Board announced a new alignment for the proposed highly controversial Route 375 bypass and made a vigorous defense of its preliminary Growth Plan at a meeting attended by more than 300 persons at Town Hall.

But left unanswered in what was advertised as a "question and answer period" were the 57 questions posed to the board by more than 145 citizens of the township.

These questions had been sent to the Board by a citizens committee and also appeared as a full page ad in the Ulster County Townsman of Woodstck.

The tumultuous meeting also pointed up a widening cleavage between the business interests of the community and proponents of the Growth Plan.

J. C. van Rijn, chairman of the Planning Board, opened the meeting with a 90-minute address in which he outlined the aims and philosophy of the Planning Board and pleaded for its acceptance and support by the public. He then introduced Dr. Harry Anthony of the Brown and Anthony planning consultant firm to enlarge on specifics in his message and the question and answer period followed.

Remarks from the floor indicated sharp disagreement between the business community and the planning board on the effects of the proposed by-pass on the business interests of the town.

Attorney John Egan, spokesman for a group which strongly opposes many of the proposals in the Growth Plan, pressed chairman van Rijn for some indication as to when the group could expect written answers to the 57 questions as requested by registered mail. van Rijn referred to the group's communication which requested answers "within a reasonable time" and said the Planning Board would be guided by that statement.

Changes in Plan

The alternate alignment of the proposed by-pass would be farther south than the original plan, van Rijn and Anthony said, placing most of the residential properties originally affected on the northerly side of the highway.

In his prepared statement, van Rijn referred to the proposed alignment as "schematic." He went on to say that "the laying out of such a road involves so much money that the most careful alignment must be studied as to topography and property values. A Planning Board, or rather its consultants, can only do this up to a point. The final location, before it is built, will, of course, have to be fixed by the State and then again, only after the public has expressed itself at a public hearing held especially for that purpose."

Van Rijn's statement on the by-pass also contradicted earlier charges that the plan had been announced without consultation with state highway officials.

"The future needs for Routes 375 and 212 have been discussed by our consultants with the State Department of Public Works, Mr. Egan's statement notwithstanding," said van Rijn. "They have received the assurance that the projected by-pass is desirable and will be seriously considered. The requirement, as always, is that the town take over the old road which is superseded by the new one. In this case, this would be the section of Route 212 passing through the Woodstock hamlet."

Explains Policy

Asserting that public servants must be cautious in their statements, van Rijn went on to say:

"Now, if you listened carefully to Mr. Egan's statement on Feb. 20, you will have noted that he asked this public servant a very pertinent question, which was: 'Did the Woodstock Planning Board have a commitment from the New York State Department of Public Works?'

"Any public department has to follow a chain of events before they can make a commitment. So, it is only to be expected that no commitment has been either asked for or given at this stage of the project. I think this is significant, I would like to express the hope that Woodstock in its zeal to decide on issues of its future, does not embarrass public servants. Woodstock needs their cooperation for a long time to come."

Despite these assurances, several speakers voiced objections to the new alignment, among them John Bertschy, Warren Hutty and others. Hutty, one of the leaders of the business group, was especially vitriolic in his attack against the by-pass. He charged that property values had depreciated and declined since first reports were known of the proposed by-pass. He said the by-pass would deal a staggering blow to local business men.

During an exchange with Dr. Anthony, the Woodstock realtor objected to Anthony's statement that 'money isn't everything and the business men aren't the only ones to be considered in developing a Growth Plan." Hutty said his father and mother were first artists married in Woodstock back in 1907 and through the years he had worked for the best interests of the community and his fellow citizens. He said he resented Anthony's insinuation that his objections to the Growth Plan stemmed from financial considerations only.

Benson Asks Reason

Hutty also asked the planners why they had not provided for a "decent plan for traffic flow through the village." He was told this had been taken under consideration.

Near the end of the three-hour meeting, Frank Benson, a resident of Woodstock for 35 years and a member of the original Study Committee which recommended the creation of Planning Board, arose to pour oil on the troubled waters of the meeting with a brief speech richly spiced with humor and horse sense.

Benson said that through the years several buildings and installations had gone up in awkward locations that could have been prevented by planning and zoning. He particularly singled out the new Woodstock Post Office. He said he felt the majority of Woodstock residents favored some kind of planning but he adominshed the Planning Board to consider first things first.

The most pressing need, said Benson, was a sewage system for the village. This was corroborated by chairman van Rijn, who said the Ulster County Board of Health had told the board that a sewage system for Woodstock would be mandatory within ten years.

Chamber Commerce Meeting At Town Hall on March 21

A final decision on the formation of a Woodstock Township Chamber of Commerce will be made at a public meeting scheduled on Wednesday, March 21, at the Town Hall at 8 p. m.

More than 300 letters have been mailed to business and professional people, and although much work has gone into compiling a list of names, the committee is sure that some individuals may be overlooked. This is not intentional and all persons interested in the organization of a township chamber are invited.

Following a brief statement of activities of the present committee, Vincent Amrod of the Saugerties Chamber of Commerce will be presented as guest speaker. Amrod is a past president of the Saugerties Chamber and aided in its original organization and structural work. He is now a member of the Speakers Committee whose functions include assisting groups wishing to form a Chamber of their own.

Saugerties, it is felt, is more comparable to Woodstock in size and potential for organizational membership and similarity of business appeal. For these reasons, Amrod was chosen as the first in a series of Chamber speakers to be presented a various meetings.

Nominate Directors

At Wednesday's meeting there will also be nominations from the floor and the election of a 10-member temporary Board of Directors. This board will make up the charter, membership regulation and by-laws, the latter to be approved by the majority of a membership meeting. They also will conduct the election of the first official Board of Directors.

Thirty persons attended the first meeting designed to sound out local interest in a Chamber of Commerce. The attendance was regarded as disappointing, since invitations had been sent to more than 200 persons.

A temporary steering committee of seven persons was designated at the original meeting. The committee includes: Edward Berberich, chairman; William West Sr., Harry Cohen, Mrs. Joseph Marr, Wayne Underhill and Richard Langham.

From this meeting there emerged the unanimous feeling that if a Chamber of Commerce is organized in Woodstock, it should embrace all seven Woodstock hamlets and give a broad representation of membership.

Although previous attempts to sustain a Chamber of Commerce failed in Woodstock, there are indications of high enthusiasm and approval for a Chamber today. The final decision will be made on March 21.

First Field Trip For Pony Club

The Woodstock Pony Club has planned its first field trip for Saturday, March 17. Twenty-seven children will attend an indoor show, with a variety of classes, at Bennett College in Millbrook. Transportation will be provided by the Pony Club parents and instructors.

For some of the children, it will be a new experience to see a recognized show. For others it will be a refreshing stimulation after two months unmounted because of inclement weather.

An indoor rally was held last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Carlson. The rally began with a quiz on lectures and literature received at previous meetings. Each class was explained to the youngsters and regulations were discussed in conjunction with the horse show this weekend.

Stable inspection charts were handed out to children who take care of their own stable and wish to participate in the inspection. Their stable and stall will be judged about four times during the year by the instructors. At the end of the year, Dr. Paul Le Paige will present a perpetual plaque to the winning entry.

It was also announced at the rally that District Commissioner Charles Ashley will donate an award to the child who maintains the best attendance record throughout the year.

The next indoor rally will be held on March 25 at 2 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alec Chepeloff.

Rec Committee Has Job Openings

Applications are now being received for salaried positions on the staff of the Woodstock Recreation Committee's 8-week summer season at Andy Lee Memorial Field. These positions vary from part time to full time during a period starting the first week in July and ending before Labor Day.

Vacancies consist of a full time recreation director, an assistant director, a life guard and swimming instructor who will teach approximately two hours a day but remains at the children's pool six days a week, from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. A three-hour-a-day, five-day-a-week position is open for an arts and crafts instructor.

Anyone above the age of 18 may apply for these summer positions by writing to the Woodstock Recreation Committee, care of Woodstock Town Clerks' Office, Woodstock, and requesting information on any of the positions open.

College students interested in summer employment may have ample time to complete the coming season's plans with applications that are mailed early.

On Languages By Schimmerling

It is not just the present government of Czechoslovakia that emphasizes the studies of foreign languages. Also in the first republic it was an important part of the curriculum. Before World War I when the present Czechoslovak territory still was part of the Austro-Hungarian Empire the school curricula were those of the old monarchy.

Before World War II, German was the required foreign language, while the second foreign language was French. After the war, however, Russian replaced German and the second foreign language, compulsory from the tenth grade on, is now a choice of German, English or French. More recently, German has risen to first place, followed by English.

All university students are required to study a second foreign language in order to be able to read scientific literature pertaining to the individual line of profession in the original language. Another innovation, instituted by the present government, is the establishment of language schools for adults which are constantly expanded. There adults can choose practically any language they want. The interest in studying foreign languages is a Czech national peculiarity that surprises many visitors. For many Czechoslovaks the study of foreign languages is a hobby like some of us playing bridge or collecting stamps.

Have Four Centers

There are four centers for training of English teachers in Czechoslovakia. The oldest is the Philosophical Department of Charles University in Prague. This university, the first in Central Europe, was founded in 1348. The second oldest is that of Purkyne University of Brno, capital of Moravia (this writer's

Alternate By-Pass Route Set; 57 Questions Go Unanswered

The Woodstock Planning Board announced a new alignment for the proposed highly controversial Route 375 bypass and made a vigorous defense of its preliminary Growth Plan at a meeting attended by more than 300 persons at Town Hall.

But left unanswered in what was advertised as a "question and answer period" were the 57 questions posed to the board by more than 145 citizens of the township.

These questions had been sent to the Board by a citizens committee and also appeared as a full page ad in the Ulster County Townsman of Woodstck.

The tumultuous meeting also pointed up a widening cleavage between the business interests of the community and proponents of the Growth Plan.

J. C. van Rijn, chairman of the Planning Board, opened the meeting with a 90-minute address in which he outlined the aims and philosophy of the Planning Board and pleaded for its acceptance and support by the public. He then introduced Dr. Harry Anthony of the Brown and Anthony planning consultant firm to enlarge on specifics in his message and the question and answer period followed.

Remarks from the floor indicated sharp disagreement between the business community and the planning board on the effects of the proposed by-pass on the business interests of the town.

Attorney John Egan, spokesman for a group which strongly opposes many of the proposals in the Growth Plan, pressed chairman van Rijn for some indication as to when the group could expect written answers to the 57 questions as requested by registered mail. van Rijn referred to the group's communication which requested answers "within a reasonable time" and said the Planning Board would be guided by that statement.

Changes in Plan

The alternate alignment of the proposed by-pass would be farther south than the original plan, van Rijn and Anthony said, placing most of the residential properties originally affected on the northerly side of the highway.

In his prepared statement, van Rijn referred to the proposed alignment as "schematic." He went on to say that "the laying out of such a road involves so much money that the most careful alignment must be studied as to topography and property values. A Planning Board, or rather its consultants, can only do this up to a point. The final location, before it is built, will, of course, have to be fixed by the State and then again, only after the public has expressed itself at a public hearing held especially for that purpose."

Van Rijn's statement on the by-pass also contradicted earlier charges that the plan had been announced without consultation with state highway officials.

"The future needs for Routes 375 and 212 have been discussed by our consultants with the State Department of Public Works, Mr. Egan's statement notwithstanding," said van Rijn. "They have received the assurance that the projected by-pass is desirable and will be seriously considered. The requirement, as always, is that the town take over the old road which is superseded by the new one. In this case, this would be the section of Route 212 passing through the Woodstock hamlet."

Explains Policy

Asserting that public servants must be cautious in their statements, van Rijn went on to say:

"Now, if you listened carefully to Mr. Egan's statement on Feb. 20, you will have noted that he asked this public servant a very pertinent question, which was: 'Did the Woodstock Planning Board have a commitment from the New York State Department of Public Works?'

"Any public department has to follow a chain of events before they can make a commitment. So, it is only to be expected that no commitment has been either asked for or given at this stage of the project. I think this is significant, I would like to express the hope that Woodstock in its zeal to decide on issues of its future, does not embarrass public servants. Woodstock needs their cooperation for a long time to come."

Despite these assurances, several speakers voiced objections to the new alignment, among them John Bertschy, Warren Hutty and others. Hutty, one of the leaders of the business group, was especially vitriolic in his attack against the by-pass. He charged that property values had depreciated and declined since first reports were known of the proposed by-pass. He said the by-pass would deal a staggering blow to local business men.

During an exchange with Dr. Anthony, the Woodstock realtor objected to Anthony's statement that 'money isn't everything and the business men aren't the only ones to be considered in developing a Growth Plan." Hutty said his father and mother were first artists married in Woodstock back in 1907 and through the years he had worked for the best interests of the community and his fellow citizens. He said he resented Anthony's insinuation that his objections to the Growth Plan stemmed from financial considerations only.

Benson Asks Reason

Hutty also asked the planners why they had not provided for a "decent plan for traffic flow through the village." He was told this had been taken under consideration.

Near the end of the three-hour meeting, Frank Benson, a resident of Woodstock for 35 years and a member of the original Study Committee which recommended the creation of Planning Board, arose to pour oil on the troubled waters of the meeting with a brief speech richly spiced with humor and horse sense.

Benson said that through the years several buildings and installations had gone up in awkward locations that could have been prevented by planning and zoning. He particularly singled out the new Woodstock Post Office. He said he felt the majority of Woodstock residents favored some kind of planning but he adominshed the Planning Board to consider first things first.

The most pressing need, said Benson, was a sewage system for the village. This was corroborated by chairman van Rijn, who said the Ulster County Board of Health had told the board that a sewage system for Woodstock would be mandatory within ten years.

Chamber Commerce Meeting At Town Hall on March 21

A final decision on the formation of a Woodstock Township Chamber of Commerce will be made at a public meeting scheduled on Wednesday, March 21, at the Town Hall at 8 p. m.

More than 300 letters have been mailed to business and professional people, and although much work has gone into compiling a list of names, the committee is sure that some individuals may be overlooked. This is not intentional and all persons interested in the organization of a township chamber are invited.

Following a brief statement of activities of the present committee, Vincent Amrod of the Saugerties Chamber of Commerce will be presented as guest speaker. Amrod is a past president of the Saugerties Chamber and aided in its original organization and structural work. He is now a member of the Speakers Committee whose functions include assisting groups wishing to form a Chamber of their own.

Saugerties, it is felt, is more comparable to Woodstock in size and potential for organizational membership and similarity of business appeal. For these reasons, Amrod was chosen as the first in a series of Chamber speakers to be presented a various meetings.

Nominate Directors

At Wednesday's meeting there will also be nominations from the floor and the election of a 10-member temporary Board of Directors. This board will make up the charter, membership regulation and by-laws, the latter to be approved by the majority of a membership meeting. They also will conduct the election of the first official Board of Directors.

Thirty persons attended the first meeting designed to sound out local interest in a Chamber of Commerce. The attendance was regarded as disappointing, since invitations had been sent to more than 200 persons.

A temporary steering committee of seven persons was designated at the original meeting. The committee includes: Edward Berberich, chairman; William West Sr., Harry Cohen, Mrs. Joseph Marr, Wayne Underhill and Richard Langham.

From this meeting there emerged the unanimous feeling that if a Chamber of Commerce is organized in Woodstock, it should embrace all seven Woodstock hamlets and give a broad representation of membership.

Although previous attempts to sustain a Chamber of Commerce failed in Woodstock, there are indications of high enthusiasm and approval for a Chamber today. The final decision will be made on March 21.

First Field Trip For Pony Club

The Woodstock Pony Club has planned its first field trip for Saturday, March 17. Twenty-seven children will attend an indoor show, with a variety of classes, at Bennett College in Millbrook. Transportation will be provided by the Pony Club parents and instructors.

For some of the children, it will be a new experience to see a recognized show. For others it will be a refreshing stimulation after two months unmounted because of inclement weather.

An indoor rally was held last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Carlson. The rally began with a quiz on lectures and literature received at previous meetings. Each class was explained to the youngsters and regulations were discussed in conjunction with the horse show this weekend.

Stable inspection charts were handed out to children who take care of their own stable and wish to participate in the inspection. Their stable and stall will be judged about four times during the year by the instructors. At the end of the year, Dr. Paul Le Paige will present a perpetual plaque to the winning entry.

It was also announced at the rally that District Commissioner Charles Ashley will donate an award to the child who maintains the best attendance record throughout the year.

The next indoor rally will be held on March 25 at 2 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alec Chepeloff.

Rec Committee Has Job Openings

Applications are now being received for salaried positions on the staff of the Woodstock Recreation Committee's 8-week summer season at Andy Lee Memorial Field. These positions vary from part time to full time during a period starting the first week in July and ending before Labor Day.

Vacancies consist of a full time recreation director, an assistant director, a life guard and swimming instructor who will teach approximately two hours a day but remains at the children's pool six days a week, from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. A three-hour-a-day, five-day-a-week position is open for an arts and crafts instructor.

Anyone above the age of 18 may apply for these summer positions by writing to the Woodstock Recreation Committee, care of Woodstock Town Clerks' Office, Woodstock, and requesting information on any of the positions open.

College students interested in summer employment may have ample time to complete the coming season's plans with applications that are mailed early.

On Languages By Schimmerling

It is not just the present government of Czechoslovakia that emphasizes the studies of foreign languages. Also in the first republic it was an important part of the curriculum. Before World War I when the present Czechoslovak territory still was part of the Austro-Hungarian Empire the school curricula were those of the old monarchy.

Before World War II, German was the required foreign language, while the second foreign language was French. After the war, however, Russian replaced German and the second foreign language, compulsory from the tenth grade on, is now a choice of German, English or French. More recently, German has risen to first place, followed by English.

All university students are required to study a second foreign language in order to be able to read scientific literature pertaining to the individual line of profession in the original language. Another innovation, instituted by the present government, is the establishment of language schools for adults which are constantly expanded. There adults can choose practically any language they want. The interest in studying foreign languages is a Czech national peculiarity that surprises many visitors. For many Czechoslovaks the study of foreign languages is a hobby like some of us playing bridge or collecting stamps.

Have Four Centers

There are four centers for training of English teachers in Czechoslovakia. The oldest is the Philosophical Department of Charles University in Prague. This university, the first in Central Europe, was founded in 1348. The second oldest is that of Purkyne University of Brno, capital of Moravia (this writer's

Canary Pudding Is Irish Favorite

POPULAR dessert on the "old sod," this steamed canary pudding is an appropriate choice for St. Patrick's Day.

GAYNOR MADDOX

With St. Patrick's Day coming up, it's a good time to realize that Irishmen are great dessert eaters. It is not uncommon at dinner in Dublin, for example, to serve two desserts. One will be hot and the other, almost invariably, will be served cold.

For a two-dessert dinner, serve cold fruit compote flavored with "vanilla essence," or as we call it, pure vanilla extract. For the hot dessert, try this very popular and traditionally Irish steamed pudding.

Steamed Canary Pudding
(Yield: 6 servings)

One and one-half cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons pure vanilla extract, ½ cup butter or margarine, ⅔ cup sugar, 2 eggs, ½ cup milk, jam sauce.

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Set aside to use later. Blend pure vanilla extract with butter or margarine. Gradually add sugar, mixing well after each addition. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Add flour mixture alternately with milk. Beat batter ½ minute.

Turn into a well-greased, lightly-floured 1-quart shamrock mold filling it ⅔ full. Cover with 2 layers of metal foil. Tie to hold securely with a strong cord. Place on a rack in a deep kettle. Pour in boiling water to come halfway up the side of the mold. Cover and steam 2 hours or until a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean, counting cooking time after water begins to boil. Add additional boiling water to the pan as needed. Serve warm with jam sauce.

If serving for St. Patrick's party, sprinkle with sifted confectioners' sugar and decorate center with green sugar shamrock. To make it, place a shamrock pattern in the center. Trace around it with a pointed knife. Remove pattern and fill in with green granulated sugar.

Kingston Resident Awarded Citation By Tool Engineers

The annual service award for outstanding service to his society will be awarded to Alvin Parnett, a lifeime resident of this city, Chairman George Berk of Chapter 151 of the American Society of Tool and Manufacturing Engineers announced today in his monthly message.

For the past year Parnett has been editor of the monthly brown and golden-rod yellow bulletin which has become so familiar to local engineers and businessmen. In achieving this award Alvin had to devote dozens of personal hours each month toward gathering information, pasting-up center spreads, typing and above all, keeping the operation solvent. This last item required the industrious persistence of this IBM designer. In all these areas the bulletin has made giant steps of improvement, Berk said.

A medal will be presented to Parnett Saturday night at the annual Ladies' Night festivities of the Catskill Region, by retiring Chairman Berk.

When the award was first brought to Parnett's attention, via a surprise letter in his bulletin, he was quick to give much credit to his assistant, Ted Masten of Rhinebeck.

Parnett resides with his wife Ella and their sons, David and Mark, on Linderman Avenue, Kingston.

The Catskill Chapter consists of over 100 members employed by manufacturing firms in the area.

PLATTEKILL NEWS

PLATTEKILL — Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Betty J. Branley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melville Branley of Kings Hill Road, Newburgh, RD, and Larry Roosa of Modena, Saturday, Feb. 3, at the Plattekill Methodist Church.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Carl Hartman, pastor of the Plattekill Rossville Methodist Churches.

Mrs. Roosa is a graduate of the Wallkill Central High School, class of 1961, and is employed at the Thruway Hot Shoppe here. Mr. Roosa is employed in Poughkeepsie. Mr. and Mrs. Roosa are residing in Plattekill.

Plans are complete for the fish 'n' chips supper to be served at the Plattekill Grange Hall Saturday 5:30 p. m. A business meeting of the Grange was held Saturday evening at the Grange Hall, with Master Walter Kleeman conducting. The first and second degrees of initiation was conferred on a class of candidates, by the Plattekill Degree team, led by Arlene Bernard and Marjorie Van Aken.

Members of the Willing Workers Society of the Plattekill Methodist Church held the first of a number of sales of clam chowder, at the Plattekill Grange Hall Friday. Mrs. Walter Loetscher was chairman of general arrangements.

Mrs. Agnes Fowler of Clintondale, accompanied her daughter, Mrs. Robert Coy of Ardonia on a visit to friends here recently.

The Plattekill Firemen held a chicken and rice supper at the firehouse last Saturday. Servings were at 6 and 8 p. m.

Miss Albina P. Orlowski of this place, has successfully completed the latest examination in registered professional nursing, receiving license to practice her profession as issued by the New York State Education Department.

The Misses Elizabeth and Susie Fosler attended the funeral of Mrs. Frank E. Crawford in Wappingers Fall recently.

Jaycees Sponsor Local Meeting On Conservation

Conservationists, hunters, fishermen, farmers and others interested in the out of doors have been invited to a special program at Deanie's in Woodstock on Friday, March 23.

A special feature has been arranged in conjunction with National Wildlife Week (March 18-24). The program includes a speaker and two movies stressing the theme of water and water conservation. The event is jointly sponsored by the National Wildlife Federation and the Woodstock Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Details for the meeting were recently completed by Chester Joy, regional chairman for National Wildlife Federation and officials of the Woodstock Jaycees. The program, open to the public free of charge, will be held upstairs in Deanie's at 8 p. m.

Robert Nelson, president of the Jaycees, said the program will embody the four objectives set forth by the National Wildlife Federation; (1) alert all Americans to the need for conservation of natural water retention areas; (2) create understanding of the importance of wetland habitat to waterfowl and other wild life; (3) encourage all citizens to become informed as to the relationship between man and all natural resources; and (4) unite conservationists for a common cause.

Nelson stressed that the program was open to all interested parties.

The faculty includes at least one English or American born member in each individual locality. This is a must. The steady increase in highly qualified teachers implies greatly expanded programs for the near future. The curriculum for English majors includes "descriptive grammar, a short course in Anglo-Saxon and Middle English, history of British and American literature with emphasis on modern authors, customs and institutions of the English speaking countries and a thorough training in active use of English, both spoken and written in which bilateral interpretation and translation is required."

The universities publish their own volumes of English studies; other scholarly contributions in this line appear in several magazines published by the Department of Modern Philology and Sciences. "In the last five years at least seven Czech (Slovak)-English dictionaries have been published as well as dozens of textbooks and an English course on phonograph records." Jaycees Sponsor Local Meeting On Conservation

Conservationists, hunters, fishermen, farmers and others interested in the out of doors have been invited to a special program at Deanie's in Woodstock on Friday, March 23.

A special feature has been arranged in conjunction with National Wildlife Week (March 18-24). The program includes a speaker and two movies stressing the theme of water and water conservation. The event is jointly sponsored by the National Wildlife Federation and the Woodstock Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Details for the meeting were recently completed by Chester Joy, regional chairman for National Wildlife Federation and officials of the Woodstock Jaycees. The program, open to the public free of charge, will be held upstairs in Deanie's at 8 p. m.

Robert Nelson, president of the Jaycees, said the program will embody the four objectives set forth by the National Wildlife Federation; (1) alert all Americans to the need for conservation of natural water retention areas; (2) create understanding of the importance of wetland habitat to waterfowl and other wild life; (3) encourage all citizens to become informed as to the relationship between man and all natural resources; and (4) unite conservationists for a common cause.

Nelson stressed that the program was open to all interested parties.

Weekly Food Review

Irishmen celebrating St. Patrick's Day with corned beef and haras will be joined this weekend by smart shoppers who find the two are good buys.

Most meats are more attractive buys than usual this weekend in most markets, especially east of the rockies.

Among beef buys are sirloin and porterhouse steaks and rump roasts, especially in the Midwest.

Lamb is generally lower, particularly leg roasts.

With smoked hams among pork offerings, loins, chops and bacon are attractively priced.

At poultry counters, turkeys and fryers remain good budget stretchers.

Lenten planners can look to low prices for eggs and cheese and will find a good variety of attractively priced fish and seafood.

Vegetables are mostly unchanged from the previous week, except that cold weather on the West Coast has pushed up prices on many items regionally.

Sharply higher in the Southwest are cabbage, onions and cucumbers.

Nationally, best buys are green beans, lettuce, potatoes, sweet potatoes and tomatoes.

Among fruits, avocados, grapefruit, lemons and oranges are the top buys.

Here again, bad Western weather has shortened fruit supplies regionally, with avocados about the only fruit selling lower than last week in Southwest markets.

Return from Tour

Two Ulster County 4-H youths, Linda McCord of Wallkill and Gifford Beal of South Flatbush have just returned from the two-day Capitol Day Award trip in Albany.

While in Albany the group had tours of the State Capitol, Education and State Building, the Court of Appeals and the Executive Mansion.

On Monday night the 4-H delegates visited the Senate and the Assembly while the legislators were in session. On Tuesday morning, the members had breakfast with Senator E. Ogden Bush and Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson their representatives in the State Legislature. The program concluded with the delegates being received by Governor Rockefeller.

Carlton Conklin, County 4-H Club agent accompanied the delegates to Albany.

Tires, Rims Stolen

Joseph DiCiancia of Rosendale reported to Kingston state police today that two tires and rims were stolen from his 1960 sedan parked in his driveway. The 750-14 tires and rims were removed from his vehicle during the night, troopers said.

According to the 18th Decennial Census, American Indian population of the U. S. was 523,591, more than double the 1900 count.

Welcomes Entry of New Rochelle Mayor

Stratton Pledges Fight To Stay in Both Races

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., promised today to fight any attempt to freeze him out of both the gubernatorial and congressional races this year.

"I'm in and I intend to stay in," Stratton said in an interview.

Stratton, an announced candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in New York, said he welcomed the entry of Mayor Stanley W. Church of New Rochelle into the race but detected in it a move to cut into potential support for himself.

Feels 'Knives Are Out'

"I've a feeling that the knives are out in some respects," Stratton said. "I don't intend to take it sitting down."

Stratton announced his candidacy for the nomination late last year although the state nominating convention won't meet until September.

Church entered the contest early this week after talking with Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York, now considered the real leader of New York Democrats.

Church said he'd be glad to have Stratton as a candidate for lieutenant governor. Stratton rejected that.

Stratton said he may fight in the primary, tentatively scheduled for September, for delegates to the nominating convention and also for his party's congressional nomination in the new 35th district.

That district, 180 miles long, is made up primarily of counties now represented by Rep. John Taber, R-N.Y., who plans to retire at the end of this year. Two of the counties now in Stratton's district—Montgomery and Otsego—are also part of the new districts.

Sees 'Bossism' Issue

Stratton said Democratic county leaders in the new district—except for Montgomery and Otsego — may endorse Francis G. Souhan for the congressional nomination.

Stratton said State Chairman William H. Mc Keon of Auburn isn't committed publicly to anyone but is leaning toward Souhan, who ran against Taber in 1960.

"He might be defeated largely on the issue of bossism," Stratton said.

Stratton said this apparent opposition to his seeking re-election makes it clear that some Democrats are out to stop him from winning either nomination.

Abolition Film Viewed by Large Crowd in Hurley

A capacity crowd numbering 100 area residents viewed the film, Operation Abolition, at Hurley Fire Hall Tuesday night.

The movie, depicting the Communist-inspired student riots in San Francisco two years ago, was presented by the Republican Club of the Town of Hurley.

It was preceded by a short tape recording of two talks on the reasons why Communist "brainwashing" of American soldiers during the Korean War were so successful and the lack of understanding in this country on the true meaning of Democracy.

Unlike other area showings of the film where demonstrations were staged in protest to the movie and literature attacking the House Un-American Activities Committee was distributed the Hurley audience was unanimous in its praise of "Operation Abolition" and there was general agreement that the film presented a true picture of Communist infiltration into certain elements of American life and the very real danger which this sort of infiltration poses to the national security.

Following the showing of the film a regular meeting of the Republican Club of the Town of Hurley was held and during the meeting the members voted to plan for the club's first dinner-dance to be held at Oehler's Mountain Lodge in Morgan Hill June 2. The next regular meeting of the club will be held in the fire hall in West Hurley April 10.

Yield Sign Ordered For Lloyd Intersection

The placing of a yield sign on a section of old Route 9W serving as a by-pass for Route 44 traffic using the Mid-Hudson Bridge in the Town of Lloyd was ordered in a directive issued this week by the State Traffic Commission.

Chairman William S. Hults announced that the new order was filed with the Secretary of State's office.

STURDY BRIDGE—Residents of Wolfe Creek, Ky., carry emergency supplies over make-shift bridge hastily erected after mountain torrents destroyed bridge linking town with main road. Steel cable, boards and spikes were used.

$72,914 Allotted As County's Share Of Vehicle Taxes

Ulster County will receive $72,914.90 as its share of the distribution of $5,903,170.58 of motor vehicle tax receipts, an increase of $15,718.83 over last year, it was announced today by the State Department of Audit and Control.

New York City's share of the total is $1,952,653.48.

Last year during this quarter ending December 31, 1960, Ulster was allotted $57,196.07.

The total is the share of state-collected motor vehicle fees for the three months ending December 31,1961, which is being returned to the counties in accordance with the state highway law.

The law provides that 25 per cent of the fees collected under the vehicle and traffic law, exclusive of application fees and service charge for special plates, from residents of the counties be returned to local government.

The money is deposited by counties in the county road funds, from which expenditures for construction and maintenance of county road systems are made. The money paid to the City of New York is to be credited to the city's general fund for construction and maintenance of city streets, highways and parkways. Checks are being mailed to the county fiscal officers and to the treasurer of the City of New York.

Computations estimate odds against making a hole-in-one in golf at 14,937 to 1.

South Avoids Hearts' Poison

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

North's jump to three spades was a terrific overbid. He had forced South to bid and while he did have a nice informative double a simple raise to two spades would have done full justice to his hand.

On the other hand, South's rebid to game was fully justified. His trumps were weak, but he had the ace-queen of diamonds and a singleton club.

West opened the king of hearts and shifted to the king of clubs afer East dropped the four spot. A heart continuation would have beaten the hand and even with the club shift, South had to use perfect technique to bring home the bacon.

He took the ace of clubs, ruffed a club, led a trump to dummy's ace, ruffed a third club, returned to dummy with the king of diamonds, ruffed dummy's last club, entered dummy again with the jack of diamonds, led a second trump from dummy and conceded two trump tricks.

What was so perfect about his technique? It was that he carefully refused to trump a heart in dummy at any time. If he had trumped one heart he would have been unable to lead that second trump at the finish and East and West would have collected three trump tricks.

SILLER HAMS
The Finest, Tastiest HAMS Available!

Along Capitol Corridors

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Deep concern over their party and personal political futures is the basis of the intense feeling involved in a Republican dispute over legislative reapportionment.

While the issue may seem a technical and remote one to most residents, GOP leaders are viewing it in terms of retaining control of the Legislature at next November's election.

Two Have It Out

An indication of the emotions involved came this week when GOP State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse and Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney clashed over the issue in front of Gov. Rockefeller.

The powerful Senate leader charged Morhouse with using slanted questions in a poll, which, Morhouse said, showed that GOP county leaders opposed reapportionment this year.

Sources close to Mahoney said he had been informed that many leaders had not been asked directly whether they favored or opposed reapportionment but whether they would favor it if it would hurt Rockefeller's chances of re-election.

Legislative reapportionment is being planned to reflect population changes shown by the 1960 federal census.

NYC Would Lose

New York City, which has lost population, would lose two Senate and nine Assembly seats, under present methods of apportioning seats. These methods are set forth in the State Constitution.

Long Island, the fast-growing area of the state, would gain the most representation.

The Legislature would specify new lines only for Senate seats. The New York City Council draws lines for its five counties and boards of supervisors do the job elsewhere in the state.

According to the formula, the Legislature allots assembly seats to each county and the local governing bodies must await this allocation before they can change district lines.

Mahoney's Interest

Mahoney's keen interest stems from his desire to preserve Republican strength in the Senate and control of the Legislature. Sources close to Mahoney say he thinks prompt reapportionment would help.

The new Senate lines would be drawn by a Republican-controlled committee. They would be expected to favor Republicans.

But Rockefeller's interests also come into play.

New York City is a prime target of his campaign.

The Republican reapportionment plan would reduce Manhattan's quota from six to four senators, for example. Suffolk and Monroe counties would each gain one.

Reason for Present Stand

Democrats presumably would use this development in New York City in support of their long-standing argument that the Republican - controlled Legislature discriminates against New York City in favor of suburban and rural areas.

The governor might be put in the position of defending the reapportionment or disagreeing with his party. He understandably would prefer to do neither and this apparently is the foundation of his opposition to reapportionment this year.

Not Pursued

The governor's desire to keep out of the issue publicly took this form at a news conference this week:

The governor was asked whether he thought there was an imbalance in rural representation in the Legislature.

"Of course," he said, "that would be a qualitative, judgmental question and you would have to describe your own feeling as to the basic law from 1886...."

The question was not pursued.

$72,914 Allotted As County's Share Of Vehicle Taxes

Ulster County will receive $72,914.90 as its share of the distribution of $5,903,170.58 of motor vehicle tax receipts, an increase of $15,718.83 over last year, it was announced today by the State Department of Audit and Control.

New York City's share of the total is $1,952,653.48.

Last year during this quarter ending December 31, 1960, Ulster was allotted $57,196.07.

The total is the share of state-collected motor vehicle fees for the three months ending December 31,1961, which is being returned to the counties in accordance with the state highway law.

The law provides that 25 per cent of the fees collected under the vehicle and traffic law, exclusive of application fees and service charge for special plates, from residents of the counties be returned to local government.

The money is deposited by counties in the county road funds, from which expenditures for construction and maintenance of county road systems are made. The money paid to the City of New York is to be credited to the city's general fund for construction and maintenance of city streets, highways and parkways. Checks are being mailed to the county fiscal officers and to the treasurer of the City of New York.

Computations estimate odds against making a hole-in-one in golf at 14,937 to 1.

Along Capitol Corridors

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Deep concern over their party and personal political futures is the basis of the intense feeling involved in a Republican dispute over legislative reapportionment.

While the issue may seem a technical and remote one to most residents, GOP leaders are viewing it in terms of retaining control of the Legislature at next November's election.

Two Have It Out

An indication of the emotions involved came this week when GOP State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse and Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney clashed over the issue in front of Gov. Rockefeller.

The powerful Senate leader charged Morhouse with using slanted questions in a poll, which, Morhouse said, showed that GOP county leaders opposed reapportionment this year.

Sources close to Mahoney said he had been informed that many leaders had not been asked directly whether they favored or opposed reapportionment but whether they would favor it if it would hurt Rockefeller's chances of re-election.

Legislative reapportionment is being planned to reflect population changes shown by the 1960 federal census.

South Avoids Hearts' Poison

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

North's jump to three spades was a terrific overbid. He had forced South to bid and while he did have a nice informative double a simple raise to two spades would have done full justice to his hand.

On the other hand, South's rebid to game was fully justified. His trumps were weak, but he had the ace-queen of diamonds and a singleton club.

West opened the king of hearts and shifted to the king of clubs afer East dropped the four spot. A heart continuation would have beaten the hand and even with the club shift, South had to use perfect technique to bring home the bacon.

He took the ace of clubs, ruffed a club, led a trump to dummy's ace, ruffed a third club, returned to dummy with the king of diamonds, ruffed dummy's last club, entered dummy again with the jack of diamonds, led a second trump from dummy and conceded two trump tricks.

What was so perfect about his technique? It was that he carefully refused to trump a heart in dummy at any time. If he had trumped one heart he would have been unable to lead that second trump at the finish and East and West would have collected three trump tricks.

Heart Fund Benefits From Dance, Social In Church Hall

A benefit dance and penny social planned and carried out by a group of Ulster Park neighbors resulted in a $91 donation to the Ulster County Heart Chapter, it was revealed today by Franklin H. Hazard, chapter chairman.

The event was held February 24 at the Sacred Heart Church Hall, Esopus, which was made available through the Rev. Joseph A. Wall, C.Ss.R. Music for dancing was furnished by Floyd Barringer and his orchestra.

The committee in charge of the event consisted of the Mmes. James Gregory, chairman; Rudolph Romberg, Leonard Mott, Jack Travis, Floyd Barringer and Howard Bauer. The committee members also served refreshments.

The chairman, Mrs. Gregory, expressed appreciation to the many area residents who contributed their efforts toward the benefit dance and those who gave items for the penny social and food for refreshments.

Funds given to the 1962 Heart Fund will help carry on the "three-way attack" on heart disease through research, education and community service programs.

HOW TO SERVE OTHERS—The Sisterhood of Girl Scouting joins forces to learn how to serve others. An American Senior Girl Scout, left, and Girl Guide Rangers from the Union of South Africa, center, and Mexico, right, are taught physical therapy techniques by an expert from the New York University—Bellevue Medical Center, Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation. Such training enables Girl Scouts to perform vitally needed service in their communities, and helps them, at the same time, explore socially useful vocations. (Girl Scout photo)

LEARNING FIRST AID IN 1912 — Back in 1912 when Girl Scouting was in its infancy, 'nice' young girls seldom concerned themselves with the world outside their own homes. But not the 'nice' young girls who became Girl Scouts. They learned first aid, as this picture shows, so that they would be prepared to help others. These advanced young ladies also learned knot tying, camping skills, so they would be self-reliant and helpful under all circumstances. Service to others was and is, today, one of the cornerstones of Girl Scouting. (Girl Scout photo)

Girl Scouting Today and 50 Years Ago Records Many Changes; World Wide Interest

By DOROTHY A. NAREL
Freeman Society Editor

Fifty years ago, a nice young lady was expected to faint at the sight of a mouse. Her most strenuous exercise was a sedate walk down Main Street. Her work was bounded, for the most part, by the walls of her home.

Today, a nice young lady may stand before a microphone and tell a rapt audience of 8,000 adults about the role of the teenager in our society. She may even, while still in school, earn enough money to buy her own clothes, to help pay her way through college. She may cross oceans and continents and live and work with young people she may never have met before.

A remarkable Southern gentlewoman with a new idea helped to bring about the revolutionary change in the status of the American girl. Her name was Juliette Gordon Lowe. Her idea was Girl Scouting, which she began in the United States on March 12, 1912, when she organized the first troop of Girl Scouts in her home town, Savannah, Ga.

Fifty years have passed since that day. The movement in this country has grown from one troop of 12 girls in one city to a total of almost three and one-half million members organized into 166,000 troops with 2,685,000 girls in every city and town in each of the 50 states and possessions of the United States, and in 49 foreign countries where American girls live with their families. A devoted army of 769,000 men and women helps to assure that Girl Scouting will be available to the girls who want to be members of the largest organization serving girls in the free world, we learn from the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A.

Sold Liberty Bonds

In a brief 50 years, some 18 and one-half million Americans have been members of Girl Scouts of the U.S.A.—and have made it a beloved American symbol and tradition.

It was daring, indeed, for a girl in 1912 to play a vigorous game of basketball, clad in midi and calf-length bloomers; to go hiking in the woods; to camp out under the stars; to sell "Liberty Bonds."

It is daring, today, for a group of girls to go into the wilderness, without adults, and to live for a week only on what they can back-pack; to go off to Puerto Rico to work in camps for underprivileged children; to learn to man ships and to fly planes, and to organize libraries in communities where none existed before.

Definitions of daring change with the times. Fashions change with the times. The trim little Girl Scout in brown or green, her chick older sister in jewel-tone green slim skirt and jacket and perky hat are a far cry from the girl in baggy khaki or navy blue.

Girl Scouting was and is for all girls between the ages of seven through 17. The only requirement for membership remains willingness to take and try to live the Girl Scout Promise, "On my honor, I will try: To do my duty to God and my country, To help other people at all times, To obey the Girl Scout Laws."

Purpose Outlined

The animating purpose of Girl Scouting was and is to help girls become happy, resourceful, creative citizens willing and able to serve others in their homes, their communities, their country and the world.

Today, there are a number of organizations which help girls with social, physical, or mental handicaps enjoy activities side by side with their more fortunate sisters. This reflects new and advanced thinking. But not in Girl Scouting. For the first troop of handicapped girls was organized in June, 1917, and met in Public School 75 in New York City.

Today, there are many organizations which send American youngsters abroad and bring foreign youngsters to these shores to help bring about mutual understanding and respect. Girl Scouting does so, too, and has been doing so since 1932. In the last six years, Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. has served as hostess to almost 700 international Guides/Scouts and has sent almost 1,000 American Girl Scouts abroad to 51 countries.

Today, it is clearly understood that young people should learn to work in groups democratically to prepare them for full and active citizenship. In Girl Scouting, this has been standard practice for 50 years.

Today, Wing Scouts learn aerodynamics, navigation, the complicated instrument panel of the modern aircraft. But Juliette Low wrote the qualifications for an aviation badge in 1913, only 10 years after the historic flight at Kitty Hawk.

As Girl Scouting moves into its second half century, it will continue to keep pace with the changes which promise to reshape our world. It will do so, naturally within the framework of its ethical convictions.

Music Executives Institute Planned By Rochester Univ.

A new program, the Music Executives' Institute, will be given July 16-27 at the summer session of the Eastman School of Music, University of Rochester, this summer to present and explore the various problems related to the operation of an educational program in the field of music.

The institute is open to deans, directors or chairmen of departments of music, schools of music, or conservatories, faculty members who want training in the field of music administration, and graduate students in music at the doctoral level.

Dr. Earl Moore, dean emeritus of the University of Michigan School of Music and chairman of the Commission on Curricula, National Association of Schools of Music, will be coordinator of the institute. The faculty will include Dr. Howard Anderson, former provost of the University of Rochester, now senior consulting editor of Houghton Mifflin Company, Dr. Vincent Duckles, president of the Music Library Association and music librarian of the University of California, Henry Steinway, president of the Steinway Piano Company and Richard Bosse, president of the National Association of Band Instrument Manufacturers.

Topics will include institutional purpose and administrative structure, accreditation of institutions, philosophy and objectives of music departments or schools, curricula, institutional finance and its impact on the educational program, physical plant, the music library and public relations.

An expanded program in the composition department will also be given at the Eastman School summer session. The resident faculty will include Wayne Barlow and Bernard Rogers, both regular faculty members in the Composition Department of the Eastman School, Herbert Elwell, composer and music critic of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, and Henry Cowell, composer and lecturer on contemporary music at the New School for Social Research and Columbia University. Special guest composers are George Rochberg, chairman of the music department at the University of Pennsylvania, and Burrill Phillips, composer and teacher at the University of Illinois.

The third Saxophone Institute July 2-13 under direction of the distinguished saxophonist, Sigurd Rascher, also will be expanded this year. Mr. Rascher will be in residence at the school for six weeks.

A new Harp Workshop under the direction of Eileen Malone, of the Eastman School faculty, will also be conducted July 16-20.

Her idea was Girl Scouting, which she began in the United States on March 12, 1912, when she organized the first troop of Girl Scouts in her home town, Savannah, Ga.

Fifty years have passed since that day. The movement in this country has grown from one troop of 12 girls in one city to a total of almost three and one-half million members organized into 166,000 troops with 2,685,000 girls in every city and town in each of the 50 states and possessions of the United States, and in 49 foreign countries where American girls live with their families. A devoted army of 769,000 men and women helps to assure that Girl Scouting will be available to the girls who want to be members of the largest organization serving girls in the free world, we learn from the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A.

Sold Liberty Bonds

In a brief 50 years, some 18 and one-half million Americans have been members of Girl Scouts of the U.S.A.—and have made it a beloved American symbol and tradition.

It was daring, indeed, for a girl in 1912 to play a vigorous game of basketball, clad in middy and calf-length bloomers; to go hiking in the woods; to camp out under the stars; to sell "Liberty Bonds."

It is daring, today, for a group of girls to go into the wilderness, without adults, and to live for a week only on what they can back-pack; to go off to Puerto Rico to work in camps for underprivileged children; to learn to man ships and to fly planes, and to organize libraries in communities where none existed before.

Definitions of daring change with the times. Fashions change with the times. The trim little Girl Scout in brown or green, her chick older sister in jewel-tone green slim skirt and jacket and perky hat are a far cry from the girl in baggy khaki or navy blue.

Girl Scouting was and is for all girls between the ages of seven through 17. The only requirement for membership remains willingness to take and try to live the Girl Scout Promise, "On my honor, I will try: To do my duty to God and my country, To help other people at all times, To obey the Girl Scout Laws."

Purpose Outlined

The animating purpose of Girl Scouting was and is to help girls become happy, resourceful, creative citizens willing and able to serve others in their homes, their communities, their country and the world.

Today, there are a number of organizations which help girls with social, physical, or mental handicaps enjoy activities side by side with their more fortunate sisters. This reflects new and advanced thinking. But not in Girl Scouting. For the first troop of handicapped girls was organized in June, 1917, and met in Public School 75 in New York City.

Today, there are many organizations which send American youngsters abroad and bring foreign youngsters to these shores to help bring about mutual understanding and respect. Girl Scouting does so, too, and has been doing so since 1932. In the last six years, Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. has served as hostess to almost 700 international Guides/Scouts and has sent almost 1,000 American Girl Scouts abroad to 51 countries.

Today, it is clearly understood that young people should learn to work in groups democratically to prepare them for full and active citizenship. In Girl Scouting, this has been standard practice for 50 years.

Today, Wing Scouts learn aerodynamics, navigation, the complicated instrument panel of the modern aircraft. But Juliette Low wrote the qualifications for an aviation badge in 1913, only 10 years after the historic flight at Kitty Hawk.

As Girl Scouting moves into its second half century, it will continue to keep pace with the changes which promise to reshape our world. It will do so, naturally within the framework of its ethical convictions.

Suppers

Franklin Street Church

The Senior Choir of the Franklin Street AME Zion Church will serve a Maggie and Jigg's supper on Saturday in the church dining room from 5-8 p. m.

Public is invited.

Shandaken Reformed Church

The annual fair and supper sponsored by the Ladies' Sewing Circle of the Shandaken Reformed Church, Mt. Tremper, will be held July 25. A food sale will be held on July 7.

Music Executives Institute Planned By Rochester Univ.

A new program, the Music Executives' Institute, will be given July 16-27 at the summer session of the Eastman School of Music, University of Rochester, this summer to present and explore the various problems related to the operation of an educational program in the field of music.

The institute is open to deans, directors or chairmen of departments of music, schools of music, or conservatories, faculty members who want training in the field of music administration, and graduate students in music at the doctoral level.

Dr. Earl Moore, dean emeritus of the University of Michigan School of Music and chairman of the Commission on Curricula, National Association of Schools of Music, will be coordinator of the institute. The faculty will include Dr. Howard Anderson, former provost of the University of Rochester, now senior consulting editor of Houghton Mifflin Company, Dr. Vincent Duckles, president of the Music Library Association and music librarian of the University of California, Henry Steinway, president of the Steinway Piano Company and Richard Bosse, president of the National Association of Band Instrument Manufacturers.

Topics will include institutional purpose and administrative structure, accreditation of institutions, philosophy and objectives of music departments or schools, curricula, institutional finance and its impact on the educational program, physical plant, the music library and public relations.

An expanded program in the composition department will also be given at the Eastman School summer session. The resident faculty will include Wayne Barlow and Bernard Rogers, both regular faculty members in the Composition Department of the Eastman School, Herbert Elwell, composer and music critic of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, and Henry Cowell, composer and lecturer on contemporary music at the New School for Social Research and Columbia University. Special guest composers are George Rochberg, chairman of the music department at the University of Pennsylvania, and Burrill Phillips, composer and teacher at the University of Illinois.

The third Saxophone Institute July 2-13 under direction of the distinguished saxophonist, Sigurd Rascher, also will be expanded this year. Mr. Rascher will be in residence at the school for six weeks.

A new Harp Workshop under the direction of Eileen Malone, of the Eastman School faculty, will also be conducted July 16-20.

This March is an economically sound time to step up the use of beef for daily menus and to buy beef to stock the freezer. February and March are generally the low-priced months of the year for beef. And this year the abundance has lowered prices for some cuts more than usual.

Some shoppers favor one store over another because of their satisfaction with the meats sold, according to a recent market study. Reliance on a particular store may serve as a buying guide if you know the store consistently stocks the quality of beef you prefer.

The discriminating customer can forecast to some extent the desirability of a beef cut by noting its appearance. This skill helps particularly when buying from self service counters. Signs to look for include:

A large amount of meat in proportion to bone.

A covering of firm, creamy-white fat.

Firm, fine-textured lean.

Lean of a uniform bright color —light red to deep red.

Streaks of fat through the lean, called marbling.

Red porous bones.

Federal grading of beef began in 1927 and by 1958 applied to half of all commercially produced beef. The grading program is voluntary.

Beef within each federal grade must meet certain standards, such as the amount and character of fat, texture and color of the lean, and color and character of the bones. Trained graders of the U. S. Department of Agriculture judge the meat. The standards they apply are uniform throughout the country.

Usually only the three top official government grades for beef — U.S. Prime, U.S. Choice, and U.S. Good — appear in retail stores. About 5 per cent of all beef grades U.S. Prime, the top grade. U.S. Choice accounts for about 60 per cent of all graded beef; U.S. Good, for somewhat more than 25 per cent.

Federal grades appear as a purple ribbon-like stamp of a series of shields on wholesale cuts. To be official, the grade term inside each must have U.S. in front of it. Sometimes shoppers will see the grade stamp, although often it is lost in the cutting. If you do not see the grade mark when you shop, ask the market manager whether he carries U.S. graded beef.

Many meat packers have brand names that identify quality. Each has his own terms to describe quality from high to low. Brand names differ from packer to packer and for different qualities from any one. Shoppers experience in trying different quality levels is the main help in selecting brands for particular uses.

As important as checking beef quality when you buy is selecting the cut suitable to the cooking method you intend. In general, dry heat methods of cooking — roasting, broiling, and pan-broiling — apply to tender cuts. Moist heat methods — braising and cooking in liquid — apply to less tender cuts.

For instance, shoppers who want a roast for braising should choose a different cut from those who want one for oven roasting.

Since retail prices for beef are currently favorable, freezer owners may want to restock before the spring and summer seasonal price increases. Here are some guides for successful freezing recommended by the New York State College of Home Economics:

Choose good quality beef to freeze. Freezing does not improve the quality of any food, but properly frozen beef compares favorably with the fresh in color, flavor, texture, and nutritive value.

Packages of fresh beef as purchased in retail stores are not suitably wrapped for freezing.

Before freezing rewrap these products in moisture-vapor-resistant packaging material.

Remove as many bones from beef as possible, because they take up valuable freezer space and because research has shown that bones do not enhance the flavor of meat.

Before packaging, pad any sharp points of bones with several folds of polyethylene or other freezer wrapping material to prevent punctures in the wrapping.

Package ground beef, unsalted, in bulk or formed into patties in amounts suitable for the family's use. Salt hastens the development of rancidity of the fat in frozen beef.

Place two layers of freezer wrapping materials between slices of beef or beef patties for frying or broiling. This will facilitate thawing and separation of the pieces. Steaks will thaw faster if packaged flat rather than rolled or folded.

Zero or lower is the best temperature for storing frozen beef. Maximum recommended storage times for several cuts follow:

Beef steaks or roasts—9 to 12 months; beef liver—3 to 4 months.

At the Markets

Turkey is featured on the Plentiful Foods List for April for the Northeast, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Shoppers who plan holiday feasts for Passover or Easter will be wise to consider turkey as the main attraction.

Turkey—Stocks of frozen turkeys abound. As of February 1 over 253 million pounds of turkey were in cold storage, an increase of 47 per cent over last year. Turkey prices have continued low since last summer. Small turkeys have been retailing at 10 cents a pound less than a year ago, and large ones have been 4 cents a pound less. Turkey specials are likely during April, particularly near the holiday period.

Americans like turkey the year around. In 1961 our use of turkey, on the average, reached an all-time high of 7.7 pounds per person, a 22 per cent gain over 1960.

Eggs—Spring is the buy time for eggs. Markets will feature plentiful supplies, and prices will taper to their annual low. The seasonal price decline is under way, with lower prices likely during April and May.

Potatoes—Potatoes are exceptionally abundent and reasonably priced. February 1 stocks were record large, 11 per cent above a year earlier.

Canned Freestone Peaches—Stocks of canned California freestone peaches on January 1 were heavy. Watch for canned peach specials in the coming months.

Milk and Dairy Products—Milk production will be approaching its seasonal peak during April. Supplies of milk and other dairy products will be heavy. Team dairy products with other April plentifuls—canned freestone peaches and cottage cheese, or baked potatoes topped with sour cream or grated cheese.

Other Plentifuls—Honey, vegetable fats and oils.

Smorgasbord Plans Are Being Made by Sons of Norway

Hudson Valley Lodge No. 432, Sons of Norway, held its regular monthly meeting at the Elks Hall Saturday, March 10. Plans for the annual smorgasbord to be held May 12 were discussed. This year it will be held at a larger hall, the Yacht Club, with music for dancing by Johnny Michaels. Mrs. Ann Olsen is in charge of tickets, which will be available through the members.

The Lodge welcomed Mr. and Mrs. Anders Thorsvik and Mr. and Mrs. Audun Thorsvik of Rhinebeck who were transferred to this lodge from Brooklyn Lodge No. 243.

Herman E. Nielsen and Knute S. Brautaseth, members of Faerder Lodge, Brooklyn, made an appeal for aid to the Norwegian Children's Home. Last year a summer home was obtained and opened at Mt. Tremper, but renovations were necessary and some are incomplete. The local lodge members volunteered to donate time and materials to renovate the nursery at the children's home which is property formerly owned by members, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Mellevold. This work is to be completed any time before the summer season. Members are to contact Olav Norman for details.

A social hour followed the business meeting and refreshments were served.

COLLECTING CHARITY FOR FRIEND

Q: Several months ago the husband of a very dear friend passed away after a long illness, leaving her with three small children. His illness drained their savings and I know she is struggling to make ends meet. I would like to give a card party at a local hall and sell tickets to all her friends and relatives as well as mine, turning the proceeds over to her. I would very much like to know what you think of this idea and whether or not it would be proper.

A: While your intention is very kind, I would not advise your doing anything about this without first discussing it with her, as she might seriously resent being made the recipient of charity.

Q: I am receiving wedding presents from people who are strangers to me but who, of course, are friends of my fiance's family. When writing thank-you notes for these, should I include my fiance in the message of appreciation? All these packages were addressed to me alone.

A: It is always proper to make some mention of his appreciation when the present is to be used by you both together. Adding his thanks to yours is, moreover, particularly thoughtful when the present is sent by someone who is also—or only—a friend of his. "John and I are both delighted with the meat platter," etc.

Q: Does one have to buy an item that typifies a particular wedding anniversary—such as something in silver for a 25th wedding anniversary or gold for a 50th anniversary? Don't you think it would make more sense to buy something you know for sure would be more acceptable, regardless of what year they are celebrating?

A: I certainly agree that it makes more sense to buy something you know the anniversary couple will like rather than something they would not like, just because it typifies the particular anniversary.

COLLECTING CHARITY FOR FRIEND

Q: Several months ago the husband of a very dear friend passed away after a long illness, leaving her with three small children. His illness drained their savings and I know she is struggling to make ends meet. I would like to give a card party at a local hall and sell tickets to all her friends and relatives as well as mine, turning the proceeds over to her. I would very much like to know what you think of this idea and whether or not it would be proper.

A: While your intention is very kind, I would not advise your doing anything about this without first discussing it with her, as she might seriously resent being made the recipient of charity.

Q: I am receiving wedding presents from people who are strangers to me but who, of course, are friends of my fiance's family. When writing thank-you notes for these, should I include my fiance in the message of appreciation? All these packages were addressed to me alone.

A: It is always proper to make some mention of his appreciation when the present is to be used by you both together. Adding his thanks to yours is, moreover, particularly thoughtful when the present is sent by someone who is also—or only—a friend of his. "John and I are both delighted with the meat platter," etc.

Q: Does one have to buy an item that typifies a particular wedding anniversary—such as something in silver for a 25th wedding anniversary or gold for a 50th anniversary? Don't you think it would make more sense to buy something you know for sure would be more acceptable, regardless of what year they are celebrating?

A: I certainly agree that it makes more sense to buy something you know the anniversary couple will like rather than something they would not like, just because it typifies the particular anniversary.

Career Day at KHS Set for March 27; Speaker Is Named

Mrs. Arnold Pinsly and Dr. Herbert Derman have announced final plans for the Career Day Conference to be held for the junior class of Kingston High School on Tuesday, March 27. The conference is being sponsored by the Kingston Chapter and Lodge of B'nai B'rith, with the co-operation of the high school. Assisting Mrs. Pinsly and Dr. Derman are Mrs. Edwin Kalish, personnel chairman; Mrs. Robert Ronder, chairman of programming, and Mrs. Seymour Semilof, publicity chairman.

The program will begin with a convocation at which time the overall program and its objectives will be explained to the class. M. Clifford Miller, principal of Kingston High School, has announced that a speaker representing the school will welcome the pupils and offer introductory remarks. David Kline, president of B'nai B'rith Men, will briefly discuss the organization's vocational service program and its value to the students.

Mr. Kline will then introduce Mayor John Schwenk who will address the group. The highlights of the convocation will be a keynote address by Joseph Brill, a prominent attorney known for his dynamic and provocative presentations. Mr. Brill will elucidate on the theme of the program "Youth Seeks Its Place in the Space Age."

Following the general assembly, the group will disperse into various workshops dealing with varied vocational areas.

We The Women

Her Voice: Instrument Of Charm or Grossness

RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

An expert on speech points out that while most of us take our speaking voices for granted, never bothering to try and hear just how our own voices sound to others, with "one anxious, tense, harsh phrase the voice can destroy an illusion."

Since we've all heard other women's voices stridently or whiningly or cruelly destroying illusions maybe we all ought to try listening to our own with more attention. Especially should a woman listen to her own voice, when she's:

In a group of women and is determined to hold forth on a pet topic. Then it is that her voice becomes loud, arrogant and opinionated.

Annoyed with a child and her voice sounds mean and bullying.

Trying to impress someone who is serving her and her voice becomes cooly arrogant.

Annoyed and resorts to sarcasm and her voice is thick with superiority.

In such a hurry that her voice shows impatience or irritability at being bothered.

Disinterested in a conversation and her voice sounds flat, dull, and listless.

Runing someone down or ridiculing another person and her voice sounds gleefully vindictive.

Most women can make their voices soft and pleasant when they are on their best behavior. And that is how they think they sound all of the time.

But a little listening to themselves would convince most women there are times when their own voices can and often do make them sound like the kind of person they never want anyone to credit them with being.

Mother Is Slain As Two Children Watch in Fright

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (AP) — A massive search was under way today for the killer who shot down a Bartlesville area housewife Wednesday, apparently while two of her children watched in fright.

Police think the victim, Bertha Bartholemew, 39, surprised a burglar in her farm home. She and the children were kidnaped but the children were released unharmed.

Authorities have picked up at least one person for questioning.

Three-year-old Martin Bartholemew, tugging the hand of his 19-month-old sister, Leslie Ann, led a motorist to his mother's body in a barn near Ponca City, 70 miles west of here. She had been shot once in the head.

The motorist, attorney W. W. Rodgers of Blackwell, Okla., said the children were a little tired, scratched, dirty and chilled when he found them walking along a hazardous section of Oklahoma Highway 11, about nine miles north of Ponca City near the Oklahoma-Kansas border.

Marcia Brown Is Named Again for Caldecott Medal

A former Kingston woman—Miss Marcia Brown, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Clarence E. Brown of 106A Fairmont Avenue—shared recognition today with another author following their selection as winners of the Newbery and Caldecott Medals.

The awards are made annually for the most distinguished children's books published in the previous year.

Naming of Miss Brown and Elizabeth Speare for the medals by the American Library Association was the first time in the history of the ALA that two previous winners were selected again.

A unanimous vote of the judges is necessary before former winners can be designated a second time.

Miss Brown was named winner of the Randolph Caldecott Medal, awarded since 1938 to the artist of the year's most distinguished American picture book, for her endeavor, Once A Mouse, published by Charles Scribner's Sons of New York City.

The John Newbery Medal, given annually since 1922 for the most distinguished contributions to American literature for children went to Elizabeth Speare for the Bronze Bow, published by the Houghton Mifflin Co., of Boston, Mass.

Miss Brown was honored in 1956 with the Caldecott medal for her Cinderella, also published by Scribner while Mrs. Speare's earlier Newbery award was for her book, The Witch of Blackbird Pond.

Marcia Brown, who now resides in New York City, was graduated from Kingston High School and State University College, Albany. She served as librarian at New York City Library for two years.

An exhibit of Miss Brown's books was arranged at Kingston Library last month by Mrs. William D. Markle, librarian. A 1961 exhibit of Miss Brown's work included original drawings loaned to Kingston Library by her publisher, according to Arnold Sable, library director.

Chichester

CHICHESTER—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bush left Sunday to spend two weeks with their son and family, S/Sgt. and Mrs. Evern Bush in Fairfield, Calif.

Mrs. Hazel Gale of Kingston has rented the former Martin Johnson house.

Mrs. Donald Ballard and children of Poughkeepsie visited Mr. and Mrs. Harold Quick Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Decker of Roxbury and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shultis were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Addison Jones, Kingston, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sweet of Roxbury and his sister, Mrs. Ethel Quick of Prattsville, visited Mr. and Mrs. Herman Quick and family and Mr. and Mrs. George Sweet Jr. and family Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Nickolas and family of Washington, D. C., were weekend guests of her mother, Mrs. Natalie Adams.

Birthdays this month include Edward Grant, March 10; Ben Simmons, March 12; Mrs. John Johnson, March 17; Mrs. Neil Grant, March 18; Mrs. Mabel Conklin, Terry and Tommy Pepper, March 20, and Mrs. Orlando Clark, March 21.

Charles Spanhake of Wittenberg visited Mr. and Mrs. George Sweet and family Sunday.

The Chichester Wesleyan Methodist Church is having a contest from March 18 through April 29, March to Sunday Shool in March. Credits will be given for being on time, bringing a Bible, staying for worship service, bringing new members, attendance, learning memory verses, wearing Sunday school pin, and drawing a poster. Posters must be turned in March 18.

Mr. and Mrs. William DeKoskie Jr. and son William of Poughkeepsie, Mr. and Mrs. William DeKoskie Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley of Kingston were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Barbara Caton and son William. They all spoke over the phone to relatives in Wisconsin.

The regular monthly meeting of the Helping Hands Missionary Society will be held at the home of Mrs. Albert Kirk, Phoenicia, Monday 7:45 p. m.

John Meister Sr. of Margaretville spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. George Meister and family Sunday Mr. and Mrs. George Meister and children went to Hartford, Conn. to bring Mrs. Ellen Dunham home.

Miss Helen Bennett and brother Earl visited a cousin in New Paltz Thursday.

The regular monthly meeting of the Stony Clove Rod and Gun Club will be held Saturday evening in the clubhouse, Lanesville.

Tribute to Hammerstein

NEW YORK (AP)—An array of top stars will participate in a musical tribute to Oscar Hammerstein II at Broadway's 46th Street Theater on April 8. The program, a cross-section of shows and songs for which Hammerstein provided the words, is to be staged and directed by John Fearnley. Performers are to include Mary Martin, Helen Hayes, Bette Davis, Celeste Holm, Shirley Jones, Martha Wright, Dennis King, Barbara Cook, William Tabbert and Elaine Stritch. Hammerstein's widow is honorary chairman of the event. He died in August

RALLY 'ROUND THE MILLBROOK BREAD-BOX

We're tooting our tuba (and tapping our glockenspiel) over the great reception you've given Millbrook's new Miracle-Mix Bread! Know the secret of its  oven-fresh flavor? A brand new baking method. Unlike ordinary bread that's still made from heavy dough, Millbrook is baked from light batter that's blended in small batches. Blending banishes the air holes that speed drying out in ordinary bread, gives Miracle-Mix "Longer Bread-box Life". Packed with full bread nourishment, too, and it doesn't cost a penny more! Next time you buy bread, look for this end seal with the arrow—so you're sure you're getting genuine Millbrook new Miracle-Mix.

RALLY ROUND THE MILLBROOK BREAD-BOX

We're tooting our tuba (and tapping our glockenspiel) over the great reception you've given Millbrook's new Miracle-Mix Bread! Know the secret of its  oven-fresh flavor? A brand new baking method. Unlike ordinary bread that's still made from heavy dough, Millbrook is baked from light batter that's blended in small batches. Blending banishes the air holes that speed drying out in ordinary bread, gives Miracle-Mix "Longer Bread-box Life". Packed with full bread nourishment, too, and it doesn't cost a penny more! Next time you buy bread, look for this end seal with the arrow—so you're sure you're getting genuine Millbrook new Miracle-Mix.

SCHOLASTIC CORNER

By ED PALLADINO

Onteora Central School, which is growing by leaps and bounds, will have a new vice principal come Fall and nobody deserves the promotion more than Eddie Witko, the youthful athletic director.

Witko's promotion was made official at a recent meeting of the School Board. It's a reward for Eddie, who has done real well in the athletic field, both as a coach and as an athletic director.

WHO GETS THE JOB?

Finding someone to replace Witko's shoes will be the next duties of the School Board. Onteora is no longer a small country school. It promises, in a few years, to be better than the Class C school it is now (Class C meaning in enrollment).

A new athletic director will have a big job to do. The duties are great and the responsibility is heavy. We hope the officials hire a capable administrator, one as good as Witko, if that's possible.

DR. WOLBERS, THE AUTHOR

Dr. Charles P. Wolbers, former athletic director at the State University College of Education at New Paltz, has a story in a recent issue of Jopher, a journal of health, physical education and recreation. The story, as you might have guessed, is on tennis, a subject of which Dr. Wolbers is well versed.

He writes about the popular growth of tennis in the valley, citing the fact that the courts at New Paltz College have been renovated, lights have been installed and a backboard was added to the tennis area.

The installation of lights for night play has had a tremendous effect on the growth of the game at New Paltz, according to Dr. Wolbers. He writes that the six clay courts are used as late as 10 o'clock at night and sometimes, even longer.

AN INTERESTING CHALLENGE

The author, now a professor of physical education at Pennsylvania State College, East Stroudsburg, concludes that keeping pace with tennis will prove an interesting challenge for the people of New Paltz in the years to come. The college plans to add three more courts to the present set of six. It's apparent that the sport is becoming popular and Dr. Wolbers is the one responsible for the growth.

He fostered the Hudson Valley tournament, was instrumental in getting the DCSL tourney and the State Intercollegiate Athletic Conference tournament into New Paltz. We hope the sport continues to grow and that someone like Dr. Wolbers will devote some time to it.

First Rip Van Winkle Team Race Set Sunday at Roxbury

The first running of the annual Rip Van Winkle Ski Council Team Race will be held Sunday, March 28, at the Roxbury Ski Center.

Competition starts at 11 a. m., with Redmond Wilcox of Wappingers Falls and the Hudson Valley Ski Club serving as race director.

The race is designed to promote friendly competition among area clubs, including the Belleayre Ski Club, Eastern Orange County Ski Club, Hudson Valley Ski Club, Nevasink Ski Club and the Trailsweepers Ski Club of Kingston.

The clubs will strive to win one-year possession of a 30-inch trophy placed in competition in memory of the late Art Draper, a founder of the Rip Van Winkle Ski Council and former manager of the Belleayre and Whiteface Mountain ski areas. Mrs. Lillian Draper, his widow, will present the Arthur Draper Memorial Trophy to the winning club which will retain it until the race is run again the following year.

Team scores will be based on the five best times of its entrants who complete the course. Similar rules will also prevail for the junior skiers whose winning team will be presented with the Von der Linden's Gold Cup. This cup may be retired by the club when its juniors have won the race three times. In addition to team trophies, the best individual competitors will be awarded medals regardless of the team they represent.

All Games Set For Auditorium; Finals on Apr. 15

Thursday, March 29, has been set as the opening date for the ninth annual Kingston Basketball Tournament. The tourney, sponsored by the Kingston Recreation Dept., will be held on the evenings of March 29 and April 3, 5, 9, 13, and 15 with all games taking place at the Municipal Auditorium.

As in the past, the tournament will be a single elimination affair with one defeat removing a team from further competition. Basketball rules for the 1961-62 season will be used and clubs will play four quarters of 10 minutes each and as many overtimes as are needed.

Players must be strictly amateurs and known professionals are barred from playing.

Four team trophies and individual trophies to the members of the winning team will be awarded at the conclusion of the tourney. There will also be a trophy for the Most Valuable Player, and for the high scorer.

Entries will close March 23, at noon and pairings will be made the following day.

Andy Murphy, Superintendent of Recreation, is the tournament coordinator and Ed Palladino, sports writer for the Kingston Daily Freeman, is tournament manager.

Uhl Scores 41 Points In Y Loop

Jumpin' Joe Uhl popped 41 points to pace Trailways Cafeteria to a 83-75 come from behind victory over Baliton in the YMCA basketball league Wednesday night.

In other games, Joe's Atlantic edged Van's Essos, 57-52, Hub trounced Glotzl's, 74-50, in the battle of the delicatessens.

Uhl meshed 18 baskets and added five free throws. Trailways trailed Baliton, 18-11, at the quarter but pulled ahead 37-34 at the half. Lee Roberts paced the losers with 20 points.

Joe Tremper of Joe's Atlantic and Tony Causa of Van's hit 17 points each. Don Komosa's 24 points, runnerup for the night, eased Hub's win over Glotzl. Eric Broberg and Jack Hawkins tied with 16 each for the losers.

National League Plans Sixth Team; Votes to Incorporate

National Little League of Kingston has voted to incorporate and is in the process of adding a sixth team, league president Emillio Primo said today.

The league decided at its last meeting to incorporate and all necessary steps and papers have been drawn. Meanwhile, the league has been in contact with a newly located firm in the area as sponsor for the sixth team. Prospects look good at the moment.

During the week of March 19, Park Director Jim Carlson will start the work of putting lime on the baseball diamond and in April will spread a half ton of lawn food which he hopes will provide thicker and greener turf for the 1962 season.

The league with the purchase of added insurance this year expects its boys and personnel to be one of the best covered in the valley, another of the National League's forward looks.

A date for registration for all boys in April will be announced shortly. All boys wishing to register at that time must this year be accompanied by a parent. It is requested that fathers make every effort possible to accompany their sons to the registration period.

The vandalism caused by unknown persons on the building and toilet facilities at the park last fall will be repaired in time for the seasonal opening through the efforts of plumbing inspector Charles Kelley and colleagues for which the league is most grateful.

Attorney Hubert Richter, district director of Little League, assisted the league in its preparation of incorporation papers and other legal transactions.

Chamberlain Hits 4,029 For All-Time NBA High

CHICAGO (AP)—The Philadelphia Warriors' incomparable Wilt Chamberlain has wound up the regular National Basketball Association season with a record of 4,029 points, but he says "it does not mean a thing, if we don't win the title."

Chamberlain popped in 34 points Wednesday night in the Warriors' 119-115 overtime triumph over the Chicago Packers. It was the first time a professional basketball player has ever hit more than 4,000 points in a season. A year ago, Chamberlain was the NBA scoring champion with 3,033 in his second regulation season in pro ball.

In his first year of NBA competition, Chamberlain scored 2,707 points for a 37.6 average.

Three other games Wednesday night ended the regular NBA season. The best-of-5 division semifinals start Friday night with the Syracuse Nationals against the Warriors in Philadelphia in the Eastern Division and the Cincinnati Royals against the Detroit Pistons in Detroit in the Western section.

Winner of the Eastern semifinals meets the Boston Celtics, the division leaders who will be seeking their fourth straight NBA championship. The Western Division winner opposes the Los Angeles Lakers.

Chamberlain's average for the 80-game schedule was just a shade above 50 points. He scored 100 points against the New York Knicks in Hershey, Pa., two weeks ago, but he said he got a bigger kick out of Wednesday night's 34 points which put him over the 4,000 mark.

"It was one of my finest games for the whole year," the 7-foot-1 Chamberlain said. "Not because of the points scored, but because of my defensive play.

"Scoring points has always been the same since the 10th grade in Overbrook High School," Chamberlain said. "But it doesn't mean a thing if we don't win the title."

In other NBA games, the Los Angeles Lakers defeated St. Louis 125-115 and Cincinnati's Royals squeezed out a 136-134 victory over the New York Knicks.

Fast Closing Friars Launch Title Defense

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Providence, which closed with a rush, opens defense of its National Invitation Tournament title tonight at the top of the nation's college basketball program.

The Friars, who had trouble at the first of the season but won 15 of their last 16, will go against Temple in a first round match at Madison Square Garden.

In the other principal activity, quarter-finals are scheduled in the NCAA small college tourney at Evansville, Ind., and in the NAIA tourney at Kansas City.

Eight second-round games in four locations are scheduled in the NCAA major college tourney Friday.

The Friars have a 20-5 record. Temple has a 17-8 record.

The other half of the doubleheader pits Wichita (18-8) and Dayton (20-6). The other first round games will be played Saturday, Colorado State (18-8) vs. Holy Cross (19-5) and Navy (13-7) vs. Duquesne (20-5).

The other four teams in the tourney—Bradley, Houston, Loyola of Chicago and St. John's of New York—were seeded into the quarter-finals.

The NCAA small college affair, which started with 32 teams in eight locations, opens a three-day run in Evansville today.

The quarter-finals match Northeastern (17-7) vs. Southern Illinois (19-9), Mt. St. Mary's (21-6) agaist Wittenberg (21-4), Sacramento State vs. Valparaiso (17-7), and Southeast Missouri (18-6) vs. Nebraska Wesleyan (19-6).

The winners play in the semifinals Friday.

In the NAIA, Southeastern Oklahoma State takes on Ferris Institute (Mich.), Westminster (Pa) goes against Orange State (Calif), Carson-Newman (Tenn.) faces Western Illinois and Arizona State College tries Prairie View A&M of Texas in quarter-finals tonight.

Key games in the NCAA Friday are the first tourney outings of defending champion Cincinnati and powerful Ohio State. Cincinnati, which hopes to repeat its 1961 upset triumph over the Buckeyes, takes a 25-2 record into its match with Creighton (20-4) at Manhattan, Kan. Ohio State (23-1) opens against Western Kentucky at the University of Iowa.

Izaak Waltons Set Celebration

Members of the Ellenville chapter of the Izaak Walton League of America, Inc., a national organization of sportsmen and conservationists, will help celebrate the 40th anniversary of the organization with a dinner for members and guests. The event is slated Wednesday, March 28, at the Elks Club, Napanoch.

Lee Keator, president of the state chapter, will be the guest speaker. Other state officers, directors and officers of other chapters will be honored guests. Reservations are being mailed by dinner committee chairman Elsworth McDole.

The Ellenville chapter, at its last meeting, voted to send two boys to the DeBruce Conservation Camp during a week in August, with all expenses paid.

Dodgers' Davis Boys Hottest Items in Grapefruit League

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie and Tommy Davis, stamped with the can't miss label while they were still teen-agers, have the pennant-hungry Los Angeles Dodgers hoping this is the year the fuzzy-cheeked prospects turn into stubble-chinned stars.

Willie, 23, and Tommy, 22, outfielders who are not related, were the main architects along with rookie Larry Burright of Wednesday's 7-5 victory over Minnesota at Vero Beach, Fla.

Willie, a left-handed swinger who hit only .254 during the 1961 campaign smacked a three-run triple against the Twins and added two singles for 10 hits in 17 at-bats this spring and a gaudy .588 batting average.

Tommy, a right-handed batter with a .278 mark last year, made it two homers in successive days with a solo shot that gave the Dodgers an insurance run in the seventh. Tommy collected a grand slam Tuesday.

Burright, 24, an infielder up from Atlanta where he hit .291, continued his battle for a berth by stroking two singles and a double. He has hit in four straight games and is 7-for-15 over-all for a .467 average.

While the Dodgers' main squad was whipping the Twins, the "B" team used a 4-for-4 performance by Duke Snider and Ken McMullen's two-run homer to beat the New York Mets 9-3.

Yanks Keep Rolling

The world champion New York Yankees remained undefeated by making Kansas City their fifth victim, 4-3 in 11 innings at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., while the National League champion Cincinnati Reds were losing their fourth in five games, 12-1 to Washington at Pompano Beach, Fla.

In other games, Chicago's White Sox edged Milwaukee 4-3 at Sarasota, St. Louis defeated Detroit 4-2 at Lakeland, San Francisco outslugged Los Angeles' Angels 14-11 at Phoenix, Cleveland beat Boston 7-5 in 10 innings at Scottsdale, Pittsburgh trimmed Philadelphia 8-3 at Clearwater and the Chicago Cubs defeated Houston 6-3 at Apache Junction.

Reserve Jack Reed got the job done for the Yankees, beating the A's with a two-out homer in the 11th, after he had brought about a 2-2 tie with a run-scoring single. Ace left-hander Whitey Ford started for the Yanks but left after one inning with a tight shoulder.

The Senators throttled the Reds with an 11-hit attack that included homers by Bob Johnson, Bob Schmidt and Chuck Cottier.

St. Mary's Parish Will Honor Seven CYO Basketball Teams

Seven CYO basketball teams of St. Mary's parish of Kingston will be honored at a testimonial dinner in the school hall, Sunday, March 18, at 6:30 p. m.

Among the teams to be honored are the Tyro I, Jayvees and Varsity which were undefeated and won Ulster County CYO championships and the Junior I squad which took second place in its division.

Special honor will be given to the Varsity team which also won the Beacon Invitational tournament and the Upstate Archdiocesan championships.

Members of the players' families and relatives will also attend the banquet. Andrew Gilday will serve as toastmaster and the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, assistant pastor at St. Mary's and Ulster County CYO moderator, will present the trophies and awards. Joe Bouchard, assistant basketball director, will present the boys with certificates of membership in the St. Mary's CYO Club of Champions.

Leo Schupp, Ulster County CYO director, will speak about CYO activities in the county. John Sullivan, basketball director, will touch on the highlights of the 1961-62 St. Mary's basketball program.

The Rt. Rev. Monsignor Daniel J. Shea, pastor of St. Mary's will also speak briefly to the boys on their successful basketball season. After the presentations, movies of the 1961 World Series will be shown.

Special honor will be given to the Varsity team which also won the Beacon Invitational tournament and the Upstate Archdiocesan championships.

Members of the players' families and relatives will also attend the banquet. Andrew Gilday will serve as toastmaster and the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, assistant pastor at St. Mary's and Ulster County CYO moderator, will present the trophies and awards. Joe Bouchard, assistant basketball director, will present the boys with certificates of membership in the St. Mary's CYO Club of Champions.

Leo Schupp, Ulster County CYO director, will speak about CYO activities in the county. John Sullivan, basketball director, will touch on the highlights of the 1961-62 St. Mary's basketball program.

The Rt. Rev. Monsignor Daniel J. Shea, pastor of St. Mary's will also speak briefly to the boys on their successful basketball season. After the presentations, movies of the 1961 World Series will be shown.

Uhl Scores 41 Points In Y Loop

Jumpin' Joe Uhl popped 41 points to pace Trailways Cafeteria to a 83-75 come from behind victory over Baliton in the YMCA basketball league Wednesday night.

In other games, Joe's Atlantic edged Van's Essos, 57-52, Hub trounced Glotzl's, 74-50, in the battle of the delicatessens.

Uhl meshed 18 baskets and added five free throws. Trailways trailed Baliton, 18-11, at the quarter but pulled ahead 37-34 at the half. Lee Roberts paced the losers with 20 points.

Joe Tremper of Joe's Atlantic and Tony Causa of Van's hit 17 points each. Don Komosa's 24 points, runnerup for the night, eased Hub's win over Glotzl. Eric Broberg and Jack Hawkins tied with 16 each for the losers.

National League Plans Sixth Team; Votes to Incorporate

National Little League of Kingston has voted to incorporate and is in the process of adding a sixth team, league president Emillio Primo said today.

The league decided at its last meeting to incorporate and all necessary steps and papers have been drawn. Meanwhile, the league has been in contact with a newly located firm in the area as sponsor for the sixth team. Prospects look good at the moment.

During the week of March 19, Park Director Jim Carlson will start the work of putting lime on the baseball diamond and in April will spread a half ton of lawn food which he hopes will provide thicker and greener turf for the 1962 season.

The league with the purchase of added insurance this year expects its boys and personnel to be one of the best covered in the valley, another of the National League's forward looks.

A date for registration for all boys in April will be announced shortly. All boys wishing to register at that time must this year be accompanied by a parent. It is requested that fathers make every effort possible to accompany their sons to the registration period.

The vandalism caused by unknown persons on the building and toilet facilities at the park last fall will be repaired in time for the seasonal opening through the efforts of plumbing inspector Charles Kelley and colleagues for which the league is most grateful.

Attorney Hubert Richter, district director of Little League, assisted the league in its preparation of incorporation papers and other legal transactions.

Chamberlain Hits 4,029 For All-Time NBA High

CHICAGO (AP)—The Philadelphia Warriors' incomparable Wilt Chamberlain has wound up the regular National Basketball Association season with a record of 4,029 points, but he says "it does not mean a thing, if we don't win the title."

Chamberlain popped in 34 points Wednesday night in the Warriors' 119-115 overtime triumph over the Chicago Packers. It was the first time a professional basketball player has ever hit more than 4,000 points in a season. A year ago, Chamberlain was the NBA scoring champion with 3,033 in his second regulation season in pro ball.

In his first year of NBA competition, Chamberlain scored 2,707 points for a 37.6 average.

Three other games Wednesday night ended the regular NBA season. The best-of-5 division semifinals start Friday night with the Syracuse Nationals against the Warriors in Philadelphia in the Eastern Division and the Cincinnati Royals against the Detroit Pistons in Detroit in the Western section.

Winner of the Eastern semifinals meets the Boston Celtics, the division leaders who will be seeking their fourth straight NBA championship. The Western Division winner opposes the Los Angeles Lakers.

Chamberlain's average for the 80-game schedule was just a shade above 50 points. He scored 100 points against the New York Knicks in Hershey, Pa., two weeks ago, but he said he got a bigger kick out of Wednesday night's 34 points which put him over the 4,000 mark.

"It was one of my finest games for the whole year," the 7-foot-1 Chamberlain said. "Not because of the points scored, but because of my defensive play.

"Scoring points has always been the same since the 10th grade in Overbrook High School," Chamberlain said. "But it doesn't mean a thing if we don't win the title."

In other NBA games, the Los Angeles Lakers defeated St. Louis 125-115 and Cincinnati's Royals squeezed out a 136-134 victory over the New York Knicks.

Fast Closing Friars Launch Title Defense

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Providence, which closed with a rush, opens defense of its National Invitation Tournament title tonight at the top of the nation's college basketball program.

The Friars, who had trouble at the first of the season but won 15 of their last 16, will go against Temple in a first round match at Madison Square Garden.

In the other principal activity, quarter-finals are scheduled in the NCAA small college tourney at Evansville, Ind., and in the NAIA tourney at Kansas City.

Eight second-round games in four locations are scheduled in the NCAA major college tourney Friday.

The Friars have a 20-5 record. Temple has a 17-8 record.

The other half of the doubleheader pits Wichita (18-8) and Dayton (20-6). The other first round games will be played Saturday, Colorado State (18-8) vs. Holy Cross (19-5) and Navy (13-7) vs. Duquesne (20-5).

The other four teams in the tourney—Bradley, Houston, Loyola of Chicago and St. John's of New York—were seeded into the quarter-finals.

The NCAA small college affair, which started with 32 teams in eight locations, opens a three-day run in Evansville today.

The quarter-finals match Northeastern (17-7) vs. Southern Illinois (19-9), Mt. St. Mary's (21-6) against Wittenberg (21-4), Sacramento State vs. Valparaiso (17-7), and Southeast Missouri (18-6) vs. Nebraska Wesleyan (19-6).

The winners play in the semifinals Friday.

In the NAIA, Southeastern Oklahoma State takes on Ferris Institute (Mich.), Westminster (Pa) goes against Orange State (Calif), Carson-Newman (Tenn.) faces Western Illinois and Arizona State College tries Prairie View A&M of Texas in quarter-finals tonight.

Key games in the NCAA Friday are the first tourney outings of defending champion Cincinnati and powerful Ohio State. Cincinnati, which hopes to repeat its 1961 upset triumph over the Buckeyes, takes a 25-2 record into its match with Creighton (20-4) at Manhattan, Kan. Ohio State (23-1) opens against Western Kentucky at the University of Iowa.

First Rip Van Winkle Team Race Set Sunday at Roxbury

The first running of the annual Rip Van Winkle Ski Council Team Race will be held Sunday, March 28, at the Roxbury Ski Center.

Competition starts at 11 a. m., with Redmond Wilcox of Wappingers Falls and the Hudson Valley Ski Club serving as race director.

The race is designed to promote friendly competition among area clubs, including the Belleayre Ski Club, Eastern Orange County Ski Club, Hudson Valley Ski Club, Nevasink Ski Club and the Trailsweepers Ski Club of Kingston.

The clubs will strive to win one-year possession of a 30-inch trophy placed in competition in memory of the late Art Draper, a founder of the Rip Van Winkle Ski Council and former manager of the Belleayre and Whiteface Mountain ski areas. Mrs. Lillian Draper, his widow, will present the Arthur Draper Memorial Trophy to the winning club which will retain it until the race is run again the following year.

Team scores will be based on the five best times of its entrants who complete the course. Similar rules will also prevail for the junior skiers whose winning team will be presented with the Von der Linden's Gold Cup. This cup may be retired by the club when its juniors have won the race three times. In addition to team trophies, the best individual competitors will be awarded medals regardless of the team they represent.

Izaak Waltons Set Celebration

Members of the Ellenville chapter of the Izaak Walton League of America, Inc., a national organization of sportsmen and conservationists, will help celebrate the 40th anniversary of the organization with a dinner for members and guests. The event is slated Wednesday, March 28, at the Elks Club, Napanoch.

Lee Keator, president of the state chapter, will be the guest speaker. Other state officers, directors and officers of other chapters will be honored guests. Reservations are being mailed by dinner committee chairman Elsworth McDole.

The Ellenville chapter, at its last meeting, voted to send two boys to the DeBruce Conservation Camp during a week in August, with all expenses paid.

Angie Fondino Wallops All Time Bowlero High of 761

Huge Slam Also Highest Posted In Association

Angie Fondino, who is known as the best substitute bowler in the area, slammed an all-time Bowlero Major League record 761 series Wednesday night.

In a brilliant strike spree, Fondino reeled off games of 238, 266 and 257 to eclipse the former record of 748 set by Dick Howard on Dec. 27, 1961.

Fondino had two open frames —a split and a miss—and closed out his sensational performance with four strikes in a row to achieve the new record.

The 761 is the highest triple rolled in the jurisdiction of the Kingston Bowling Association during the 1961-62 season and will earn Fondino an ABC award if it stands up. It was the 21st seven hundred series rolled by area keglers this season.

Fondino rolled in the anchor slot for Theresa's Beauty Nook and his spectacular pinning carried the team to a 3077 series, just two pins shy of the league mark of 3079 held by the Jones Dairy No. 2 squad. Fred Ferraro contributed 209-622 and Angelo Ferraro, 218-209-604 for Theresa's. The team games were 1029, 997 and 1053.

Fondino had a 184 average going into Wednesday night's action. A first line bowler for several years, he has demonstrated an unusual knack for 600 triples as a substitute. This was his chief claim until last night, but the record spree firmly entrenched him in the record book.

Lawrence Rolls 653

Jones Dairy No. 1 climbed over the 3000 mark with 1034-1006-3029, as Bill Lawrence fired 219, 233, 201 for 653 and Harry Wilber anchored with 212-227-619.

Ray Sarkis continued his excellent pinning with 217-231—631, as DeMicco Motors fashioned 1040-2903. Teammate Tom Carlino decked 205-216—603.

Other 600 shooters included:

Jerry Kaplan 224-609; Bruce Davis 202-202—602; George Shufeldt 211-208—623 and Joe Schrowang 215-201—609.

Team results:

DeMicco Motors 3, Chilson, Newberry Co., Inc. 0; Riedener and Rieter 1, Greco Brothers 2; Lubetkin - Regan - Kennedy 2, Dwyer Brothers 1; Jones Dairy One 3, Jones Dairy Two 0; Theresa's Beauty Nook 3, Schoentag's 0.

Musket Trapping Season Extended

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The muskrat trapping season has been extended until April 6 in some sections of the state because of the weather.

Harold G. Wilm, conservation commissioner, said Wednesday that prolonged freezing weather had hampered trapping. Muskrats have remained beneath thick ice on streams and rivers, he said.

The season normally extends from Jan. 1 to March 17.

Wilm ordered the season extended in Washington County, Cayuga and Onondaga counties north of the Thruway; Wayne County north of Route 104, and southern Oswego County.

Brian Silk Slams 645 Series

Brian Silk of the Woodstock B League posted a 645 series, highest outside the Bowlero Major League. His games were 233, 202 and 211.

Runnerup was Joe Bruno with a 636 on 235, 202 and 199 in the International League.

Other 600 triples included:

Tim Schussler, International	205	208	215	618
Fred Fead, Woodstock B	202	194	224	620
Millie Berardi, International	247	178	193	618

Patterson Set To Sign Friday For Liston Bout

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Floyd Patterson is scheduled to sign the contracts Friday for the defense of his world heavyweight championship against Sonny Liston, in what shapes up as the richest fight in ring history.

The signing will stave off any action by the National Boxing Association to strip Patterson of the crown.

The announcement of the signing came Wednesday from Julius November, Patterson's attorney, and Tom Bolan, president of Championship Sports Inc., who will promote the multimillion-dollar bout.

Both were coy about where the signing will be, or whether Liston will be there, too.

They were equally shy about revealing the date and site of the bout, although the word hereabouts is that New York has the inside track. Patterson has said the fight will be in June or July.

Liston is the No. 1 challenger, in both the NBA and Ring rankings.

Paul Sullivan of the NBA world championships committee, had said earlier this week that he was planning to poll its members for an opinion on whether Patterson should be unfrocked for failing to defend against an approved challenger within a year.

Sullivan said the signing announcement ended his plans for a poll on Patterson's status.

The champion made his last approved defense on March 13, 1961, when he knocked out Ingemar Johansson. His destruction of Tom McNeely last Dec. 4 was not an NBA-sanctioned bout.

Either would give both fighters their biggest pay day, and Patterson's chunk is almost certain to top the nearly $1 million Gene Tunney collected for whipping Jack Dempsey in their 1927 long count struggle.

NFL Motion Asks Court Dismissal Of $10-M Action

BALTIMORE (AP) — Attorneys for the American Football League and the National Football League meet headon again today in the AFL's $10 million antitrust suit against the older loop.

"Evidence of injury to the AFL has been wholly speculative and highly conjectural," said Gerhard Gesell Wednesday in defense of the NFL's motion for dismissal of the suit.

AFL attorney Warren Baker argued before chief U.S. District Judge Roszel C. Thomsen that his client was injured by the senior league's expansion into Dallas and Minneapolis-St. Paul.

If Judge Thomsen, who is hearing the marathon case without a jury, rejects the pending dismissal motion, the NFL will begin presenting its defense.

Canadians Rally To Win One Title In Skating Event

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) —Canada had one title in hand and a good crack at the other three today in the 1962 World Skating Championships.

Russia's first bid for a world skating title fell short in the pairs title, won Wednesday night by Canadians Maria and Otto Jelinek of Bronte, Ont.

The Prague-born Canadians, who are retiring after his competition, drew five of the nine first-place votes, and had a 102.2 to 102.1 points margin over the Russian pair of Ludmilla Belousova and Oleg Protopopov.

West Germany's Margaret Goebl and Franz Ningel were third.

Best American finish in the pairs was eighth by Dorothyann Nelson and Peter Kollen, Lake Placid, N.Y. Juliann and Jerry Fotheringill, Tacoma, Wash., were 10th.

Canada's favored Donald Jackson, of Toronto, trailed after four of six compulsory figures in the men's singles. Karol Divin of Czechoslovakia led him, 765.7 to 730.1, but the Canadian is rated superior to the Czech in the upcoming free skating.

American champion Monty Hoyt 17, of Denver was in sixth place, with 13-year-old Scott Allen of Smoke Rise, N.J., in 12th.

All-East College 10 Named for '62

NEW YORK (AP) — Four repeaters were named today on the All-East small college basketball squad for 1961-62.

The 10-man squad, announced by the Eastern College Athletic Conference, includes Bob Brandes of Upsala, Dick Kosman of Moravian, Bob Mahland of Williams and Mike Berger of Rochester. All were on the squad last year.

The other six: Bob Hutter, Fairfield; Bob Nugent, Kings (Pa); Dan Morello, Bridgeport; Clark Mosier, Susquehanna; David Santos, Union (NY), and Richie Swartz, Hofstra.

Pipers Edge Majors In Eastern 124-122

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cleveland Pipers, first half champions of the American Basketball League's Eastern Division, have moved within a game of the leader for the second half title.

The Pipers moved up on idle Pittsburgh and knocked Chicago out of the lead by defeating the Majors 124-122 on Dick Barnett's basket with 20 seconds remaining Wednesday night. Hawaii's Chiefs beat the New York Tapers 110-95.

Village Coaches Pick Harden Best

Coaches in the DUSO Village League made Willie Harden of Monticello a unanimous choice for the All-Star team. Their other first team choices are Charley Bruns and Billy Blume, Liberty; Dick Harding, Port Jervis and Gibby Romaine, Port Jervis.

Members of the DUSO Sportswriters and Broadcasters Assn. picked four of the five, putting Al Tennenbaum of Ellenville ahead of Romaine on the first team.

Chicago Trades Minoso in Swap For Cunningham

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Joe Cunningham isn't back of Stan Musial any more. All he has to do now is convince Chicago partisans that he is better than Minnie Minoso.

Cunningham was acquired by the White Sox from the Cardinals in a straight trade for the colorful but aging Minoso. With the Cardinals he had always seemed to be backed up behind Musial, at first base as well as in the outfield. He's on his own now.

"We don't look for Joe to hit too many homers, but he is a line-drive hitter who should find Comiskey Park to his liking," says General Manager Ed Short.

"It's a good opportunity and it's up to me to take advantage of it," says Cunningham.

Cunningham is 30 and has been around, entirely in the Cardinal organization. In seven years in the big leagues he has a batting average of .304, his best season being 1959 when he hit .345 with 60 runs batted in.

Cunningham takes a philisophical view of the fact he was playing first base when Musial was shifted to that position, and the outfield when Musial was there.

"It wasn't a bad break," he says. "I was just the victim of circumstances."

Larry Wiese Signs Two-Year Contract

OLEAN, N.Y. (AP) — Larry Wiese, 26-year-old St. Bonaventure University basketball coach who just completed his first season here, has been signed to a two-year contract, the university said today.

The Bonnies posted a 14-7 record under Wiese, who was named last August to replace Eddie Donovan, now coach of the New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Association.

Angie Fondino Wallops All Time Bowlero High of 761

Huge Slam Also Highest Posted In Association

Angie Fondino, who is known as the best substitute bowler in the area, slammed an all-time Bowlero Major League record 761 series Wednesday night.

In a brilliant strike spree, Fondino reeled off games of 238, 266 and 257 to eclipse the former record of 748 set by Dick Howard on Dec. 27, 1961.

Fondino had two open frames —a split and a miss—and closed out his sensational performance with four strikes in a row to achieve the new record.

The 761 is the highest triple rolled in the jurisdiction of the Kingston Bowling Association during the 1961-62 season and will earn Fondino an ABC award if it stands up. It was the 21st seven hundred series rolled by area keglers this season.

Fondino rolled in the anchor slot for Theresa's Beauty Nook and his spectacular pinning carried the team to a 3077 series, just two pins shy of the league mark of 3079 held by the Jones Dairy No. 2 squad. Fred Ferraro contributed 209-622 and Angelo Ferraro, 218-209-604 for Theresa's. The team games were 1029, 997 and 1053.

Fondino had a 184 average going into Wednesday night's action. A first line bowler for several years, he has demonstrated an unusual knack for 600 triples as a substitute. This was his chief claim until last night, but the record spree firmly entrenched him in the record book.

Lawrence Rolls 653

Jones Dairy No. 1 climbed over the 3000 mark with 1034-1006-3029, as Bill Lawrence fired 219, 233, 201 for 653 and Harry Wilber anchored with 212-227-619.

Ray Sarkis continued his excellent pinning with 217-231—631, as DeMicco Motors fashioned 1040-2903. Teammate Tom Carlino decked 205-216—603.

Other 600 shooters included:

Jerry Kaplan 224-609; Bruce Davis 202-202—602; George Shufeldt 211-208—623 and Joe Schrowang 215-201—609.

The "500 division" included: Jack Houghtaling 508, Mike Carlino 203—563, Harold Broskie 256-598, Bob Suda 200-525, Phil Masters 203-524, Tony Spada 523, Joe Ausanio 220-557, Bob Shelightner 224-596, Hy Arlensky 225-583, Mike Rienzo 225-561, Ray Ashdown 548, Ray Hendricks 233-587, Cliff Davis 508, Les Havens 235-595, Dick Underhill 235-565, George Robinson 532, Joe Misasi 563, George Glaser 540, Dick Howard 221-592, Mitzie Arlensky 236-551, Joe Mahar 525, Ridge Tremper 531, Harry Secreto 205-528, Ralph Longendyke 224-205—579, Hod Spaulding 533, Ed Esposito 209-593, Bill Schabot 205-575, Bob Jones 233-589, John Schatzel 204-567, George Magley 201-202—568, Kildy Corrado 563, Mike Cashara 527.

Team results:

DeMicco Motors 3, Chilson, Newberry Co., Inc. 0; Riedener and Rieter 1, Greco Brothers 2; Lubetkin - Regan - Kennedy 2, Dwyer Brothers 1; Jones Dairy One 3, Jones Dairy Two 0; Theresa's Beauty Nook 3, Schoentag's 0.

Musket Trapping Season Extended

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The muskrat trapping season has been extended until April 6 in some sections of the state because of the weather.

Harold G. Wilm, conservation commissioner, said Wednesday that prolonged freezing weather had hampered trapping. Muskrats have remained beneath thick ice on streams and rivers, he said.

The season normally extends from Jan. 1 to March 17.

Wilm ordered the season extended in Washington County, Cayuga and Onondaga counties north of the Thruway; Wayne County north of Route 104, and southern Oswego County.

TYRO CHAMPIONS — Members of Tyro I CYO basketball squad of St. Mary's Parish which captured the Ulster County CYO Tyro championship. Patterson Set To Sign Friday For Liston Bout

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Floyd Patterson is scheduled to sign the contracts Friday for the defense of his world heavyweight championship against Sonny Liston, in what shapes up as the richest fight in ring history.

The signing will stave off any action by the National Boxing Association to strip Patterson of the crown.

The announcement of the signing came Wednesday from Julius November, Patterson's attorney, and Tom Bolan, president of Championship Sports Inc., who will promote the multimillion-dollar bout.

Both were coy about where the signing will be, or whether Liston will be there, too.

They were equally shy about revealing the date and site of the bout, although the word hereabouts is that New York has the inside track. Patterson has said the fight will be in June or July.

Liston is the No. 1 challenger, in both the NBA and Ring rankings.

Paul Sullivan of the NBA world championships committee, had said earlier this week that he was planning to poll its members for an opinion on whether Patterson should be unfrocked for failing to defend against an approved challenger within a year.

Sullivan said the signing announcement ended his plans for a poll on Patterson's status.

The champion made his last approved defense on March 13, 1961, when he knocked out Ingemar Johansson. His destruction of Tom McNeely last Dec. 4 was not an NBA-sanctioned bout.

Estimates of the combined take on a Patterson-Liston go range from $3 million to $10 million.

Either would give both fighters their biggest pay day, and Patterson's chunk is almost certain to top the nearly $1 million Gene Tunney collected for whipping Jack Dempsey in their 1927 long count struggle.

Joan Smith Raps Friendship 587

Joan Smith anchored Wonderly's with a 587 blast to pace Friendship League action Wednesday night. She opened with 233 and followed up with 172 and 192.

Runnerup was Charlotte Lapine with 208-544. Terry Beckert rolled 542, Rose Rhymer 539, Sis Balash 513, Evelyn Gross 202-517, Betty Monashefsky 517, Pat Pigeon 201-503, Tess Moss 522, Evelyn Dolson 525.

In the 400 circle were: Ann Mitchell 449, Hilda Krum 430, Chris Wilson 426, Mary Wyant 440, Elizabeth Egan 429, Marie Senor 477, Millie Best 431, Bessie Lynn 402, Elsie Dykes 448, Hazel Stopher 480, Esther Tremper 439, Rita Roach 411, Betty Hyatt 434, Rose Chamberland 445, Edith Barnovitz 414, Helen Bordenstein 411, Winnie Overfield 428, Jo Smith 447, Carol Bertholf 425, Jane Bertholf 417, Addie Walters 482, Doris Broskie 418, Helen Broskie 436, Marie Bechtold 485, Fannie Battaglino 433, Bonnie Reilly 479, Sis Nestell 413, Helen MacMullen 419, Lillian Martin 413, Dot Rawding 492, Ruth Bruno 496.

Team results:

Jones Dairy 3, Reynolds Photography 0; Sealtest O, Wonderly's 3; Boice Bros. Dairy 1, Schneiders 2; Gov. Clinton Hotel 2, Elstons 1; Alpine 1, Jones Dairettes 2.

NFL Motion Asks Court Dismissal Of $10-M Action

BALTIMORE (AP) — Attorneys for the American Football League and the National Football League meet headon again today in the AFL's $10 million antitrust suit against the older loop.

"Evidence of injury to the AFL has been wholly speculative and highly conjectural," said Gerhard Gesell Wednesday in defense of the NFL's motion for dismissal of the suit.

AFL attorney Warren Baker argued before chief U.S. District Judge Roszel C. Thomsen that his client was injured by the senior league's expansion into Dallas and Minneapolis-St. Paul.

If Judge Thomsen, who is hearing the marathon case without a jury, rejects the pending dismissal motion, the NFL will begin presenting its defense.

Canadians Rally To Win One Title In Skating Event

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) —Canada had one title in hand and a good crack at the other three today in the 1962 World Skating Championships.

Russia's first bid for a world skating title fell short in the pairs title, won Wednesday night by Canadians Maria and Otto Jelinek of Bronte, Ont.

The Prague-born Canadians, who are retiring after his competition, drew five of the nine first-place votes, and had a 102.2 to 102.1 points margin over the Russian pair of Ludmilla Belousova and Oleg Protopopov.

West Germany's Margaret Goebl and Franz Ningel were third.

Best American finish in the pairs was eighth by Dorothyann Nelson and Peter Kollen, Lake Placid, N.Y. Juliann and Jerry Fotheringill, Tacoma, Wash., were 10th.

Canada's favored Donald Jackson, of Toronto, trailed after four of six compulsory figures in the men's singles. Karol Divin of Czechoslovakia led him, 765.7 to 730.1, but the Canadian is rated superior to the Czech in the upcoming free skating.

American champion Monty Hoyt 17, of Denver was in sixth place, with 13-year-old Scott Allen of Smoke Rise, N.J., in 12th.

All-East College 10 Named for '62

NEW YORK (AP) — Four repeaters were named today on the All-East small college basketball squad for 1961-62.

The 10-man squad, announced by the Eastern College Athletic Conference, includes Bob Brandes of Upsala, Dick Kosman of Moravian, Bob Mahland of Williams and Mike Berger of Rochester. All were on the squad last year.

The other six: Bob Hutter, Fairfield; Bob Nugent, Kings (Pa); Dan Morello, Bridgeport; Clark Mosier, Susquehanna; David Santos, Union (NY), and Richd Swartz, Hofstra.

Pipers Edge Majors In Eastern 124-122

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cleveland Pipers, first half champions of the American Basketball League's Eastern Division, have moved within a game of the lead for the second half title.

The Pipers moved up on idle Pittsburgh and knocked Chicago out of the lead by defeating the Majors 124-122 on Dick Barnett's basket with 20 seconds remaining Wednesday night. Hawaii's Chiefs beat the New York Tapers 110-95.

Village Coaches Pick Harden Best

Coaches in the DUSO Village League made Willie Harden of Monticello a unanimous choice for the All-Star team. Their other first team choices are Charley Bruns and Billy Blume, Liberty; Dick Harding, Port Jervis and Gibby Romaine, Port Jervis.

Members of the DUSO Sportswriters and Broadcasters Assn. picked four of the five, putting Al Tennenbaum of Ellenville ahead of Romaine on the first team.

Chicago Trades Minoso in Swap For Cunningham

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Joe Cunningham isn't back of Stan Musial any more. All he has to do now is convince Chicago partisans that he is better than Minnie Minoso.

Cunningham was acquired by the White Sox from the Cardinals in a straight trade for the colorful but aging Minoso. With the Cardinals he had always seemed to be backed up behind Musial, at first base as well as in the outfield. He's on his own now.

"We don't look for Joe to hit too many homers, but he is a line-drive hitter who should find Comiskey Park to his liking," says General Manager Ed Short.

"It's a good opportunity and it's up to me to take advantage of it," says Cunningham.

Cunningham is 30 and has been around, entirely in the Cardinal organization. In seven years in the big leagues he has a batting average of .304, his best season being 1959 when he hit .345 with 60 runs batted in.

Cunningham takes a philisophical view of the fact he was playing first base when Musial was shifted to that position, and the outfield when Musial was there. "It wasn't a bad break," he says. "I was just the victim of circumstances."

Larry Wiese Signs Two-Year Contract

OLEAN, N.Y. (AP) — Larry Wiese, 26-year-old St. Bonaventure University basketball coach who just completed his first season here, has been signed to a two-year contract, the university said today.

The Bonnies posted a 14-7 record under Wiese, who was named last August to replace Eddie Donovan, now coach of the New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Association.

Camp Fire Girls Receive Awards at Council Fire

Approximately 200 girls participated in the Grand Council Fire of the Saugerties Camp Fire Girls Tuesday night in the Main Street School auditorium which also marked the 52nd birthday of the Camp Fire movement in this country.

Edward Flanagan, president of the council, presented the many awards earned by the girls, from Bluebird Fly-ups to the coveted Torchbearer in Social Leadership, the highest award given in Camp Fire, which was received by Marianne Bolinder of the Iyopta Group.

George Thornton was master of ceremonies and paid special recognition to Miss Marion Newkirk who has devoted the past 15 years working with girls in the Bluebird groups. She was also presented with a 15 year pin for leadership.

Following the Grand Entrance to the Walking Song the Camp Fire Girls were lead in the Pledge of Allegiance by the Tahoma Group of Mrs. Lee Frelight, leader.

The fire lighting ceremony for the Grand Council Fire was conducted by girls from the Odako, Kiluta and Okiodako Groups.

Bluebirds eligible for Fly Up into Camp Fire Groups were presented with their awards as follows:

Rotarians See SS Hope Movie

A film on the SS Hope hospital ship and the work being done by the doctors and nurses who travel on it to foreign countries was shown at Tuesday night's meeting of the Saugerties Rotary Club by Kari Pietkiewicz, a guest of one of the members.

The film dealt specifically with the ship's trip to Indonesia and showed how the personnel instruct the natives there to treat the sick and help to set up clinics so the work may be carried on when they have left for other underprivileged countries.

Also present at the meeting was Frederic Snyder, a pioneer Rotarian and a member of the Kingston club. He spoke of the late Dr. Tom Dooley, who also carried on similar work, and urged the members to support the Dr. Dooley Foundation. An impressive candlelight ceremony was held denoting the spreading of light to those in need of medical assistance in countries less fortunate than our own.

Plans Progress For WSCS Show

Fantasy in Fashion is the theme of the annual spring fashion show to be presented by the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Saugerties Methodist Church Saturday, April 7, at 2:30 p. m., in the chapel of the church, Washington Avenue.

Latest fashions from the stocks of leading Saugerties merchants will be modeled, featuring clothing for women and children.

Birds will perch on silver branches and flowers will be in abundance when Mrs. George Hildebrandt and her committee members, Mrs. Donald Gibson and Mrs. Russell Knorr complete the background scenery for the show.

Mrs. John Thompson and her committee will be in charge of refreshments to be served during the afternoon.

In addition to Mrs. Roy Helsmoortel and Mrs. Norman Bolinder, co-chairmen of the program, others serving include Mrs. David Jones, posters; Mrs. Walter Johnson, wardrobe; Mrs. John Whritenor, tea table; Mrs. James Delmege, publicity; Mrs. Henry Hartley, tickets and Mrs. David Cunningham who will act as narrator.

Tickets are now on sale and may be purchased from the committee chairmen.

The Music Department of the Saugerties High School will present its annual operetta Friday, April 13, in the auditorium. This year's presentation will be a two act comedy with a touch of romance called The Fortune Teller, with music written by Victor Herbert.

Congregational Notes

The Rev. Frederick Imhoff, pastor of the First Congregational Church has requested that all members of the church plan to attend on Sunday when a vote will be taken determining whether the church will enter the United Church of Christ or continue as a congregational church. Each member will have one secret ballot.

The Union Lenten Service of the Saugerties Area Council of Churches will be held here at 7:30 p. m. on Sunday evening. The Rev. August Pfaus will preach the sermon.

Community Events

The Glasco Fire Company's Ladies Auxiliary will hold a cake sale Saturday at the W. T. Grant Store in Simmons Plaza, beginning at 11 a. m.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Malden-West Camp Fire Company will meet at the Malden Station Tuesday evening for its regular monthly meeting. A card party is being planned for April 20 at the West Camp Station.

At Tuesday's meeting of the Saugerties Evening Unit of the Home Extension Service a slate of officers for the coming year was presented to the membership by the nominating committee consisting of Mrs. James Delmege and Mrs. Maurice Barton. Elections will be held at the April 10 meeting at the home of Mrs. Fred Schmershal, Meadow Court.

Dartball Results

Monday night's scores in the Saugerties Dartball League are: Service Center B 3, Ruby 0; Quarryville 3, Malden-West Camp Vols 2 0; West Camp 3, Glasco 0; Centerville 3, Trinity 0 (by forfeit); Service Center A 3, Malden-West Camp Vols 1—0 (by forfeit); American Legion 2, Veteran 1; Katsbaan 2, Cementon 1; Centerville Fire Co. 2, Mt. Simmons Plaza's 20-Lane Alleys To Open in July

Negotiations are in progress for the construction of a 20-lane bowling alley in Simmons Plaza, the fourth unit in the new Barclay Heights shopping center on Route 9W south of Saugerties, it was confirmed today by Austin Simmons, developer.

Simmons said work would start in about four weeks with opening of the new lanes scheduled for some time in July. The name of the alley operators will not be released until the lease is signed some time this week, Simmons said.

The new facility will be located in the second section of the plaza to the rear of the Victory Super Market. Other units in the plaza include W. T. Grant Department Store and Saugerties Pharmacy.

Rotarians See SS Hope Movie

A film on the SS Hope hospital ship and the work being done by the doctors and nurses who travel on it to foreign countries was shown at Tuesday night's meeting of the Saugerties Rotary Club by Karl Pietkiewicz, a guest of one of the members.

The film dealt specifically with the ship's trip to Indonesia and showed how the personnel instruct the natives there to treat the sick and help to set up clinics so the work may be carried on when they have left for other underprivileged countries.

Also present at the meeting was Frederic Snyder, a pioneer Rotarian and a member of the Kingston club. He spoke of the late Dr. Tom Dooley, who also carried on similar work, and urged the members to support the Dr. Dooley Foundation. An impressive candlelight ceremony was held denoting the spreading of light to those in need of medical assistance in countries less fortunate than our own.

Plans Progress For WSCS Show

Fantasy in Fashion is the theme of the annual spring fashion show to be presented by the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Saugerties Methodist Church Saturday, April 7, at 2:30 p. m., in the chapel of the church, Washington Avenue.

Latest fashions from the stocks of leading Saugerties merchants will be modeled, featuring clothing for women and children.

Birds will perch on silver branches and flowers will be in abundance when Mrs. George Hildebrandt and her committee members, Mrs. Donald Gibson and Mrs. Russell Knorr complete the background scenery for the show.

Mrs. John Thompson and her committee will be in charge of refreshments to be served during the afternoon.

In addition to Mrs. Roy Helsmoortel and Mrs. Norman Bolinder, co-chairmen of the program, others serving include Mrs. David Jones, posters; Mrs. Walter Johnson, wardrobe; Mrs. John Whritenor, tea table; Mrs. James Delmege, publicity; Mrs. Henry Hartley, tickets and Mrs. David Cunningham who will act as narrator.

Tickets are now on sale and may be purchased from the committee chairmen.

The Music Department of the Saugerties High School will present its annual operetta Friday, April 13, in the auditorium. This year's presentation will be a two act comedy with a touch of romance called The Fortune Teller, with music written by Victor Herbert.

Congregational Notes

The Rev. Frederick Imhoff, pastor of the First Congregational Church has requested that all members of the church plan to attend on Sunday when a vote will be taken determining whether the church will enter the United Church of Christ or continue as a congregational church. Each member will have one secret ballot.

The Union Lenten Service of the Saugerties Area Council of Churches will be held here at 7:30 p. m. on Sunday evening. The Rev. August Pfaus will preach the sermon.

Community Events

The Glasco Fire Company's Ladies Auxiliary will hold a cake sale Saturday at the W. T. Grant Store in Simmons Plaza, beginning at 11 a. m.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Malden-West Camp Fire Company will meet at the Malden Station Tuesday evening for its regular monthly meeting. A card party is being planned for April 20 at the West Camp Station.

At Tuesday's meeting of the Saugerties Evening Unit of the Home Extension Service a slate of officers for the coming year was presented to the membership by the nominating committee consisting of Mrs. James Delmege and Mrs. Maurice Barton. Elections will be held at the April 10 meeting at the home of Mrs. Fred Schmershal, Meadow Court.

Simmons Plaza's 20-Lane Alleys To Open in July

Negotiations are in progress for the construction of a 20-lane bowling alley in Simmons Plaza, the fourth unit in the new Barclay Heights shopping center on Route 9W south of Saugerties, it was confirmed today by Austin Simmons, developer.

Simmons said work would start in about four weeks with opening of the new lanes scheduled for some time in July. The name of the alley operators will not be released until the lease is signed some time this week, Simmons said.

The new facility will be located in the second section of the plaza to the rear of the Victory Super Market. Other units in the plaza include W. T. Grant Department Store and Saugerties Pharmacy.

Work on 9-Hole Saugerties Golf Course to Start

The nine-hole golf course proposed for the Valley Farm property of Farm Industries Inc., in Saugerties earlier this year, came closer to reality with the announcement today that construction will start as soon as weather permits.

A holding company composed of a number of prominent Saugerties area residents was formed and will lease the golf course with option to purchase from Farm Industries Inc., according to Warren H. Knaust, Farm Industries vice president.

The course with 11 greens and 21 tees is expected to be ready by January 1963, and will have an alternate approach for the second nine-hole round.

The existing buildings on the Valley Farm property on Route 9W at the northern village line will be remodeled and used for clubhouse purposes, Knaust said.

The course will be located in an area between Route 9W and Saugerties High School.

Plans for the new golf course were first announced in The Freeman on January 5.

A spokesman for the principals in the holding company said the members did not wish to be identified at this time. He said that membership in the club will be solicited.

30-Day Outlook: Colder Than Usual

WASHINGTON (AP) — Colder-than-normal weather will continue through most of the nation for another 30 days, the Weather Bureau reported Wednesday.

Its 30-day outlook for the period extending to mid-April calls for below-normal temperatures over most of the nation, except for near to slightly above normal temperatures from the Great Lakes eastward and also in coastal areas along the Gulf of Mexico and Pacific Northwest.

Precipitation is expected to exceed normal over most areas except for subnormal amounts over the southern Plains and Pacific Northwest and near-normal amounts in the far Southwest, the bureau said.

Nation Without Severe Weather First in Days

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There were several wet spots and it was on the chilly side in some northern regions today but for the first time in several days no severe stormy weather was reported across the nation.

Rain doused broad sections of the South from west central Texas eastward through the Gulf states to the southern Atlantic Coast. The rain in the Southeast, along with cooler weather, extended from the Mississippi Delta region across southern sections of Mississippi and Alabama, most of Georgia and South Carolina and extreme northern Florida.

Light snow fell west of the Lower Mississippi Valley into southwest New Mexico in the wake of fairly heavy snow which hit areas from New Mexico into East Texas Wednesday. Snowfalls measured up to seven inches in some areas.

Light snow continued from the Upper Mississippi Valley eastward into the northern Appalachians. Meanwhile, areas in the Dakotas, Iowa, Nebraska and Minnesota continued the big job of removing the heavy snow covering which blocked hundreds of roads. Winds diminished, aiding snow removal operations, but many secondary roads still were buried under huge drifts 10 to 15 feet high.

Man Hurt by Car, Collision Causes Building Damage

A man was injured in a Hurley Avenue mishap Wednesday night and a Washington Avenue building was damaged when two vehicles collided at the North Front Street intersection.

Matthew J. Urell, 54, of 26 Boulevard, suffered head and body injuries when he was struck by a car on Hurley Avenue. His condition at Kingston Hospital today was reported as "apparently fair."

A police report at 10:18 p. m. said the driver of a Virginia-licensed vehicle notified headquarters that man had "just walked into the path of his car and he ran into him," near the A & P market.

The driver was identified as Carlton Edward Collier, 40, of 107 Center Street, Forty Fort, Pa. He said he had jammed the brakes, but was unable to avoid striking the man.

Sgt. Bernard Fowler, officers John Kennedy and Ira Hadsel, and a Fatum ambulance were dispatched to the scene.

An area on the south side of the Mission Wood Products Co. Inc. building, 397 Washington Avenue and "kitchen apparatus" inside were reported damaged in the other accident.

Police said the one car was driven by Winfield Benoit, 46, of 84 Miller's Lane and the other by Kurt P. Lutjens, 52, of RD 2, Box 244. Officers Raymond Wells and Thomas Carpino investigated.

Congress Gets $10 Million Consumer Package

Safer Drugs, TV Sets With More Channels, JFK's Aim

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy sent Congress today a jumbo-size package of proposals to protect the consumer. He expressed sympathy for America's prime buyer, the housewife.

In recommendations that would cost about $10 million a year in addition to programs already covered in budget requests, he urged steps to assure:

Safe, effective drugs for the ailing.

From Beauty Aids to Meat

Beauty aids that won't burn a lady's skin.

TV sets that will get more channels.

Installment contracts that reveal the true rate of interest.

Wider inspection to bar unwholesome meat from dinner tables.

Legislation already is under consideration on some of these points.

With a bow to the homemakers, Kennedy said "many of the new products used in the home are highly complex. The housewife is called upon to be an amateur electrician, mechanic, chemist, toxicologist, dietitian, and mathematician—but she is rarely furnished the information she needs to perform these tasks proficiently."

But Kennedy disclosed he hasn't yet solved a puzzle—how to help the housewife tell which is the best buy—the large package, the giant, the jumbo or the economy size. He said he would have recommendations later on truth in packaging.

Many Before Congress

Many of Kennedy's recommendations are in legislation already before Congress—though officials said that in some cases he went beyond the pending bills.

The President also announced he has ordered:

1. His Council of Economic Advisers to create a consumers' advisory council.

2. Various federal agency heads to name special assistants on consumer problems.

3. The Post Office Department to set up a pilot program by displaying, in 100 post offices, publications useful to consumers.

Orders 1 and 2 represent somewhat of a change of mind. During the 1960 campaign, Kennedy pledged to appoint a special counsel in the White House to go to bat for consumers. Aides explained that the plan he finally adopted is more in line with his style of government.

Hits Illicit Drug Sale

As for drugs, Kennedy said 9,000 new ones developed in the past quarter century have saved countless lives. But many don't live up to sponsors' claims, he said. So he urged, among other things, that manufacturers be required to show that a drug is effective, as well as safe, before marketing it.

Kennedy also urged steps to halt underground traffic in habit-forming barbiturates (sedatives) and amphetamines (stimulants). He said illicit sales contribute to accidents and crime.

It has been estimated that there are 460,000 professional nurses in the United States.

Ex-General Raps Downgrading of 'Weak' U.S. GIs

WASHINGTON (AP)—A prominent writer on military affairs said today he was tired of hearing American fighting men downgraded and vilified as weaklings.

S. L. A. Marshall, a retired brigadier general who writes for the Detroit News, said in testimony prepared for a Senate subcommittee investigating troop indoctrination:

"I cannot imagine anything worse for this country than an unjustified lamenting, a beating of breasts about failure and weakness in the American character or a mistaken evangelism which pleads for the saving of that which has not yet been lost."

"If I were convinced that American youth of military age were as derelict and characterless as the worst pessimists have proclaimed it, though I might say so here, I would be loath to suggest how this story might be put before the country to serve a constructive end," he said.

"It promotes limitless danger. A great nation may not be told: 'You are weak. You young people have proved unfit for war. There is no hope for you but to start anew.'"

Marshall sharply disagreed with testimony given earlier by Lt. Col. William E. Mayer, an Army psychiatrist who pictured American youth as soft and lacking in patriotism.

Razorbacks Are Upset by T-Men, Just Try to Help

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service says it was only trying to be helpful in sending a flock of agents to a tiny Arkansas community. But some of the townspeople don't seem to appreciate it.

In fact, the citizens of Fordyce—Pop: 3,890—got so nervous they stopped buying things, the local Chamber of Commerce complained Wednesday. It said business in Dallas County—Pop: 10,522—declined 50 per cent since the 30 or so agents dropped into town 10 days ago.

"It has excited people beyond imagination," said one chamber official. And, a Fordyce merchant quoted a would-be customer as saying: "I need to buy a TV, but I'm going to wait until I see what these revenue boys do to me."

All the IRS agents meant to do to the people of Fordyce was to help them with their tax returns—not to frighten them, a man said.

He said citizens were advised the agents would be available to talk with those whose 1960 returns were being audited or who needed help with 1961 returns.

It was an experimental thing, an effort to see if the operation could be made more useful and efficient, the spokesman said.

Operation Abolition

Editor, The Freeman,

Inasmuch as this organization is responsible for the circulation of the film Operation Abolition, and this for the specific purpose of demonstrating its authenticity, we take issue with the letter in your column of March 13th over the signature of Mr. Leonard Zimet.*

Since Mr. Zimet condemns Operation Abolition as a distortion of fact, and is of neither of the "left" or the "right" persuasion, one can only conclude that he is not sure where he is.

Be that as it may, we would ask Mr. Zimet the following:

(1) Has he seen the film Operation Abolition?

(2) Has he read the F.B.I. report of the events leading up to, and including the San Francisco riots? (Communist Target—Youth, 15 cents, Gov. Printing Office)

(3) Has he read Mayor Christophers' statement concerning these riots? (House Committee on Un-American Activities)

(4) Has he read the opinion handed down by Judge Axelrod, of San Francisco in the case of the students arrested during these riots? (ibid)

or (5) Has Mr. Zimet inferred that he does not trust the Congress, the F.B.I., or the judicial system of these United States of America?

This organization is amply prepared to discuss this issue in a formal presentation of the film, to any interested groups in the Hudson Valley Area. This is precisely why we are so doing, for

One Nation, Indivisible,

'Wait and See Attitude'

President Explains Summit Conditions

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has broadened the circumstances under which he would attend a summit meeting at Geneva. But officials said today that so far none of the conditions has developed.

"We will have to wait and see whether events make such a trip useful," Kennedy told his news conference Wednesday.

Must Be Fruitful

Restating his criteria for going to the 17-nation Geneva disarmament parley, the President said he would attend (1) to ratify an agreement or (2) "If we were on a brink of a war or a serious international crisis, where my presence would make a significant difference."

Then, he said, "I would add a third one: I would go if I thought it was in our national interest."

"I do not intend to go unless there is a situation developed which I believe would make such a trip fruitful and rewarding," he said.

Informants said the President was in effect, repeating criteria he set forth in the past. And there have been no developments in the Geneva conference to justify such a visit, they said.

The talks on Berlin, between Secretary of State Dean Rusk, British Foreign Secretary Lord Home and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, have been far from encouraging, the informants said.

Backsteps on Inspections

A clearer indication of results on disarmament is not expected here until the newly begun conference has held more sessions.

Kennedy indicated Wednesday he had backed off from previous emphasis on need for inspections to safeguard against secret preparations of atomic tests, in addition to controls against the tests themselves.

The British have been cool toward anti-preparation controls, favoring instead easing international inspection requirements where possible to meet Soviet objections.

Kennedy said Wednesday the West will offer some proposals to make it more difficult to undertake preparations but "I have never suggested that we could develop a foolproof system on preparations and I don't regard that as significant."

SAO Kills Six After Invading Algiers Meeting

ALGIERS (AP)—Three secret army commandos invaded a meeting of education workers today, told the 18 men present that six of them had been condemned by the terrorist organization, and shot the six in the sunny courtyard outside.

Five of the victims died. The sixth died later in a hospital. Three of the men were French, three were Moslems.

Earlier a carload of Europeans fired on a Moslem crowd waiting for a bus in an east Algiers suburb. Estimates of the victims ranged from six to 10 dead and 13 wounded, all Moslems.

By noon some 15 attacks by terrorists had killed about 20 persons and wounded 30 in Algiers.

The underground secret army and the rebels killed 18 persons and wounded 31 in terrorist attacks Wednesday throughout Algeria.

In the Lake Geneva resort of Evian, the Algerian nationalist negotiators were reported standing firm for more of a role for their army in the transition period between an armistice and Algerian independence.

French sources tended to play down the sharp differences that arose at the last minute in peace talks there but some Algerian sources predicted many more days of negotiations before they were ironed out.

Each side showed concern about agreeing to a pact that gave the impression it acknowledged defeat—or surrender—in the 7½-year civil war.

Los Angeles County, Calif., is the largest U. S. county with 6,038,711 inhabitants.

Work on 9-Hole Saugerties Golf Course to Start

The nine-hole golf course proposed for the Valley Farm property of Farm Industries Inc., in Saugerties earlier this year, came closer to reality with the announcement today that construction will start as soon as weather permits.

A holding company composed of a number of prominent Saugerties area residents was formed and will lease the golf course with option to purchase from Farm Industries Inc., according to Warren H. Knaust, Farm Industries vice president.

The course with 11 greens and 21 tees is expected to be ready by January 1963, and will have an alternate approach for the second nine-hole round.

The existing buildings on the Valley Farm property on Route 9W at the northern village line will be remodeled and used for clubhouse purposes, Knaust said.

The course will be located in an area between Route 9W and Saugerties High School.

Plans for the new golf course were first announced in The Freeman on January 5.

A spokesman for the principals in the holding company said the members did not wish to be identified at this time. He said that membership in the club will be solicited.

30-Day Outlook: Colder Than Usual

WASHINGTON (AP) — Colder-than-normal weather will continue through most of the nation for another 30 days, the Weather Bureau reported Wednesday.

Its 30-day outlook for the period extending to mid-April calls for below-normal temperatures over most of the nation, except for near to slightly above normal temperatures from the Great Lakes eastward and also in coastal areas along the Gulf of Mexico and Pacific Northwest.

Precipitation is expected to exceed normal over most areas except for subnormal amounts over the southern Plains and Pacific Northwest and near-normal amounts in the far Southwest, the bureau said.

Nation Without Severe Weather First in Days

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There were several wet spots and it was on the chilly side in some northern regions today but for the first time in several days no severe stormy weather was reported across the nation.

Rain doused broad sections of the South from west central Texas eastward through the Gulf states to the southern Atlantic Coast. The rain in the Southeast, along with cooler weather, extended from the Mississippi Delta region across southern sections of Mississippi and Alabama, most of Georgia and South Carolina and extreme northern Florida.

Light snow fell west of the Lower Mississippi Valley into southwest New Mexico in the wake of fairly heavy snow which hit areas from New Mexico into East Texas Wednesday. Snowfalls measured up to seven inches in some areas.

Light snow continued from the Upper Mississippi Valley eastward into the northern Appalachians. Meanwhile, areas in the Dakotas, Iowa, Nebraska and Minnesota continued the big job of removing the heavy snow covering which blocked hundreds of roads. Winds diminished, aiding snow removal operations, but many secondary roads still were buried under huge drifts 10 to 15 feet high.

Man Hurt by Car, Collision Causes Building Damage

A man was injured in a Hurley Avenue mishap Wednesday night and a Washington Avenue building was damaged when two vehicles collided at the North Front Street intersection.

Matthew J. Urell, 54, of 26 Boulevard, suffered head and body injuries when he was struck by a car on Hurley Avenue. His condition at Kingston Hospital today was reported as "apparently fair."

A police report at 10:18 p. m. said the driver of a Virginia-licensed vehicle notified headquarters that man had "just walked into the path of his car and he ran into him," near the A & P market.

The driver was identified as Carlton Edward Collier, 40, of 107 Center Street, Forty Fort, Pa. He said he had jammed the brakes, but was unable to avoid striking the man.

Sgt. Bernard Fowler, officers John Kennedy and Ira Hadsel, and a Fatum ambulance were dispatched to the scene.

An area on the south side of the Mission Wood Products Co. Inc. building, 397 Washington Avenue and "kitchen apparatus" inside were reported damaged in the other accident.

Police said the one car was driven by Winfield Benoit, 46, of 84 Miller's Lane and the other by Kurt P. Lutjens, 52, of RD 2, Box 244. Officers Raymond Wells and Thomas Carpino investigated.

Congress Gets $10 Million Consumer Package

Safer Drugs, TV Sets With More Channels, JFK's Aim

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy sent Congress today a jumbo-size package of proposals to protect the consumer. He expressed sympathy for America's prime buyer, the housewife.

In recommendations that would cost about $10 million a year in addition to programs already covered in budget requests, he urged steps to assure:

Safe, effective drugs for the ailing.

From Beauty Aids to Meat

Beauty aids that won't burn a lady's skin.

TV sets that will get more channels.

Installment contracts that reveal the true rate of interest.

Wider inspection to bar unwholesome meat from dinner tables.

Legislation already is under consideration on some of these points.

With a bow to the homemakers, Kennedy said "many of the new products used in the home are highly complex. The housewife is called upon to be an amateur electrician, mechanic, chemist, toxicologist, dietitian, and mathematician—but she is rarely furnished the information she needs to perform these tasks proficiently."

But Kennedy disclosed he hasn't yet solved a puzzle—how to help the housewife tell which is the best buy—the large package, the giant, the jumbo or the economy size. He said he would have recommendations later on truth in packaging.

Many Before Congress

Many of Kennedy's recommendations are in legislation already before Congress—though officials said that in some cases he went beyond the pending bills.

The President also announced he has ordered:

1. His Council of Economic Advisers to create a consumers' advisory council.

2. Various federal agency heads to name special assistants on consumer problems.

3. The Post Office Department to set up a pilot program by displaying, in 100 post offices, publications useful to consumers.

Orders 1 and 2 represent somewhat of a change of mind. During the 1960 campaign, Kennedy pledged to appoint a special counsel in the White House to go to bat for consumers. Aides explained that the plan he finally adopted is more in line with his style of government.

Hits Illicit Drug Sale

As for drugs, Kennedy said 9,000 new ones developed in the past quarter century have saved countless lives. But many don't live up to sponsors' claims, he said. So he urged, among other things, that manufacturers be required to show that a drug is effective, as well as safe, before marketing it.

Kennedy also urged steps to halt underground traffic in habit-forming barbiturates (sedatives) and amphetamines (stimulants). He said illicit sales contribute to accidents and crime.

Ex-General Raps Downgrading of 'Weak' U.S. GIs

WASHINGTON (AP)—A prominent writer on military affairs said today he was tired of hearing American fighting men downgraded and vilified as weaklings.

S. L. A. Marshall, a retired brigadier general who writes for the Detroit News, said in testimony prepared for a Senate subcommittee investigating troop indoctrination:

"I cannot imagine anything worse for this country than an unjustified lameating, a beating of breasts about failure and weakness in the American character or a mistaken evangelism which pleads for the saving of that which has not yet been lost."

"If I were convinced that American youth of military age were as derelict and characterless as the worst pessimists have proclaimed it, though I might say so here, I would be loath to suggest how this story might be put before the country to serve a constructive end," he said.

"It promotes limitless danger. A great nation may not be told: 'You are weak. You young people have proved unfit for war. There is no hope for you but to start anew.'"

Marshall sharply disagreed with testimony given earlier by Lt. Col. William E. Mayer, an Army psychiatrist who pictured American youth as soft and lacking in patriotism.

Razorbacks Are Upset by T-Men, Just Try to Help

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service says it was only trying to be helpful in sending a flock of agents to a tiny Arkansas community. But some of the townspeople don't seem to appreciate it.

In fact, the citizens of Fordyce—Pop: 3,890—got so nervous they stopped buying things, the local Chamber of Commerce complained Wednesday. It said business in Dallas County—Pop: 10,522—declined 50 per cent since the 30 or so agents dropped into town 10 days ago.

"It has excited people beyond imagination," said one chamber official. And, a Fordyce merchant quoted a would-be customer as saying: "I need to buy a TV, but I'm going to wait until I see what these revenue boys do to me."

All the IRS agents meant to do to the people of Fordyce was to help them with their tax returns—not to frighten them, a man said.

He said citizens were advised the agents would be available to talk with those whose 1960 returns were being audited or who needed help with 1961 returns.

It was an experimental thing, an effort to see if the operation could be made more useful and efficient, the spokesman said.

It has been estimated that there are 460,000 professional nurses in the United States.

School Librarians To Meet March 23

School librarians, school administrators and civic leaders from a seven-county area will meet March 23 at 7 p. m. at the Hilton Inn, Tarrytown.

The dinner meeting will be sponsored by the library section of the Southeastern Zone of the New York State Teachers Association. Counties represented in addition to Ulster are Dutchess, Orange, Putnam, Rockland, Sullivan and Westchester.

Morris D. Kaufman, principal of the Ellenville High School and president of the Southeastern Zone will be moderator of a panel discussion on The School Library in Education Today. There will be discussion of school library programs with other outstanding guest speakers.

Operation Abolition

Editor, The Freeman,

Inasmuch as this organization is responsible for the circulation of the film Operation Abolition, and this for the specific purpose of demonstrating its authenticity, we take issue with the letter in your column of March 13th over the signature of Mr. Leonard Zimet.*

Since Mr. Zimet condemns Operation Abolition as a distortion of fact, and is of neither of the "left" or the "right" persuasion, one can only conclude that he is not sure where he is.

Be that as it may, we would ask Mr. Zimet the following:

(1) Has he seen the film Operation Abolition?

(2) Has he read the F.B.I. report of the events leading up to, and including the San Francisco riots? (Communist Target—Youth, 15 cents, Gov. Printing Office)

(3) Has he read Mayor Christophers' statement concerning these riots? (House Committee on Un-American Activities)

(4) Has he read the opinion handed down by Judge Axelrod, of San Francisco in the case of the students arrested during these riots? (ibid)

or (5) Has Mr. Zimet inferred that he does not trust the Congress, the F.B.I., or the judicial system of these United States of America?

This organization is amply prepared to discuss this issue in a formal presentation of the film, to any interested groups in the Hudson Valley Area. This is precisely why we are so doing, for

One Nation, Indivisible,
HOWARD F. MANSFIELD
Pres.

'Wait and See Attitude'

President Explains Summit Conditions

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has broadened the circumstances under which he would attend a summit meeting at Geneva. But officials said today that so far none of the conditions has developed.

"We will have to wait and see whether events make such a trip useful," Kennedy told his news conference Wednesday.

Must Be Fruitful

Restating his criteria for going to the 17-nation Geneva disarmament parley, the President said he would attend (1) to ratify an agreement or (2) "If we were on a brink of a war or a serious international crisis, where my presence would make a significant difference."

Then, he said, "I would add a third one: I would go if I thought it was in our national interest."

"I do not intend to go unless there is a situation developed which I believe would make such a trip fruitful and rewarding," he said.

Informants said the President was in effect, repeating criteria he set forth in the past. And there have been no developments in the Geneva conference to justify such a visit, they said.

The talks on Berlin, between Secretary of State Dean Rusk, British Foreign Secretary Lord Home and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, have been far from encouraging, the informants said.

Backsteps on Inspections

A clearer indication of results on disarmament is not expected here until the newly begun conference has held more sessions.

Kennedy indicated Wednesday he had backed off from previous emphasis on need for inspections to safeguard against secret preparations of atomic tests, in addition to controls against the tests themselves.

The British have been cool toward anti-preparation controls, favoring instead easing international inspection requirements where possible to meet Soviet objections.

Kennedy said Wednesday the West will offer some proposals to make it more difficult to undertake preparations but "I have never suggested that we could develop a foolproof system on preparations and I don't regard that as significant."
